Dear Sir or Madam,

gr

I am writing this letter in order to express my dissatisfaction and complaint about the quality of services your company provided. I have already spoken to your firm's representative but no ~~(steps)~~ steps have been taken hitherto.

P.gr

Three ~~(days)~~ ^(weeks) ago, I ordered a help of two people from your company as I was moving to another place. Everything went fine until the moment when one of your workers stumbled over the doorway. He was carrying two bundles with neatly packed and fragile crockery, which, unfortunately, ~~(was)~~ crashed into pieces. The worker was completely unperturbable and did not even say any word of apology. He just advised me to call company's director. The letter tells me to write this letter.

gr

I would like you to make up for the broken crockery. It was estimated by an expert (the documents are attached) that the total loss comprises 97.85 dollars. You have seven days (since the day you receive the letter) to pay out the compensation. Otherwise, I would have to submit my letter of complaint to the court with a reference to your company's guarantee of satisfaction.

I hope we will resolve the conflict peacefully

Yours faithfully,

George Williams

Hello sir/madam,

I am writing this letter in order to complain about services provided by your company several weeks ago. We have recently moved house and paid for the furniture removal provided by you. However, some items were broken while moving and we know for sure that your firm was responsible for this. I have already sent a letter that was meant to resolve the issue, but we still haven't received a reply.

Now, I'm asking for a full chargeback plus a compensation. According to your company's guarantee of satisfaction, we can get our money back if two months hadn't passed or if we were not satisfied with the completed order's quality. Also, we can get a compensation if our equipment was broken in the process. During the removal, our cupboards, beds, cooking accessories and a new fridge were damaged. In total, the replacement cost will be about 1500 pounds. I am asking for an 80% price compensation from your firm.

I am hoping to get a reply from you within two weeks. If you decline the possibility of a chargeback and/or of a compensation, we will not be hesitated to take legal action against your company.

Sincerely,
Dmitry Grevtzev

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to complain about your working crew work. I have recently moved house. Your removals firm named "Fast & Convenient" were responsible for keeping my furniture in safety during the move. You have even sent me 'guarantee of satisfaction' the day before the move. I am enclosing it to my letter. But, unfortunately, I am definitely not satisfied with your work.

During the move, several items were damaged. Firstly, a couple of chairs was broken at all. Thank God, they were made of wood, not of any expensive material! Secondly, the freezer's door was dented. To be honest, I am literally shocked because of this. My freezer is not a fragile one so I thought it was impossible to break it. But your company proved me the opposite. What's more, the curtains were ripped at the seams.

It is hard to deny that it will cost a lot to replace all of these items. Well, I'm not going to buy a new freezer. However, I still need to repair it so it will cost about $150. Also, buying a new pair of chairs and curtains' repairing will took me $200 as sure.

So, over all, I want you to pay me back. I am really disappointed in your company. It follows that you must return at least a half of the price I payed for your amenities to me. I hope, you understand the situation. Looking forward for your answer.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir,

I'm writing to you to inform that the removals firm which is owned by you is responsible for the damaging of several of my items. Well, let me tell you clearly what happened.

Three weeks ago I moved to a new house and your firm was hired to give a boost. Before moving your company had provided its guarantee satisfaction which I'd like to refer to. Having moved with the help of your firm, I surveyed my TV set was out of order. Frankly speaking, it used to be in a flawless condition before I moved. Another thing that turned out to be damaged was a microwave. Now I cannot even apply these items properly, that's why I'm bitterly disappointed. It's quite complicated to tell you but it will cost for about 1000 pounds for your company to replace damaged things. I've spoken to the company the other day but it's still idle. It's a bit unfair I've been absolutely ignored for so long. To tell the truth, it's not perfectly feasible to overlook the fact your company is responsible for broken items.

To sum up, I'd really like the firm to take serious actions. It would be really great if the company promoted me a discount to buy brand new things. Well, I sincerely hope the accident won't happen again.

Dear company,

As my previous complaint was ignored, I am writing again. Several weeks ago I've moved house and decided to use your services. You said that you guarantee safety of my items, as well as you'll deliver it fast. You also promised to be careful, as there are some fragile things; the main problem is your "guarantee of satisfaction".

As the boxes were delivered, I was shocked. Some of them were ripped open, shards of glass falling out from there. Several boxes containing fragile items (which had a special sticker) were delivered facing upside down. I was terrified to open these boxes. As I did, things got even worse - my TV's screen had a huge crack. I don't think this is considered as "satisfaction".

I'm not sure if I'm even able to replace or repair my things. I also noticed that my plates are also broken - I'll have to buy new ones, as well as glass mosaics. Thankfully, the TV is repairable, but it will cost me a lot.

I am asking for a refund, as a lot of items were seriously damaged. If you're going to ignore my letter again, I'll have to sue. I'm also looking forward to not use your services again.

Waiting for your response,

Elvina

Dear Sir or Madam,

gr gr I am writing in order to complain about the service of your removed firm with which we were provided with. Also, I am writing to ask you to take actions to solve an issue.

log On April 25th, which is a month ago, during a transportation of our items to a place several items were badly damaged or broken. We know the firm was in charge of the incident so and referred to your company's 'guarantee of satisfaction' several times, but it was no use as we did not receive the things repaired or the money to cover the expenses.

lex The list of the items includes two wooden chairs made from oak tree, a table which is made from marble, three iron cupboards and an armchair.

lex According to the number and value of the damaged and broken things, it will take six thousands dollars to cover the expenses.

Moreover, I wish you take such measures such as to be more focused on the way you should relate to the customers and it need be, make somebody redundant so that you do not have such ~~be~~ problems again.

I do hope you take all points into account. We are lo-

Dear Mr. Brown,

My name is Elizabeth. I am one of your removal firm clients. Three weeks ago I moved house. I payed for a favour of removing my items from old apartment to the new one. During the move some items were broken. I had a written guarantee of satisfaction and I didn't really expect something bad to come up. Unfortunately, I had to write this letter of complaint because I want my money back. Here is the list of items which were damaged:

- table lamp
- armchair
- a cupboard door
- TV
- two chairs
- table
- a few things which were made of glass

I counted how much it will cost me to replace these items and I got a big sum of money. The problem is that I can't ~~pe~~ pay for replacing them right now as I am a student who has to pay for studying. I hope you understand my current situation.

Please read this letter and answer me back. We could meet and talk about the amount of the payback. If you won't answer ~~~~ in ~~~~ seven days I will have to talk to judge. If this happens I strongly recommend you to hire a professional lawyer.

I will attach my phone number and e-mail address to this letter.

st.

Best wishes to you and your company,
Elizabeth.
