4. If you asked me why I became ^{of} a journalist, I wouldn't reply momentarily. I started writing short texts when I was a child and, to be honest, I have no idea why. As I remember, I have always enjoyed writing essays during my school years and English Literature was my favourite subject. Now as a university student, I write articles for the local newspapers, which is quite well-paid though. So, when I found out that one student magazine has asked for reviews of a popular blog or website I thought it would be a chance for ~~to~~ improve my review-writing skills and even some money either.

I can't call modern school a place for studying, really. People add it also to spend time together with their friends, have fun and just write on their daily routine. But when it comes to education itself, student often get puzzled and stressed. That's why I spent the last two weeks surfing the Net in order to find some tips for studying.

The blog I liked the best is owned by a school teacher, Лист № 1
 In her articles she tells about high school, exams, carrying out research and educational resources. In addition, there is a very useful thing called "an online tutor". You can ask any question you please ^{sp. gr} about any school subject and it will be answered in no more than three days. Any problem will be solved and any material will be explained by experts.

In my opinion, ^{gr} tips which Melly gives are good for those who have ~~not~~ troubles with studying. However, I'd advice ^{gr} to read her blog every school and college student.

read articles about science, Fashion and art and teenagers can do that either. The website also encourages its viewers to turn their dreams into reality. You can find tutorials with videos, helpful links and interview with professionals to master any skill you want.

3 What are advantages and disadvantages of the blog?

Comparing to another blogs with the same concept, ADME is more focused on text articles than on pictures or photos. The website is easy to use and it provides content depending on your interests. However, ADME has some disadvantages. It includes tips for an easier everyday life which makes it look like a house-life blog. Also, it doesn't work without the Internet.

In conclusion, ADME "being a small blog, can gain popularity with its quality content and good reviews."

Tourist Sam's travels, Journeys

You're considered out of step and behind the times if you've never followed a blog of some kind. Nowadays they are as numerous as stars ^{gr} on a clear night. Despite their numbers, ~~the~~ ^{gr} blogs are all as different ~~as chalk and cheese~~ ~~as~~ ~~from~~ ~~one~~ ~~another~~ as chalk and cheese. "Sam's Journeys" is a blog ^{pp} ~~that~~ you can learn something and obtain some useful knowledge from. It's hugely popular ~~and~~ and in ^{a different} ~~the other~~ league now. Unlike most of the other blogs, ~~this one~~ ~~posts~~ ^{pp} ~~videos~~ are posted ~~once~~ every single day there, which is the icing on the cake.

¹⁰⁰ In 2015, Samwell Snow, an undergraduate at a Manchester university got/bored with ^{of} his studies. He wanted to break free of the "college chains", ^{so} ~~and go on a trip somewhere~~. Samwell decided to visit Vienna, to taste the legendary cones and see the place. Had ^{snow} ~~he~~ boarded ~~the~~ ^{gr} ~~a~~ plane that it occurred to him that ~~he~~ he should start a blog about all the ~~things and countries~~ ^{places} of the entire world. ¹⁵⁰

The number of subscribers of the blog has reached ~~to~~ five hundred thousands ^{pp} people and it still grows. Every nook and cranny of the ~~videos~~ ^{pp} Samwell posts every day are all dedicated to the sights, monuments and culture of the place he visits. The blog ^{will help} ~~helps~~ ^{to} broaden the horizons of those who cannot afford to travel to ~~the~~ ^{gr} ~~other~~ countries. ~~In addition, it's of great use as well as~~ ^{pp} ~~for~~ those who are sitting on the fence, thinking where to ~~go~~ ^{gr} ~~journey~~.

Taking into consideration everything mentioned heretofore, I thoroughly recommend everyone to subscribe to "Sam's Journeys". It will definitely play ²⁵⁰ ~~to~~ your/hand, even if you're not a big fan of journeys.

Film Blog

A few days ago I aspired^P to watch a film of British production. The problem was that I was unaware which one I'd like to see. Besides, Biography films have always seemed admiring to me. When I started surfing the Internet in searches of a movie worth watching I saw an advert of a film-describer blog. Later I found it ^P ~~lex~~ fantastic.

The host of the Blog, Daniel Brown, strives to do his best in compounding the list of pros and cons for almost all films of British and American production. He also elaborates the main purport of a film. Moreover, he involves multifarious genres as he is aware of the diversity of preferences of his subscribers. With Daniel's help it's possible to watch a movie before its premiere on TV. Apart from this, he presents the video of the film itself, what ministers to not wasting time on looking for a free high-quality video. It goes without saying, Daniel is extremely popular in the Internet. From time to time he arranges competitions for the subscribers. The winners can have a list of films which must be watched in a compulsory order.

