4.1. Good afternoon, Mr. Brown! It is a great pleasure to meet such an extraordinary dancer: your choreography with the glass of water on your head was one of the most memorable performances of this show for me. I was amazed to see you walk to the stage with the glass, and when you began to dance without dropping it, I was ~~not~~ fascinated. Also, the moment when you had twirled became my favourite one. All in all, this performance was outstanding because of its originality and your perfect control of your body. I would only like to recommend to add more emotions and facial expressions. It would attract the spectators' attention and make your face memorable and famous. Thank you very much for showing your talent, I anticipate your further success in dancing and popularity.

4.2. The Power of Kindness

"The future is born in the hands that dare to dream"

Once upon a time in a big but unhappy kingdom ruled the cruel king Harold. He ~~considered everybody~~ thought that everybody was his enemy and always attacked other kingdoms with his huge army. Harold's soldiers killed innocent people and destroyed villages without any hesitation, but there was one soldier who was different. His name was Richard, he dreamed of peace and did not want to murder anyone. Richard tried to talk to other soldiers, but they were sure that the death of everyone else was the only way to keep their kingdom strong. Richard decided to change their minds. This brave lion came to Edward, the king of the attached kingdom, at night. He found out that Edward never wanted to attack Richard's kingdom. So, they made a plan together. ~~The next morning Edward's people did not fight against Harold's attacks. Instead, they tried to~~

The next morning Edward's people did not fight against Harold's ~~attacks~~ ^{soldiers}. Instead, they tried to help the army, delivered them food and warm clothes. The soldiers were impressed by their kindness. They understood that they had been blinded by Harold's cruelty and turned against him. They created a revolt, imprisoned Harold and made Richard the new king.

3.1 FEEDBACK ON KATE'S PERFORMANCE

Hello Kate! Thank you for participating in the show! I really enjoyed your performance. You sang such a beautiful song! Even though you are so young, you are a skilled artist already, your singing was so passionate and catchy!

The famous music piece you chose is very challenging, yet you have shown that you deserve to perform such complex compositions because it turned out to be a brilliant performance. You impressed me by your high-pitch voice in the end of the song!

I believe it was a great start and I advise you the journey. Do not focus on one genre only, try to explore different techniques. Apply your knowledge to come up with new ideas.

