Delivery Services Manager
4 Garden Street
Cardiff

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to express my dissatisfaction with the work of your company. Three weeks ago I was moving a house, so I turned to your company for the services. I ordered the delivery of the furniture on 10 January at a particular address. However, two days later I noticed that some pieces, such as an armchair and the chandelier were damaged. I immediately called your company but none of the operators asked, that is why I decided to write a letter to you.

I would like to ask you to pay for replacement of the chandelier, approximately 50 pounds. According to your company's "guarantee of satisfaction", I may ask you to help me because your loaders have broken some of the items and there are some consequences. First, I am not happy with the way the delivery has been done, secondly, I have to change my chandelier.

I also wish you to pay a half price of the armchair (80 pounds) to repair it.

I look forward to your reply.

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. Sophie Smith

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing in order to complain about what has happened to me on the 4th of January, then my family and I were moving to the other place.

First of all, for us it was difficult to replace the furniture from one place to another, so we asked some help from your removal company, and my family promised to pay a lot of money. At first sight, everything was great, men were carefully carrying our furniture and other things. However, when we came back home, my father noticed lots of little damages ~~in our furniture~~ what is more there was a big hole in our family sofa, somebody has ~~broken~~ it. Also, there wasn't any table at all.

My parents were calling to your agency, but nobody has answered. So, now I am writing to say that it will cost you a lot to replace our family sofa and table from the kitchen. The price will be 1500 pounds, if you don't write me back, and take the responsibility of damaged furniture. Or maybe my parents will go to court and will write a complaint there. The guarantee of satisfaction, which you gave us. Is in the letter.

^{inf}
Well, I hope you will answer my letter. And we ~~won't~~ will not have any problems again.

Waiting for your answer.

Yours faithfully,

Ariane

Dear Sir or Madam,

I'm writing to inform you that two months ago I used your company in order to help me transport my items to a new house. And, unfortunately, because of your staff several items became broken.

I have a written guarantee of satisfaction for your work. It's said there that if, during the transportation, any item broke, you would pay their full price back. So, during the transporting, my sofa, armchair and a mirror were ~~be~~ damaged. 1st 19

The mirror wasn't that pricey but it was enormously big. So, it will cost about 600 dollars to replace it. 1st

The armchair is really old and I think, it's gonna be hard to replace it. I suppose, I will try to fix it and it will cost about 1000 dollars. 1st 1st

Talking about the sofa, I would say that it's priceless because it's my heirloom. I can't imagine how much money it's gonna take to fix it. But my husband said that it would ~~be~~ cost about 2500 dollars. 1st 1st 1st 1st

So, the total amount of money I want you to pay me back is 4100 dollars. I urge you to pay ~~to~~ me that money back as soon as possible. Better, if it's gonna happen in a few days. 1st 1st

Kind regards,

Mrs. Smith

Subject: broken items.

Dear Sir or Madam,

- I am writing to you because of the situation, which appeared after I had moved house. Unfortunately, some of the transported things were broken. According to the 'guarantee of satisfaction', I can ask the removals firm to compensate for inconvenience and damage. Moreover, I have already spoken to the assistant, but there was no response.
- Nevertheless, it is necessary to list the items damaged. First of all, our curtains were pulled apart; secondly, the leather sofa now has a dirty spot on it, so it has lost its aesthetics. Eventually, my wooden table was completely broken, consequently, it cannot be used anymore.
- Another issue I am supposed to enlighten is the price of furniture. The total amount is one hundred dollars, including money for the company, material expenses and mental damage.
- All in all, I wish to have a refund, so that way will be the most appropriate one. However, me and my family could accept a ~~st~~ constitute for items, which were destroyed. It will not take a lot of effort to do, because we are still ready to communicate and turn this conflict into the good deal.

Looking forward to having a response soon.

Yours sincerely,

Anna White

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to you to complain about the quality of your company's service which I have experienced recently.

I have hired three specialists who work in your company to help me to move house. I decided to choose your organisation because I knew I would be given a written guarantee of satisfaction for your work. Also, I have heard many positive reviews about your service from my relatives. However, my experience was not that excellent. During the move, my TV and two microwaves were damaged due to the inaccurate work of your staff. These devices cannot be used now, and it is impossible to repair them. As a consequence I have to replace these items. According to the costs in innovative electronic shops, I need to pay about one hundred of dollars for the replacement of my devices.

In conclusion, it is written in your company's guarantee of satisfaction that you are responsible for these kinds of situations. So it would be great, if you pay for the replacement of my TV and two microwaves and give me a refund for your work.

I am looking forward to hearing from you.

Yours faithfully,

MB

Subject: broken items during the move

Dear Sir or Madam,

I wish to express my total dissatisfaction with the work of your company. I have chosen your firm to help me to move the house. Unfortunately, during the move, some of my items were broken. So the doors of my wooden closet are broken (there are scratch marks on them), leather sofa is ripped and the set of my china plates is broken. Due to the fact that I use these items in everyday life, I need to buy some new items or get them repaired. What is more, my child toys are damaged, too: there are strange black stains on them. I have your company's written 'guarantee of satisfaction' for your work so I can use it in order to get a refund.

When I attempted to talk to your company worker, Anna, but there was no response. Now it is four weeks since the move and nobody called me yet. As now items are damaged, therefore I cannot use them. I am writing to you as I wish a full refund of the £500 for the damaged items and £100 for the work that I have paid.

I am looking forward to hearing from you again within the next week.

Yours truly,

Mary Jones.