To my way of thinking, Daniel is a talented Blogger and a genuine expert, who is worth attention. So I'd recommend his Blog to those who are interested.

More and more people nowadays are interested in reading different blogs and websites. It's a fun way to spend your free time and learn something new.

My favourite website that I've been reading a lot lately is wiviblog. It's a popular website dedicated to Eurovision. In case you don't know, Eurovision is a song contest that is held every year in May and countries from Europe and beyond participate. So wiviblog.com is a great resource for people interested in the contest. On the website you can find articles about history of the contest, quizzes, information about the participants and many more. This website is a great way to communicate with other fans of Eurovision Song Contest.

In my opinion, this is a great website. I like it a lot because I get to learn news about ~~the~~ the contest and discuss them with other fans. The main advantage of this website is that all of their articles are well-written. It doesn't take them too long to post an article if something happens.

All in all, wiwiblog.com is an amazing resource. I can spend hours on this website. Even if you are not a fan of the contest, I reccomend to check it out. sp.

Useful and interesting

I think there is no person who doesn't know "Wikipedia". It is a very popular website which is famous all over the world. Millions of pages, articles help people learn something new and interesting. Do you want to know about the childhood of your favourite actor or about the invention of the telephone about the structure of the Earth? Answers to these and many other questions can be found on this website.

It is unusual but everyone correct the articles or even create his or her one. It is very useful in our fast changing world.

"Wikipedia" (but many people call it "Wiki") has a lot of different features. For example, "The article of the day" or "It can be interesting" and etc. I can spend a day there, just reading these fascinating articles.

Another advantage of this amazing website is that it has information on all languages of the world, such as Arabic, Russian, French and so on.

"Wikipedia" can also help students with their homework and school projects. Articles are easy-to-understand and full of different pictures and even audio materials.

So, that's why I absolutely love this wonderful website. It is such a great source of information. And it doesn't matter, do you fond of science or art or anything else. "Wikipedia" can be interesting and useful for all people.

"Wikipedia.org" is a free and open source of unlimited information on the Internet. Undoubtedly, it's the most popular website in the world. And many people use this website for their purpose. For example, you're having some troubles with your school project, well then, you can easily find any information you require for your project on this website.

As I have said earlier, "Wikipedia" is an open source website, which means, that it's being written by internet users. Anyone can write their own articles about specific events, places, people and etc. Even you can write your own articles or add additional information to the website. And there is a problem with that. Because people can write anything they want, you can ~~get easily~~ easily get disinformation. But nowadays it's a rare occasion, because "Wikipedia" has its own system, that ~~(periodically)~~ periodically checks all the articles and notifies any reader about non-continued information. It's the matter of time before the article gets re-edited.

In addition, every wiki page has its own external links and additional literature, where you can find all used materials (like books or websites), which can help you advance in many directions, like mathematics, physics, biology, history and etc.

I recommend visiting "Wikipedia" more frequently, because learning new things broadens our mind. Wikipedia has become a storage of our knowledge and it's still being edited nowadays. And all that information would help people build for themselves a greater future better future.

Review

The Film Watchers Website. = p.

lex. The first ever was filmed approximately in the 1910. Nowadays, the film industry plays important role in our lives. Usually, before people go to the cinema, firstly, they read articles about ~~the~~ ^a 'masterpiece' they really want to watch. Lately, I've visited one of this type of websites where people share their opinion about the movies. The website is called 'kinopoisk'. It was a new experience for me and now I want to share my opinion with you.

lex. First things first, on this website you can find out whatever you want, ~~even~~ ^{even} how much the movie costs. It really seems to be interesting, doesn't it? Obviously, the main reason people visit 'kinopoisk' is to get to know movies' pros and cons, just to be sure if this movie is worth its while or not. lex.

On the contrary, it appears that people earn money from their articles and sometimes they do write fake ones when they don't know anything about the movie. In my opinion, it's not right to do such things and it's just the tip of the iceberg - they might try to fool you, because if you do not really give a fig about film-making, you'll probably believe in what the writers say. lex

In a nutshell, I would totally recommend this website to visit because sometimes it might appear really useful but, you need to be attentive to ~~recognize~~ be able to recognize the fake articles. lex