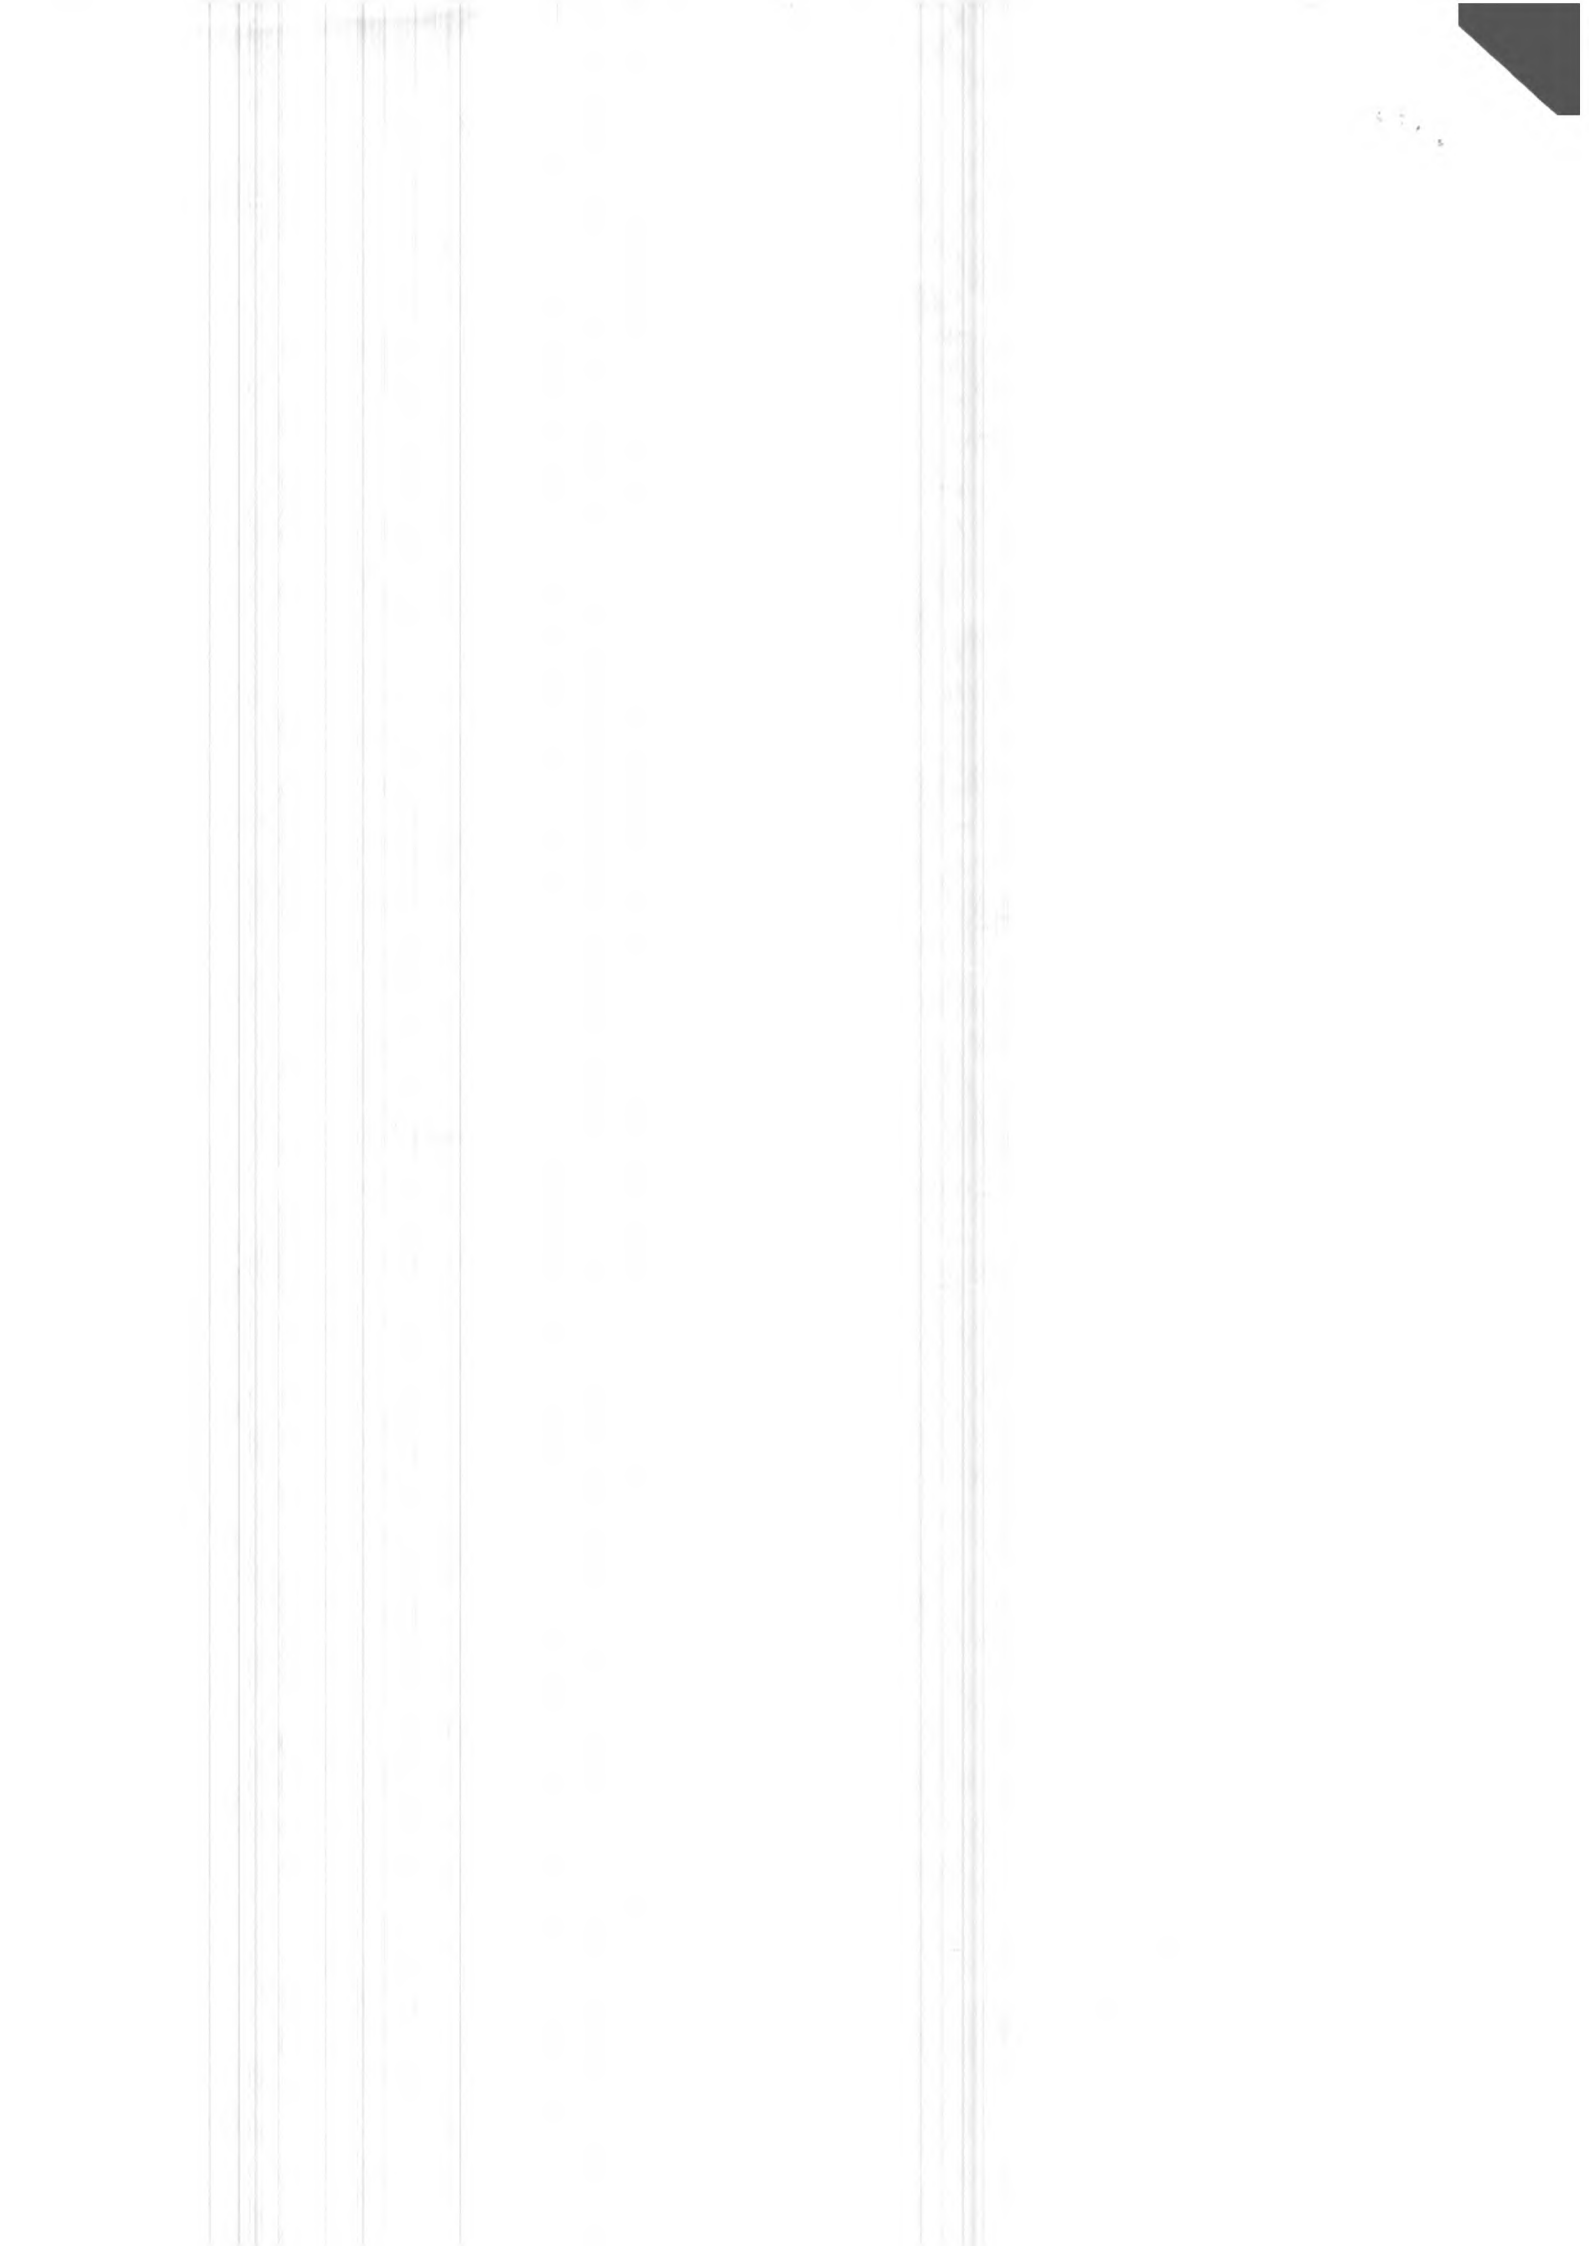

Do not be afraid to make mistakes. Today you did not make any, but I believe that your performance is not at your peak yet. However, you have a high potential and by trying and making mistakes, you improve, becoming more professional. Overall, it was a great start. Continue working and impressing us!

3.2 A VOICE OF HOPE

The future is born in the hands that dare to dream.
Once upon a time there lived a young prince George, son of the King William of Esclant, Esclant faced a harvest failure, while their neighboring kingdom, Alant, prospered. William was outraged, he wanted to invade Alant and fight with his brother King Richard to obtain the in-demand crops. However, George persuaded him to remain calm. "Father," he said, "life may look evil and unfair now, but hope is a seed, it turns humble beginnings into mighty opportunities. Let's hope for the better!" He continued with a poem:

"Hope is my sole and precious belief!
No evil can easily drive me to tears
Because I have hope and it brings me relief!
It calms my rage and defeats all my fears!"

William was touched by George's words and started planning to head to Alant to have a peaceful conversation with his brother, but suddenly Alant's army arrived to conquer Esclant and make Richard a new King. William was frightened, but George ~~told~~ told him, "I will stop them father, words are my weapon!" He ~~chose~~ chose to stand alone in front of the whole army and said, "Esclant and Alant are brotherly kingdoms, we hope for better days and I hope to unite us all in peace!" King Richard was impressed by George's words and said, "You are a wise man, George, you will be the king of Alant!"

W1. Thank you for your performance! It was an impressive one. I'd like to highlight some moments of it.

Firstly, the idea to combine humorous performance with elements of dance was wonderful. It was a pleasure to look how your jokes changed with dancing moves and vice versa. Moreover, I was fascinated by the fact that dancing reflected the mood of your jokes what made the show even more funny. Dance skills and quality of jokes also worth paying attention. Your moves are perfect and graceful so I immediately noticed the dancing talent in you. The silver lining of your performance are the jokes that made me laugh like never before.

I hope I'll hear about you in the future. Good luck with your performances.

DREAMS AND STARS

The future is born in the hands that dare to dream. In a small village near the magical forest a young woman lived. Her name was Loren. She was an ordinary person but she felt like a bird who is not able to fly high in the clouds. Loren felt free and happy while gazing the stars and dreaming of a bright future of her nation.

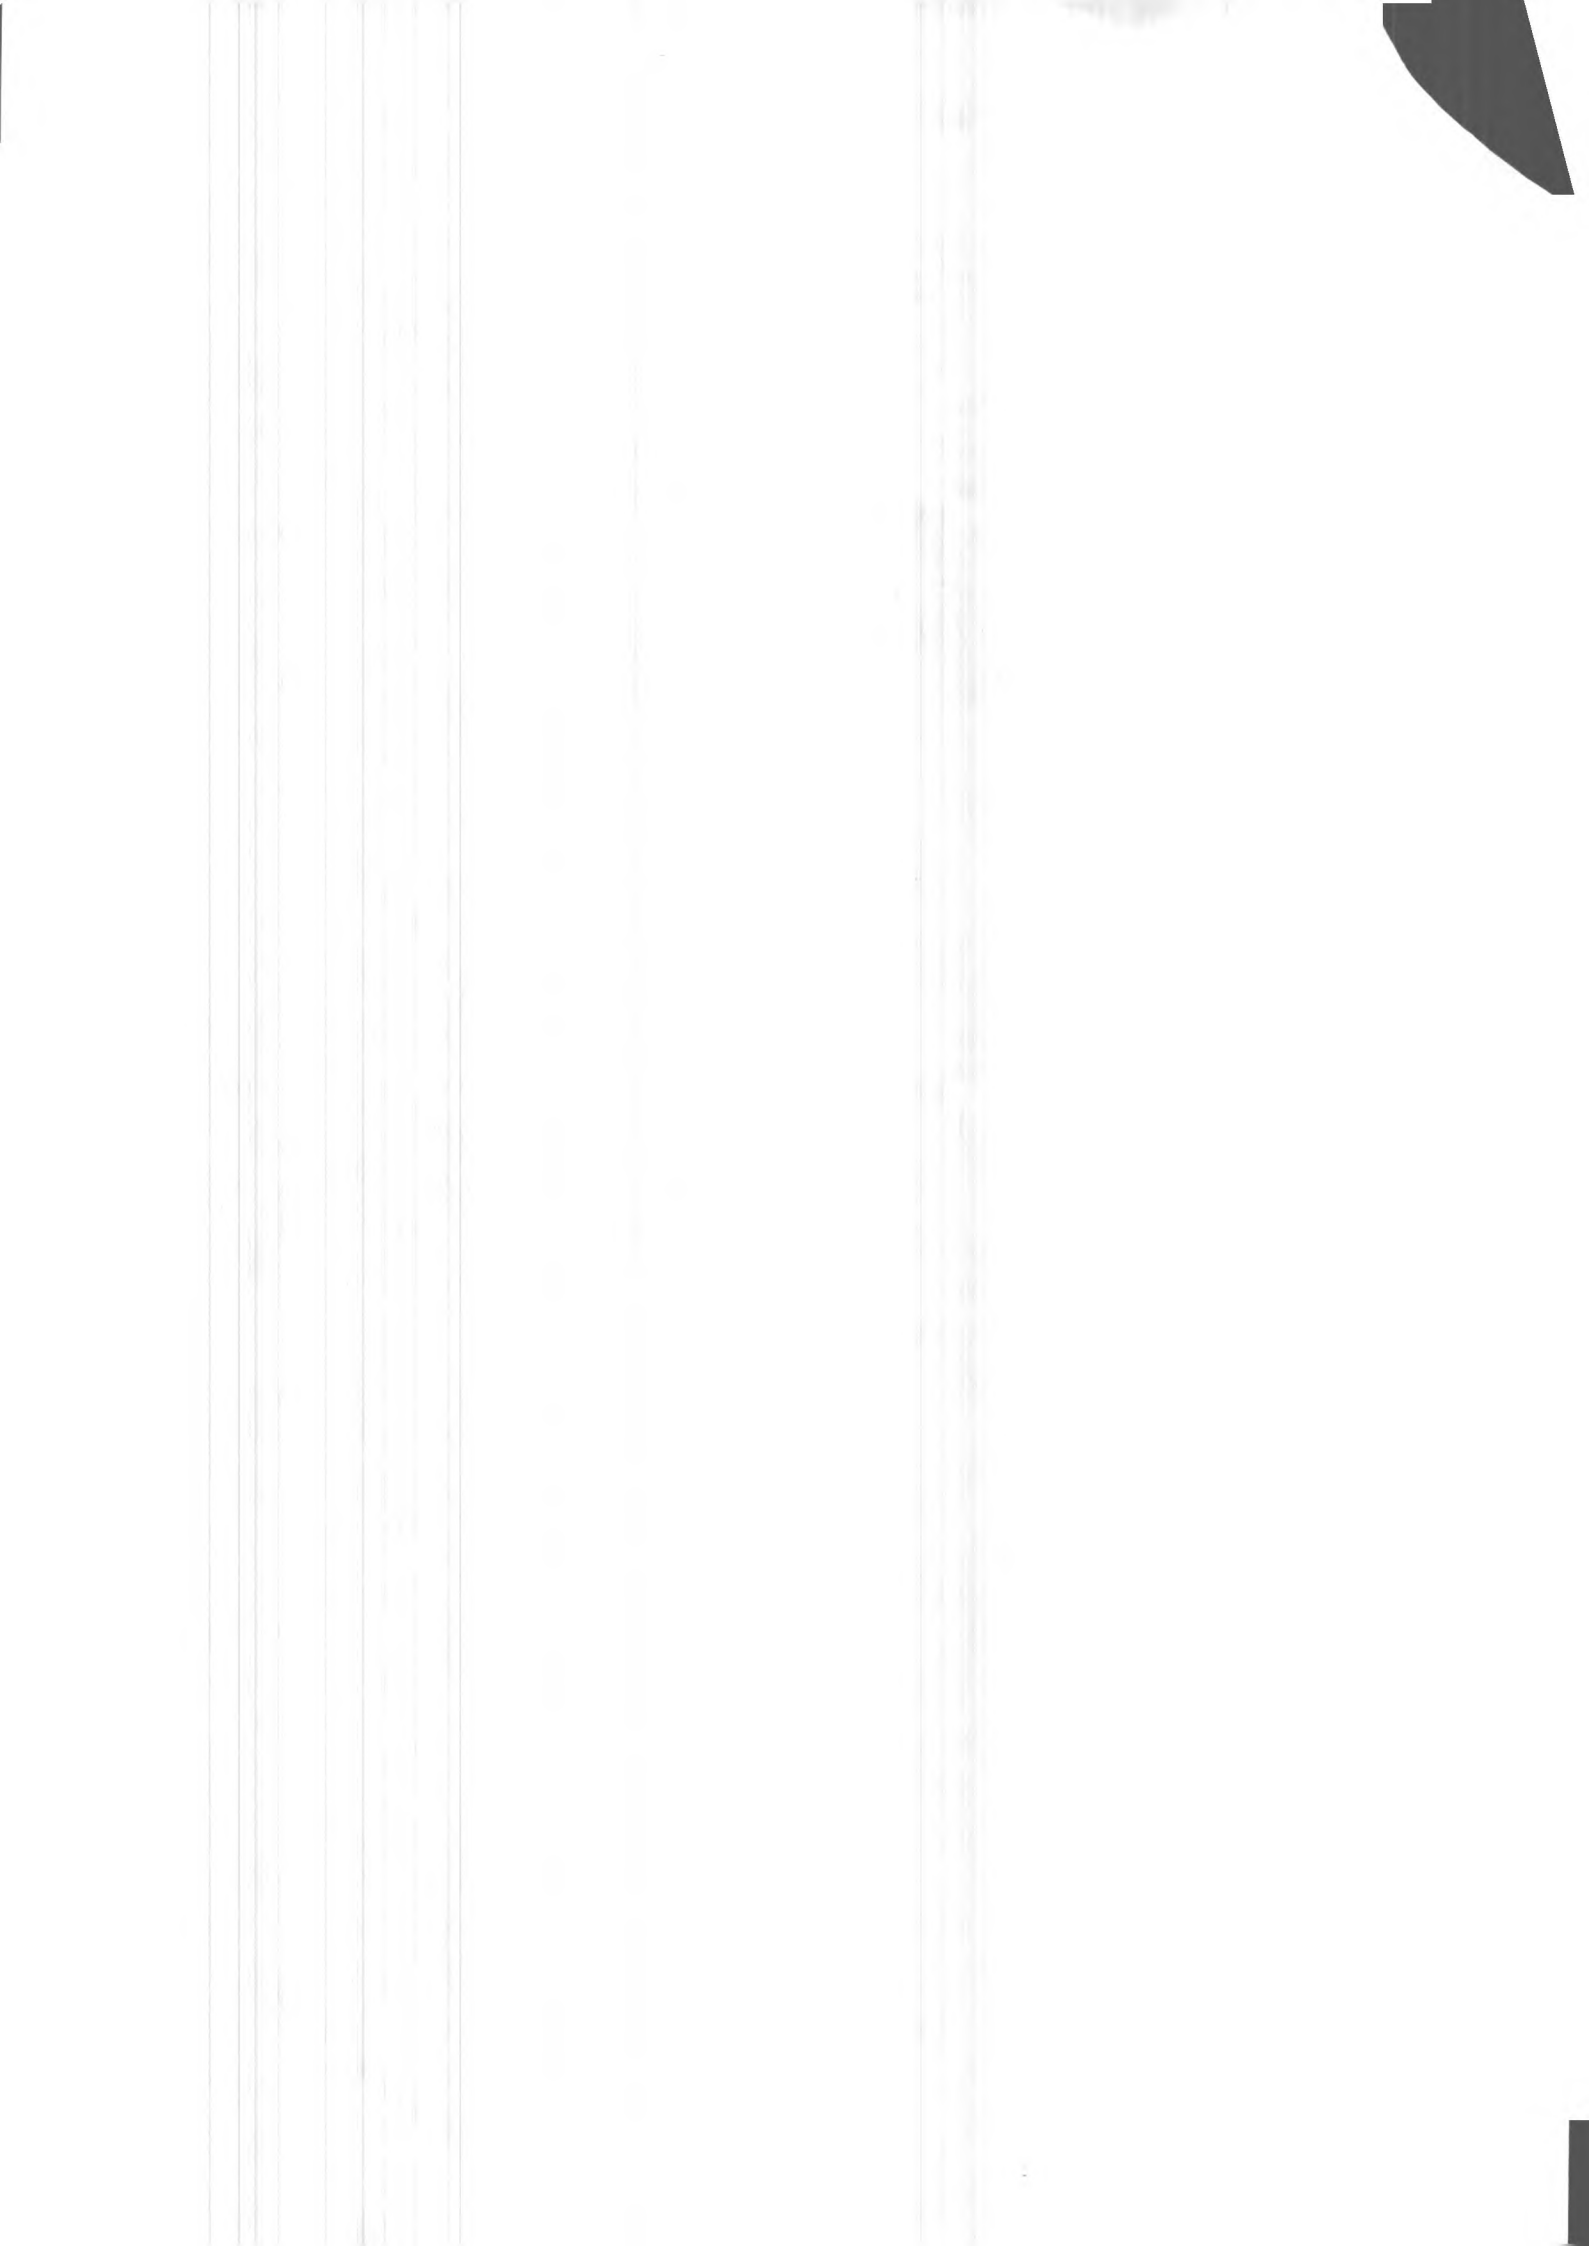

Her hair was dark like the night, showing the time that she felt in love with. Her eyes shined bright in the light, making it's harder to understand her thoughts.

Through the years she started seeing others' fates in stars. She definitely knew that her neighbours was concerned about the future of their child. So she appeared in their house and told them that their son's star shines bright in the sky.

Loren became people's light in the dark. For the first time in lives they sighed with relief. From that time people saw a hero in Loren. They asked Loren to tell about their future but she smiled and everyone believed in good. The life of village filled with hope and desire to make changes. It seemed that even sun shines brighter. Loren didn't fear to dream of better life and now people are the same.

Hell, it's my turn to speak out now. I'm Rose, and I'm glad to see you here! What can I say? Now! As a dance coach with several years of experience in performing and teaching, I'm amazed to see the popping dance style since it's so rare. Maria, your smooth^{so} and fast movements at the same time made me believe you were a doll. The culmination of the performance made my heart drop. The way you were spinning your arms and your head like a cartoon character, the way you fell down on the floor so easily - it's ~~unbelievable~~ unbelievable.

To take things further, your facial expressions impressed me most, even though they were the only unchangeable ~~thing~~ part of the dance. You had chosen the right emotion to show the lack of freedom and ~~happiness~~ ^{happiness}. Also, the song by Indilla was a perfect match to the image of an unfortunate doll. I'm not an extremely sentimental person, but a couple of tears rolled down my cheeks.

I must say, this ~~performance~~ ^{dance} is one of the best performances here so far. However, there's something I'd recommend you to work on for your future development. As I can see, you've created your costume yourself. To underline the peculiarity of your style, try hiring a professional stylist to make your appearance more glorious. Also, it would be better if you sharpened your movements and made them closer to the music.

~~Thank~~ Thank you for this ~~an~~ impressive dance. Remember, there's no limit to perfection. Go ahead and take your prize, Mary! 256w.

Task 3.2

The Dreamweaver of Eldoria

AI - 100%

'The Future is born in the hands that dare to dream.'

In the ancient land of Eldoria, where the mountains kissed the sky and rivers sang sweet melodies, there lived a humble blacksmith named Alaric. Known for his unmatched skill with metal, Alaric was a man of few words but many dreams. He often gazed the stars, imagining a world where knowledge flowed like water.

One fateful night, as the moon bathed the village in silver light, Alaric had a vision. He saw a society where everyone shared their wisdom, and creativity bloomed like flowers. Inspired, he set out to create something extraordinary, a device that would allow people to share thoughts and ideas across great distances, a magical scroll that could capture words and send them flying on the wings of the wind.

As he worked tirelessly in his forge, he poured his heart into his invention, and soon the scroll was born. It transformed his motherland, connecting minds and hearts. People began to collaborate, innovate, and dream together. The village flourished, blossoming into a beacon of knowledge and prosperity.

In celebration of this newfound unity, Alaric composed a quatrain:

In every heart, a spark^{so} ignites,
With dreams that soar to wondrous heights.
Together we build, together we strive,
In the garden of hope, our spirits thrive.

Alaric's legacy lived on, reminding all that the power to dream can reshape the world. 37

First of all, I want to say thank you for your performance. It was amazing! To tell the truth, I have ^{two} things that I liked the most. They are your final dance and ^{the} song in the middle of the performance.

I was impressed by your originality. I've never seen any dances like these. I can't believe that you combined ~~the~~ ^{of} elements from ballet and break dance. Moreover, I can't forget your emotions during ^{while} singing. Your main vocalist is really skilled, and ~~the~~ ^{they} others made a good choir. You made me cry.

However, I also have some recommendations for further development and improvement. In my opinion, you should add a meaning to your performance. You must have a certain idea ^{that} you want to show us. Correct it, and your performance will be perfect.

The weather of Starlight

"The future is born in the hands that dare to dream."

In the sun-scorched village of Dusthaven, water was a cruel memory, and the sky was a forgotten, empty bowl. Life was a parched whisper, woven from desperation. Anya, the weather's daughter, was different. Her fingers were nimble, but her gaze was fixed upward, not at the brittle roads, but at the invisible river of the night wind.

While others toiled, Anya observed the dance of seeds on the breeze, the way spiders spun nets to catch the morning dew. She dreamed of catching not insects but ^{the} water itself. Mocked for her "idle folly", she worked in secret. Using the finest flax and a loom of her own design, she wove a cloth with a pattern so vast and intricate it mirrored the very currents of the air - a net for the Skemi.

On the first heavy night, when the air grew thick with unseen moisture, she raised her creation between the cliffs. By dawn, the fabric, sagging and silver, was drunk with a thousands captured dewdrops. She taught the sky to weep into her hands. The village elders, tasting the first pure water in years from the ^{wet} wrung cloth, called it a miracle.

The loom of dream with threads of will

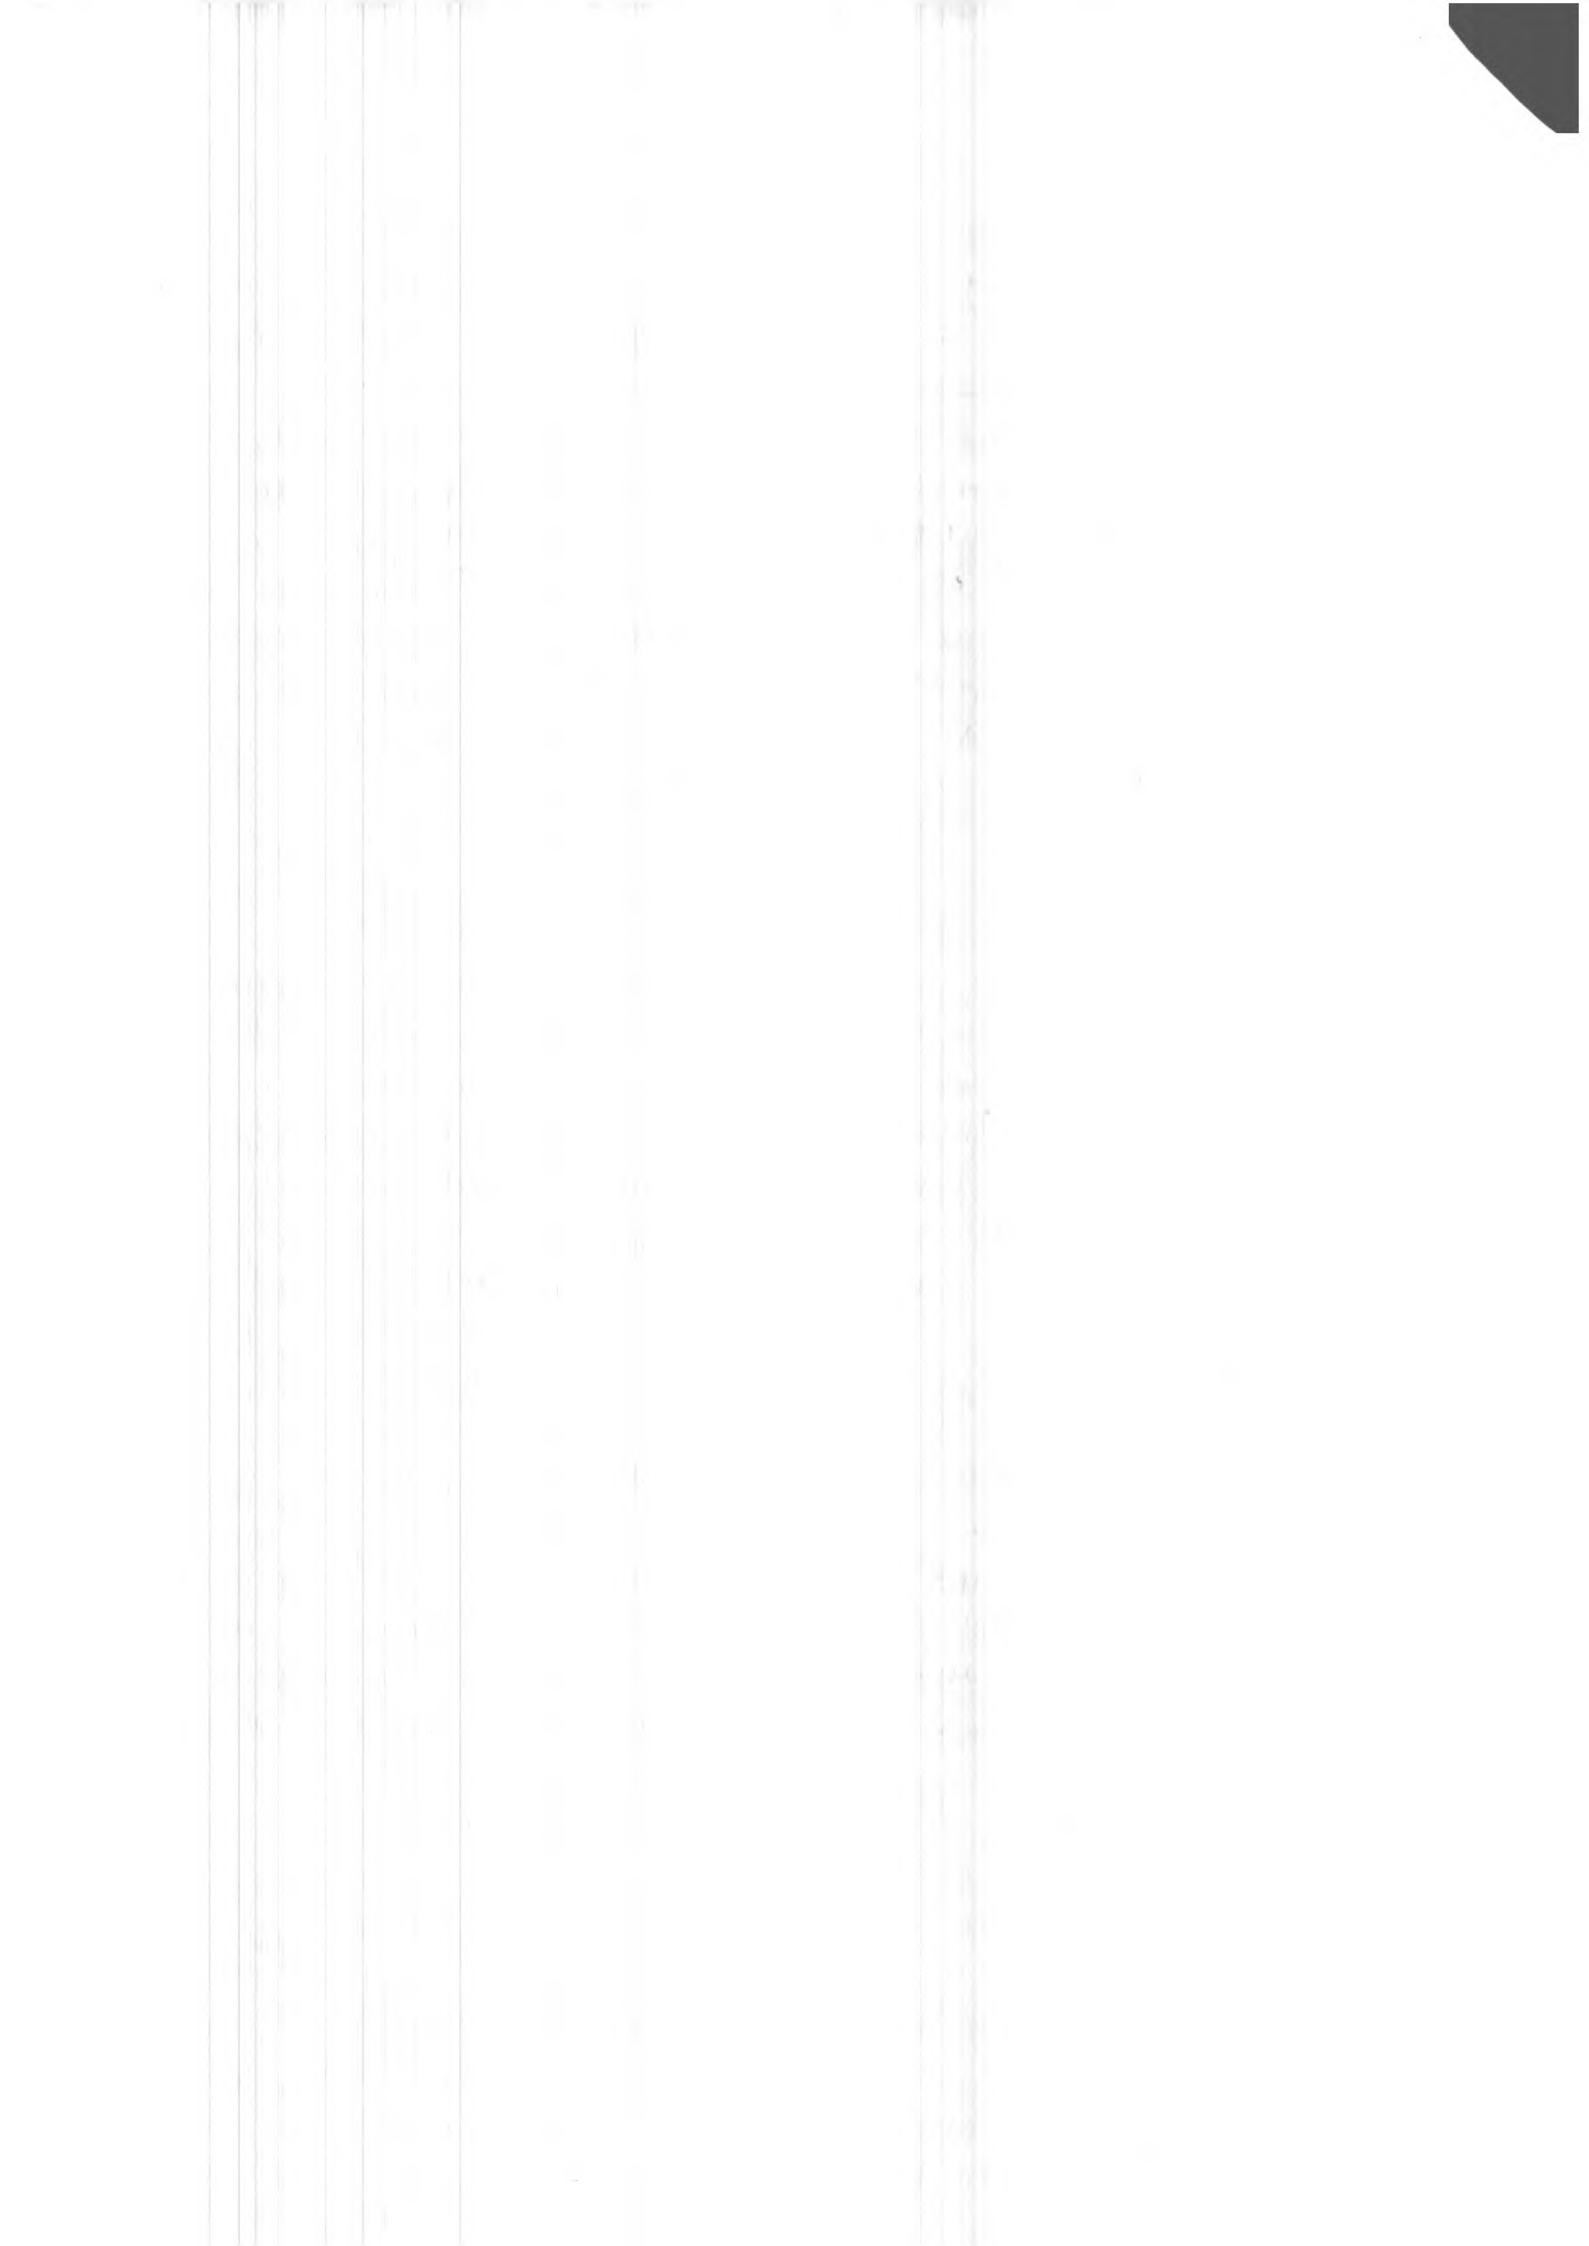

Can turn the air to drink its fill.

Not from the rock of deep earth's vein,

But from the hope that ends the pain.

Anya taught them all. Soon, the canyon walls were draped with "sky-traps"; glistening each morning. Dusthaven bloomed into Verdant Crossroads, a green haven where her woven rivers of thread brought life. She ~~us~~ showed them that the greatest resources ^{are} carried on the breath of the world.

4.1.

Hello, Tom. Firstly, I just wanted to say that your performance was absolutely ~~wonderful~~ wonderful. Everything, from the way you ~~sang~~ sang to the way you played the piano was truly incredible. Specifically, the high note you hit toward the end of the song nearly made me shed a tear. I also really enjoyed how emotionally you performed it, and the fact that you ~~made~~ made the ~~song~~ song yourself just adds on to the excitement. The only criticism I have of ~~the~~ the performance is that sometimes your voice cracked slightly, so I'd recommend you to work on that. Nevertheless, the mistakes were greatly overshadowed by your surreal delivery and piano skills. Lastly, I'd like to thank you for your memorable performance, and I'm looking forward to hearing more from you in the future.

4.2.

BILLY BROWN, THE ANIMAL TAMER

The future is born in the hand that dare to dream.

Once upon a time, in a village far away from any big towns, lived a boy named Billy Brown. Ever since he ~~learned~~ learned to walk, he felt a deep connection to animals. All the other kids always called him crazy. They used to say, "Billy always walks around the village talking to pigs and dogs, it's like he's a stupid pig himself!" But Brown didn't give up his dream of being able to communicate with those, who were only used as ~~food~~ food and transport.

However, when Billy grew up, he was forced to be a hunter against his will. Every single time he was sent into the forest to kill deer and wolves he tried to tame them and be friends, for which he was always ~~punished~~ punished by his parents and bullied by other kids.

But the worst was yet to come. One time, ~~while~~ during his ~~daily~~ daily hunt in the forest, Billy's leg got bitten off by a wolf he was trying to talk to. That's when everyone started to mock him by saying,

"Billy, Billy Brown
Got his hand bitten off
He tried talking to animals
And got bit by a wolf."

Nevertheless, everyone was proven wrong when the wolf returned the next day totally non-aggressive and seemingly remorseful about what ~~it's done~~ it's done. And that's how Billy Brown proved the wall of people against him wrong ~~and~~ by taming a wolf.

The future is born in the hands that dare to dream.

There lived a man whose aim was to be the first in technological science. He did not take care of others, his family, friends and so on. His ~~only~~ ~~only~~ desire was to invent the machine that could transform people from present to past.

With all his enthusiasm, he was finally able to do it. He sold his invention, earned a lot of money, and was happy. He flew to many countries, had nothing to refuse. He spent ~~see~~ thousands of dollars every day. Once, he became exhausted from it, as ~~all~~ all his needs were complete. Having returned to his native city, he realised that he was alone. He was divorced, his daughter had died. His ~~house~~ luxurious house looked incredible. It was in the hills that looked like big white elephants, but nobody was there.

He realised that his life was a journey with his new invention so he decided to change its destination. He ~~was~~ ~~was~~ set off ^{to} the beginning of June, a week before her death.

He tried to make situation ~~more~~ better and told her:

- Dear, aren't you going to play with me?
- Who are you? Why're you in our house?
- I'm your dad! Can't you recognise me?
- Well, I've never seen you before. 212

He returned to his home, had nothing to say. He died in a ^{dr} month ^{too} and there was a note on a table:

I wanted other scientists to complete this autumn
And deal with all mistakes (50)
But I have almost forgotten (10)
To cure my girl's aches. 260w

4.1. Good night Anna! Thanks for participating in this talent show. It was a pleasure to watch you perform!

The song, which you were singing, is one of my favourites. In addition to that, your dress and shoes fit the mood of the song really well. Also I must say that I was absolutely impressed by your skill and the stamina of your lungs. Adele's songs are always hard to sing properly. Nevertheless, you've completed this challenge. Your performance was so touching and heart-breaking that it even made me cry. I would also recommend you, Anna, to add a bit more decorations to your futur performances. How about some accessoires or hairstyles? Those would help you to express the emotions of songs even better. Once again, thank you for this song. You are incredibly talented! I'm sure you will gain a big fanbase soon!

4.2. An Island

"The future is born in the hands that dare to dream".
Once upon a time on a Lost Island somewhere in the Pacific Ocean, where the weather was always bummy, sun was shining, trees, bushes, grass and flowers were growing, there was a young girl about 14 years old. "What a paradise for this lady, she must be very happy about her life", you might think, dear reader. However, life of Anisha was not ~~neither~~ full of happiness nor easy. She was the only one from her big family: mother, father, two older brothers and two little sisters, who could see how hard it was for all little herbs and flowers to grow. Huge old trees and their big bright-green leafs did not let the others enjoy the sunshine or the rain. Poor little things died because of that. They almost never had any chance to become stronger and survive.

Anisha's family members always told her that those things are usual but the girl herself was sure that it is unfair. She tried to help little plants by ~~giving them~~ watering them. Unfortunately, her effort was not enough to save the whole island. One day she was talking to her family about this issue but they didn't want to agree with her. Then she asked them to ~~help~~ help her even though they don't believe her. This time they agreed and helped because they loved Anisha. By effort of the whole family, Anisha saved the little plants from dying and unfairness. The Island became a place where every plant was equal to each other. A true paradise.

4.1. Thanks, y'all, for your brilliant performances - you did a great job! But I want to single out contestant number six. Just wow. I've never witnessed a dance so immaculate. The dynamic, the sync with the music, the way you glided across the scene - simply mindblowing. And don't get me started with those backflips you did! I mean, you surely ~~defying~~ ^{were} defying physics ~~by~~ doing these, weren't you? I couldn't believe my eyes! Believe me, I tried my best to ~~catch~~ catch any mistake of yours - I failed! The inch-perfect precision of your every move still baffles me. Nevertheless, there's still one thing that you can work on - emotional delivery. The cold-blooded ~~face~~ face that you maintain while performing makes an impression of you being just a dancing robot and nothing more. With emotions you could connect with the audience, winning over their hearts. Besides that, just perfect. Immense, even. Best of luck to you in the next stage, continue to bless our eyes with your performances, please.

4.2. BOOKKEEPER - A QUIET HERO

'The future is born in the hands that dare to dream'

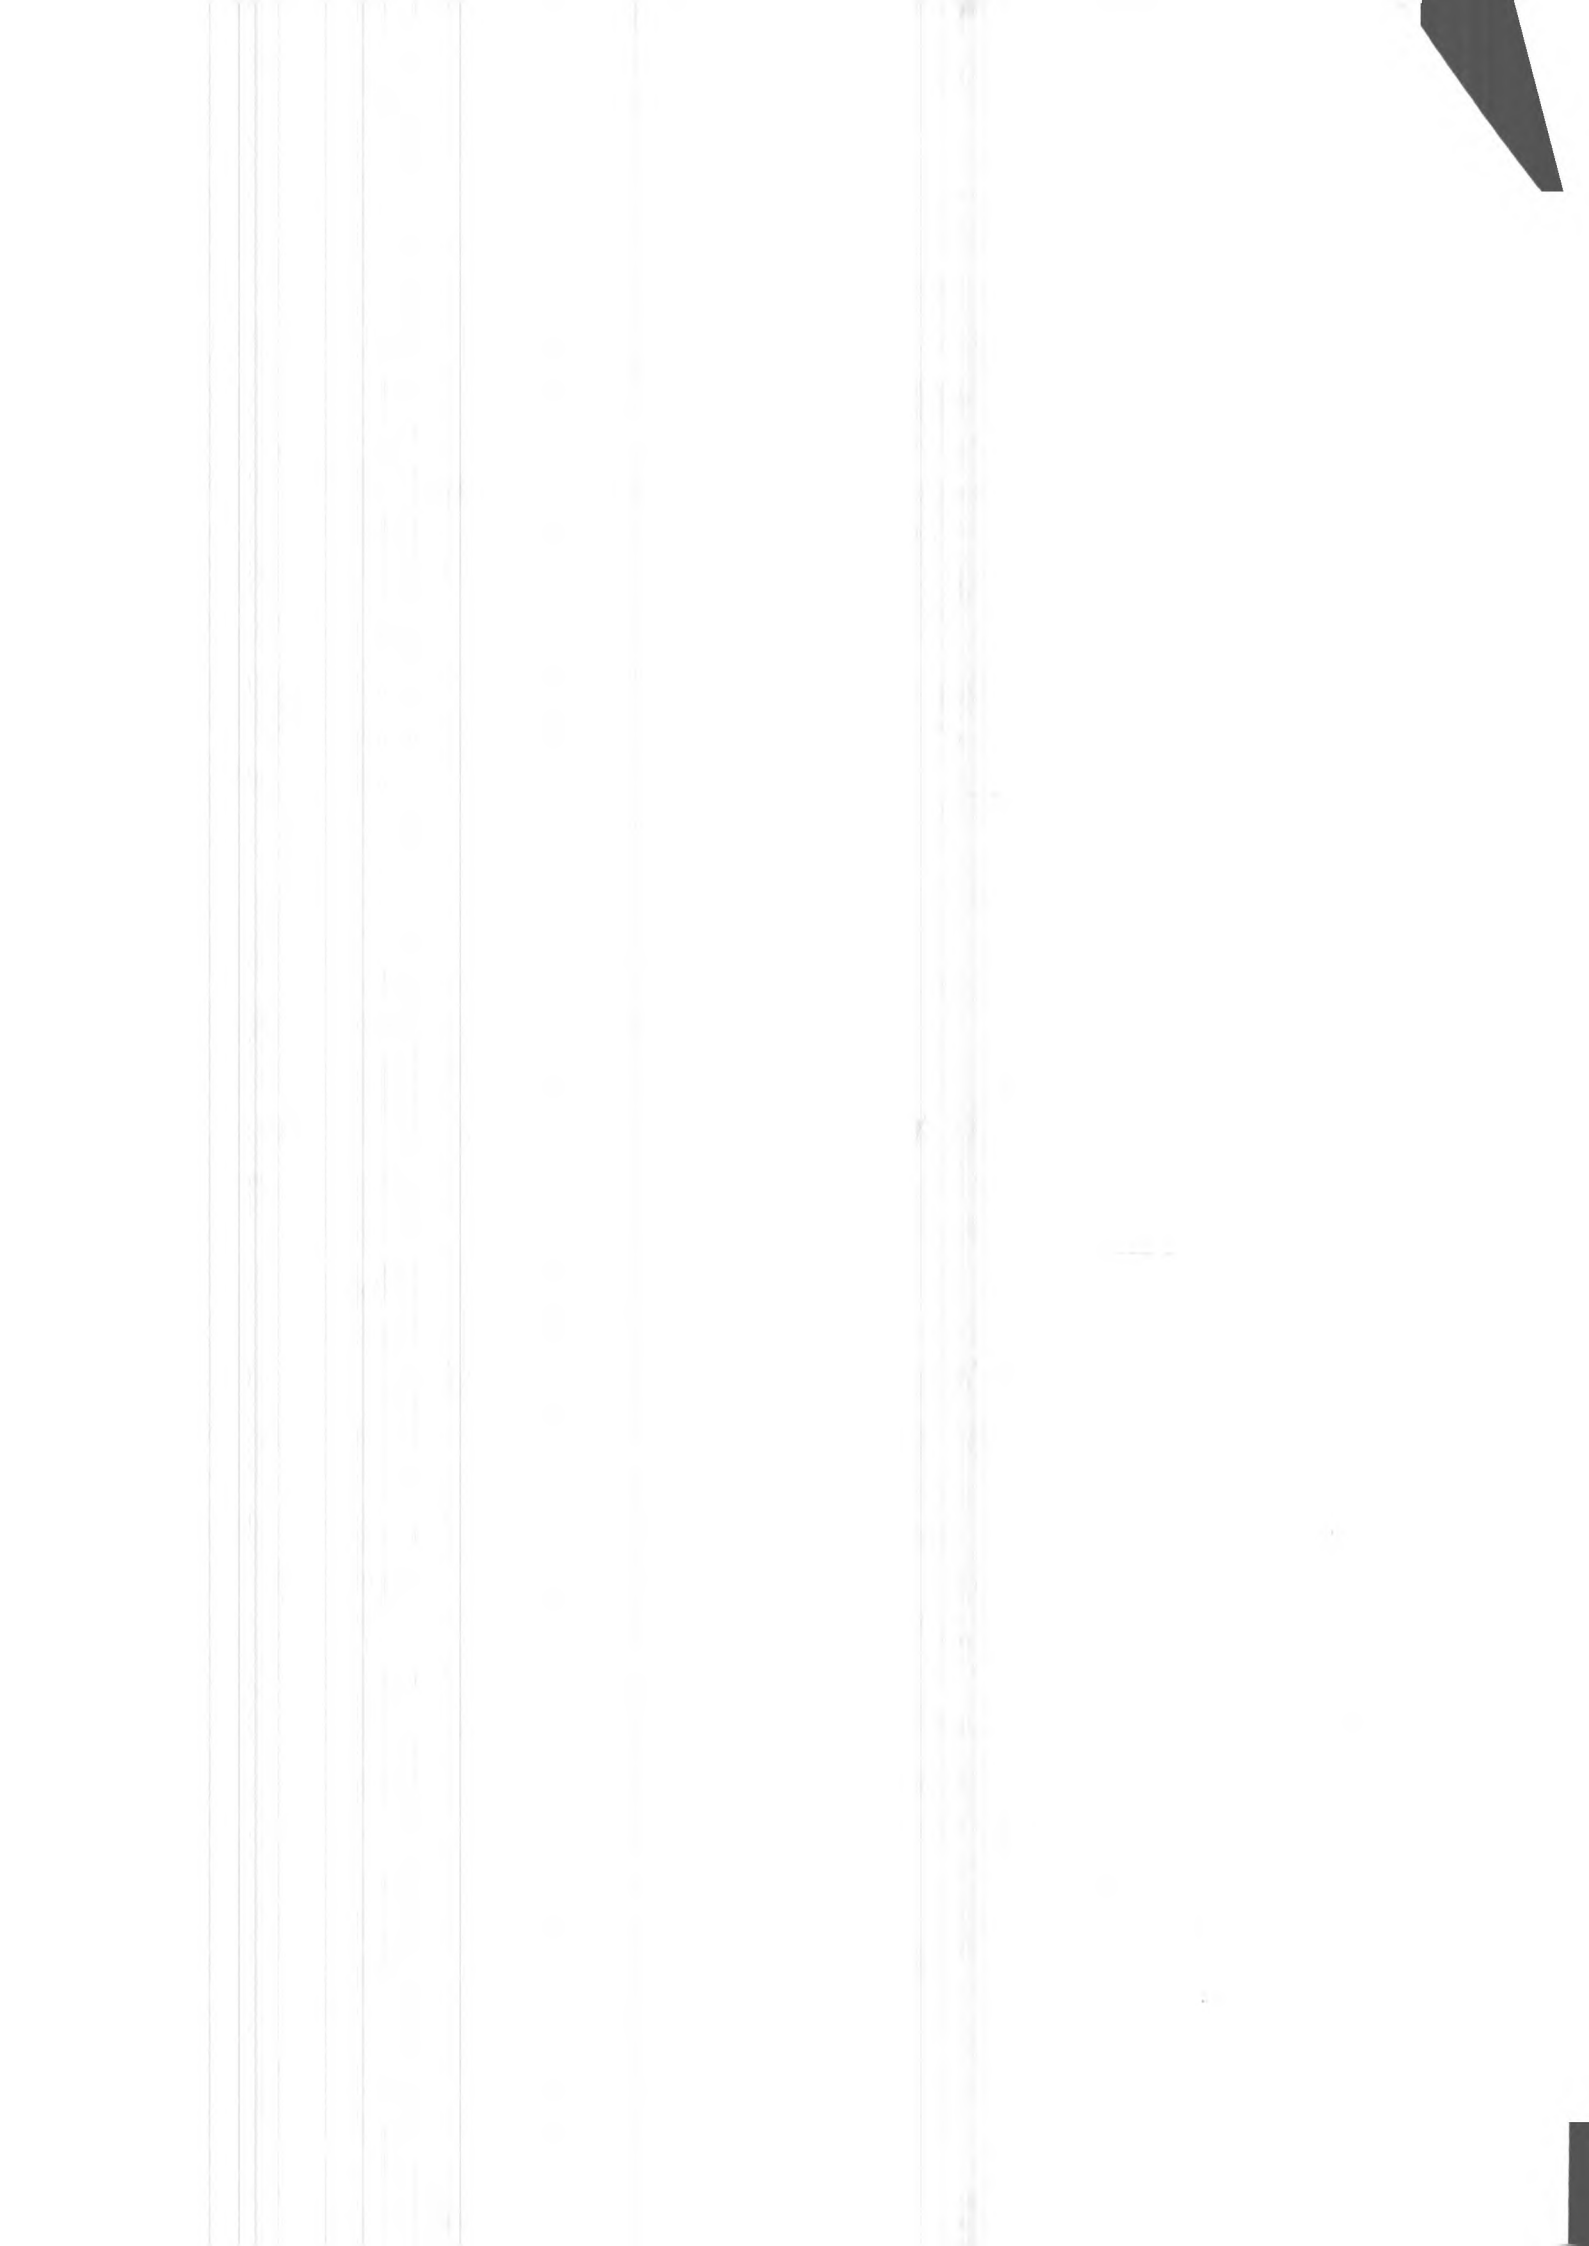

In a land so far away that it almost reached the end of the world, ~~on a bridge~~ ~~connecting the two parts of a city~~ ~~divided by a river~~, there lived a quiet bookkeeper named Elias. His house, combined with a library, was somewhat of a stubborn pier of wisdom and purity in the ~~swirling~~ swirling sea of hatred, as the two halves of the same city grew apart more and more every single day. The higher-ups of both the West and the ~~East~~ East bank brainwashed their very own citizens into ~~firmly~~ firmly believing that the other bank was evil. ~~Thus, the bridge was crossed only with eyes averted out of pure despise, if even ever crossed. And both sides struggled.~~

But Elias wasn't the one who would just let it be. Every night, he dreamed of the ^{prosperous} United City, thriving on friendship and collaboration. Never did anyone ever before him think about uniting the West and East - others were too busy trying to rival the other side. And one night, an idea came to his mind. He started to ~~hide~~ hide a piece of his soul in every piece of writing he'd ever given out. That way, ~~anyone~~ anyone who read the book inhaled the ~~bright~~ bright idea of a united city. And the idea spread on both ~~banks~~ banks.

He handed out no gold,
Nor fought with ~~any~~ sword
But the pureness of his heart
Has changed the world.

Ultimately, Elias's ideas united the city the way a master sews a tapestry using two very different types of wool. Communicating and collaborating, the citizens lived happily ever after.

4.1 Dear Melisende Gainsborough, we all thank you very much for your magnificent performance. The way you played Bach's "Prelude" was ~~perfect~~^{flawless}, and your very choice of playing this composition ~~is~~ deserves respect, as it is not an easy one.

We were absolutely impressed by your creative presentation of it, as it aroused so many emotions in us. Your performance transported us into another world, a world of absolute beauty and transcendent calmness. We were astonished, especially during that moment when you made a pause just after the culmination. And I must say, that your playing skills are remarkable: I've never seen¹⁰⁰ a person of your age playing so well. As for originality, all of us agree that your style ~~is~~ will be from now on unmistakable to us.

There are practically no recommendations from us that should be completely new to you. I suggest ~~to~~ you practice as hard as you have and never lose your skills. Again, we thank you with all our hearts and hope you will be the winner of the talent show!

Francis the Peacemaker. ~~opp.~~

The future is born in the hands that dare to dream!

Once upon a time, in a remote land no person knew about, existed a civilisation of people who were constantly fighting with each other. No generation knew what peace is, the locals always found a reason to quarrel about something. No one could rely on another person, as ^{one} he could easily become an enemy.

In one of the towns of this land lived a boy named Francis. From his early age he ~~was~~^{had been} taught to despise everybody around him, and at the age of fifteen he became a knight. Since that time he had to¹⁰⁰ go to different places with different platoons of other knights to fight with ~~other knights~~ the adversary knights. He did not enjoy it, however: he was just taught that the life is no easy thing and everybody has to fight to stay alive; but he dreamt for this to end.

Once, his platoon ended up in a dark forest. The people went to different directions to find where their enemies were.

Frances ended up beside a river; it was already night by the time. He was alone, nobody was around. He felt miserable: ~~for he had~~ could do nothing to change the situation. ⁴ with these battles he had no time to do things he wanted to do; the peaceful things. Suddenly, he looked up ²⁰⁰ at the dark sky and was astonished to see how endless it was. Then he felt a wave. He felt a storm of emotions; and then, the ocean of calmness ⁺ tilted him. He understood that the restrictions he received were not actually important and that he had the power to change the situation.

He returned back, gathered his fellow knights, who were surprised, and made a speech for them. So he said:

Look around, all of you:

It is a place where we live.

²⁰ We have the right to make peace there.

I trust you and believe in you.

The people ~~at~~ around him were mesmerised ¹³⁰⁰; the least to say; but he spoke so eagerly they all understood what he meant. His words were spread around, and thousands of other people were inspired by his words. Slowly, the land transformed into a peaceful ~~place~~ thriving place.

3.1. Hello. I'm glad to see you, Vanessa Smit. I'd like to say your rumba dance was absolutely gorgeous. You ~~over~~ performed a difficult choreography with many twists and turns. There was a great contrast between fast movements and those that were slow and full of body work. Actually, I was very impressed by the jump in the middle of your dance. It was very ~~to~~ beautiful and unpredictable. Moreover, I couldn't help looking at your ~~ex~~ face expressions. The emotions were perfectly appealing ^{ed} to the music, so everybody easily got the idea of your performance. ~~over~~ As far as I understand, you showed us ~~the feeling to~~ ~~strong~~ ~~ground~~ a young woman's story about the self-development and love to the ~~and~~ and her biggest passion. I'd like to mention that your feet movements were very accurate and your arms positions were adorable. By the way, you should probably change your last turn to the more long-lasting one as the turn you have now is not special at all. Thanks for your performance! By Good luck! (10) (457 words)

4.1 Good evening, and a special word to you, ~~Kate~~ Luke. Your ~~mag~~ magic act, "The Alchemy of Time", was truly captivating. From the moment you made the pocket watch vanish to the stunning finale where it reappeared inside a sealed envelope held by an audience member, you held us all spellbound. The precision of your sleight of hand was flawless, and the elegant, theatrical pacing created a wonderful sense of mystery.

I was particularly impressed by the original narrative you wove around simple tricks. You didn't just perform illusions; you told a story about lost and found moments, which added a deep emotional layer rarely seen in magic acts. Your calm stage presence made the impossible feel intimate.

To develop further, I would encourage you to work on your vocal projection to ensure every word of your story reaches the back of the room. Also, consider incorporating a moment of deliberate "failure" or surprise to increase audience engagement and heighten the payoff. Your technical skills and artistic vision are a powerful combination.

Keep refining this unique blend of storytelling and wonder. You have a very bright future ahead.

Good evening, dear contestant! Thank you for your brilliant performance today, it was an absolute joy to watch.

Your performance impressed me greatly. I loved watching you do all those acrobatic tricks! For me, the best moments were the dance break and the trick sequence near the end. And I was most impressed by how smoothly your program was made and how original it was.

However, there is always some room for improvement. I want to remind you to always keep track of your facial expression: sometimes what I saw on your face didn't match the mood of the performance. Also, remember to not get too absorbed and lost in the music, since your movements start looking less sharp and distinguishable.

All in all, you did great today. Keep working and improving and see you in the next episode! Log. ⑤, epis. ④, Tex. ②, Gr. ①, Opp. ④ 139w.

The good, the bad and the unremarkable

The future is born in the ~~had~~ hands that dare to dream.

Once upon a time there lived a girl. She was named Violet, though such a gentle name didn't fit her poor environment. Her mother would always warn her against visiting the noble children's district, and when Violet broke that rule the arrogant children screamed and threw things at her so she couldn't stay for long. Her mother said that "it was the way the world worked," but Violet couldn't understand this idea. 90

When she turned 16, Violet left her kingdom and embarked on a voyage to see the world. In the process she found people like her, who didn't accept certain rules, and they moved through towns, helping ordinary people and protecting them, helping every flower bloom. 101

Ten years had passed, and Violet heard that the new queen of her homeland was struggling for power because of the influential noble dynasties. Without thinking twice, Violet led her battalion to save her own kingdom. They arrived in the night, and Violet secretly met up with the queen to offer her help. After that, the queen got a whole battalion of guards that were devoted to her. Now no noble people could say anything to Violet, and she in turn created training camps for the poor, to help them achieve their dreams. She 205 defeated and conquered her enemies with the fire in her heart, that she had been keeping since her childhood.
