Dear ~~Contestant~~ contestant, firstly I want to thank you for participating in our talent show. Secondly, your singing is one of ~~the best~~ the best I've ever heard in my entire life. Your performance made a great impression on me. From the very start you carried yourself confidently and openly, which caught my eye. The way you took high notes easily and clearly — is magnificent and admirable. You lived through that song, poured your heart into it, and it kept everyone, including me, on the edge of ~~their~~^{our} seats. When I was told that ~~you did go~~ you not only ~~did you sing~~ this song perfectly, but also were the one who wrote it I was deeply impressed. ~~It was~~ In order for you to improve even more, I'd suggest you trying to sing various songs with the wide range of notes. It'll help you improve your singing skills. You're a very talented and promising singer, so keep up and never give up!

'The future is born in the hands that dare to dream'.

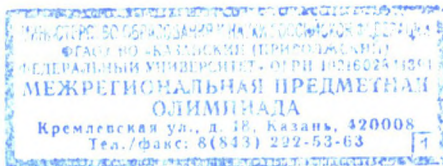

From the very ~~start~~ start Richard was too kind for the medieval times. He was as brave as a lion. His father ~~had~~ died before he was born, and his mother passed away when he was eleven. His mother used to say:

My dear Richard, little boy,
Don't let the world corrupt you,
Remember this, my pride and joy,
And may the ~~God~~ kindness guide you!

The day he turned eighteen he had no other choice but steal from the rich. He was so poor he survived on bread and water. But one day — everything changed. — Richard was caught by the king's guards. He was brought to the king and sent to the village to hunt down the barbarians who were destroying the village.

When Richard arrived, the sight horrified him: ~~the~~ corpses on the streets, destroyed houses and abandoned children. When he heard screams, Richard rushed to protect innocent people. When he stepped in ~~to~~ he fought the criminals without holding back. When they surrendered and begged for mercy he finally stopped. But instead of finishing them off, he suddenly... forgave them. For the violent medieval times it was unbelievable. Barbarians promised that they'd never commit crimes ever again, and Richard took their words. After just a week the village was unrecognizable: the fixed houses, prosperous cattle and thriving people.

The word about Richard's witness spread like a wildfire, and many people followed his lead. Since that, Richard went down as Richard the Kind Heart and was never forgotten. People who followed his lead made the world a better place.

4.1. I'm glad to see you, Lisa. I liked your performance with two cats. It was outstanding! The performance started with your cats doing tricks and you singing about your love for nature. Then, you began to dance among the cats and didn't even stop singing! I rarely see people who are able to do those things at the same time. You really are a great performer. I was impressed by the idea of the performance and your singing skills. I also liked your way of working with animals. I can see that you trained the cats well. I'd recommend you to practise dancing more. You perform hip-hop, but you lack of energy for this style. Maybe you should work on your confidence. I have no doubt that you can improve in the future. I want to wish you and your cute little companions the best. 145w.

4.2. An Outstanding Person

The future is born in the hands that dare to dream. Once upon a time a little lonely boy wanted to make friends at school. He lived in the countryside, where all the villagers were evil and angry. However, his heart was gold. The boy was fond of the idea of creating a place where all people would live happily together.

When grown up, Kevin decided to travel in order to find a perfect place to live, but it was nowhere to be found. Despite that, he met a few good people. Then he understood that the reason for his village being awful was not the village itself, but the people who lived there. He was willing to make a difference. Kevin and his friends arrived at the countryside and started to make changes. They assured all the villagers that with kindness in their hearts they would live happier. The thing that changed everything was a simple smile. One villager, Anna, did Kevin a favour. After that the man gave her a smile that was sunshine. Never smiling people did not know how pleasant it can be. Such a small thing became the driving force of changing to good for the better. Step by step, everyone began to smile, communicate and in the end became close friends. The villagers realised that together they are stronger and more joyful. Kevin's decisiveness led to the growth in farming. The villagers helped each other to grow more plants and animals. They were ^{no} longer alone. They were a real family.

The one who is kind,
Will bring together all mankind,
The one who is braver,
Will never face ~~failure~~. failure. (27)

Dear Kate?

Your performance was fantastic! I was so shocked by your dancing. Apart from it, I was really nervous about a heroine and her relationship with a boyfriend: how she was doing a maximum of herself to save that relationship and how she was fed up with everything.

I was impressed by the accuracy of emotions. Everything was as it had had to be. Frankly speaking, I started crying when a couple finally broke up and heroine was shouting until she lost her voice. Despite the fact that everything was perfect. I would like you to hear me and understand that stage is a fully your place during the performance. You'd better use the whole space to brighten your picture. Other things were perfect.

Thanks for comming. Hope to see you in the second stage.

~~the future~~ An amazing invention.

The future is born in the hands that dare to dream.

Once upon a time a little boy called Jack was walking through the valley where he was brought up. He saw a lot of familiar people: his father building a house for a dog, his mother knitting a sweater for him, his friends fishing in the river and others. And he asked himself: why? everyone were so unhappy despite being near relatives? Suddenly, he understood: that was because they did such work they didn't like. They did that work because a head of their valley wanted to have a prosperous town to prove his family that he is valueable. When he understood the truth he asked his friend to join him for a small talk with that. Before him noone knew how to have a normal dialogue without arguments so his friend was shocked and didn't understand anything. Jack explained and taught him that new skill. Firstly they went for a central street and taught other citizens how to live without arguments. Then they went to a head of a valley. He was

As for Octopus, he was very shy and ^{nervous} ~~was scared of all things around him.~~ He didn't feel that he ^{gr} could save his friends in a dangerous situation. He wasn't brave and in any problems he asked Larma and Guildy to ^{Voc} save the problem solutions. They didn't judge him because they understood that a little silly guy without parents lived alone, and ~~help him to save himself from any dangerous problems.~~

Once time, ~~the~~ the forest was under fire and all animals ^{gr} went away. ~~But~~ Even Larma was in shock because she ^{Voc} didn't know how she could leave her favourite place, and ~~come out.~~ Guildy tried to help others leaving the forest, and didn't think about his home. Only Octopus was really excited to ^{gr} save his house and decided ~~to do it~~ carry water from the river near forest. He bravely ^{Voc} ran and fast ^{gr} ran everywhere. Larma who was there ^{Voc} at those time couldn't even imagine that Octopus could do ^{gr} such like this. And, finally Octopus was able to stop the fire not only in their house but nearby also. He ^{Voc} became a real hero for Larma and Guildy. ~~He~~ ^{gr} He was that person who mad his dream come true because he always wanted to be strong and brave. 4.1) I was a member of the jury at a talent show and one of the contestant's performances made a great impression on me. It was man who made an incredible fire show. At first he brought a stick with fire balls and was spinning it about five minutes and also ^{so} make some tricks with it. Next he brought a fire circle, stood into it and started to spin above his chest. In conclusion of his performance, I saw a fire from his mouth, it was really huge. ~~And~~ I have never seen like this unbelievable skills in my life.

^{It was so really amazing and I didn't believe my eyes. And I want to give you some recommendations for further development and improvement, you will have a lot of expectations and learn something new}

4.2) Once upon a time, one little boy wanted to become a hero. He didn't have any special skills, but he want to be one of the most famous heroes in the world, he wanted to fight with evils and save princesses. For begining he tried to do some sport activities, he went to sections near his house and met interesting person, who doing some but unsuccessfully. He was really weak for it. But one day he walked near his house and met interesting person, who doing some sport activities and he did it really well. Then our boy came to him and asked to learn him this ^{so} amazing skills. Muman agreed. And they started to learned already the next day. It was unforgettable experience.

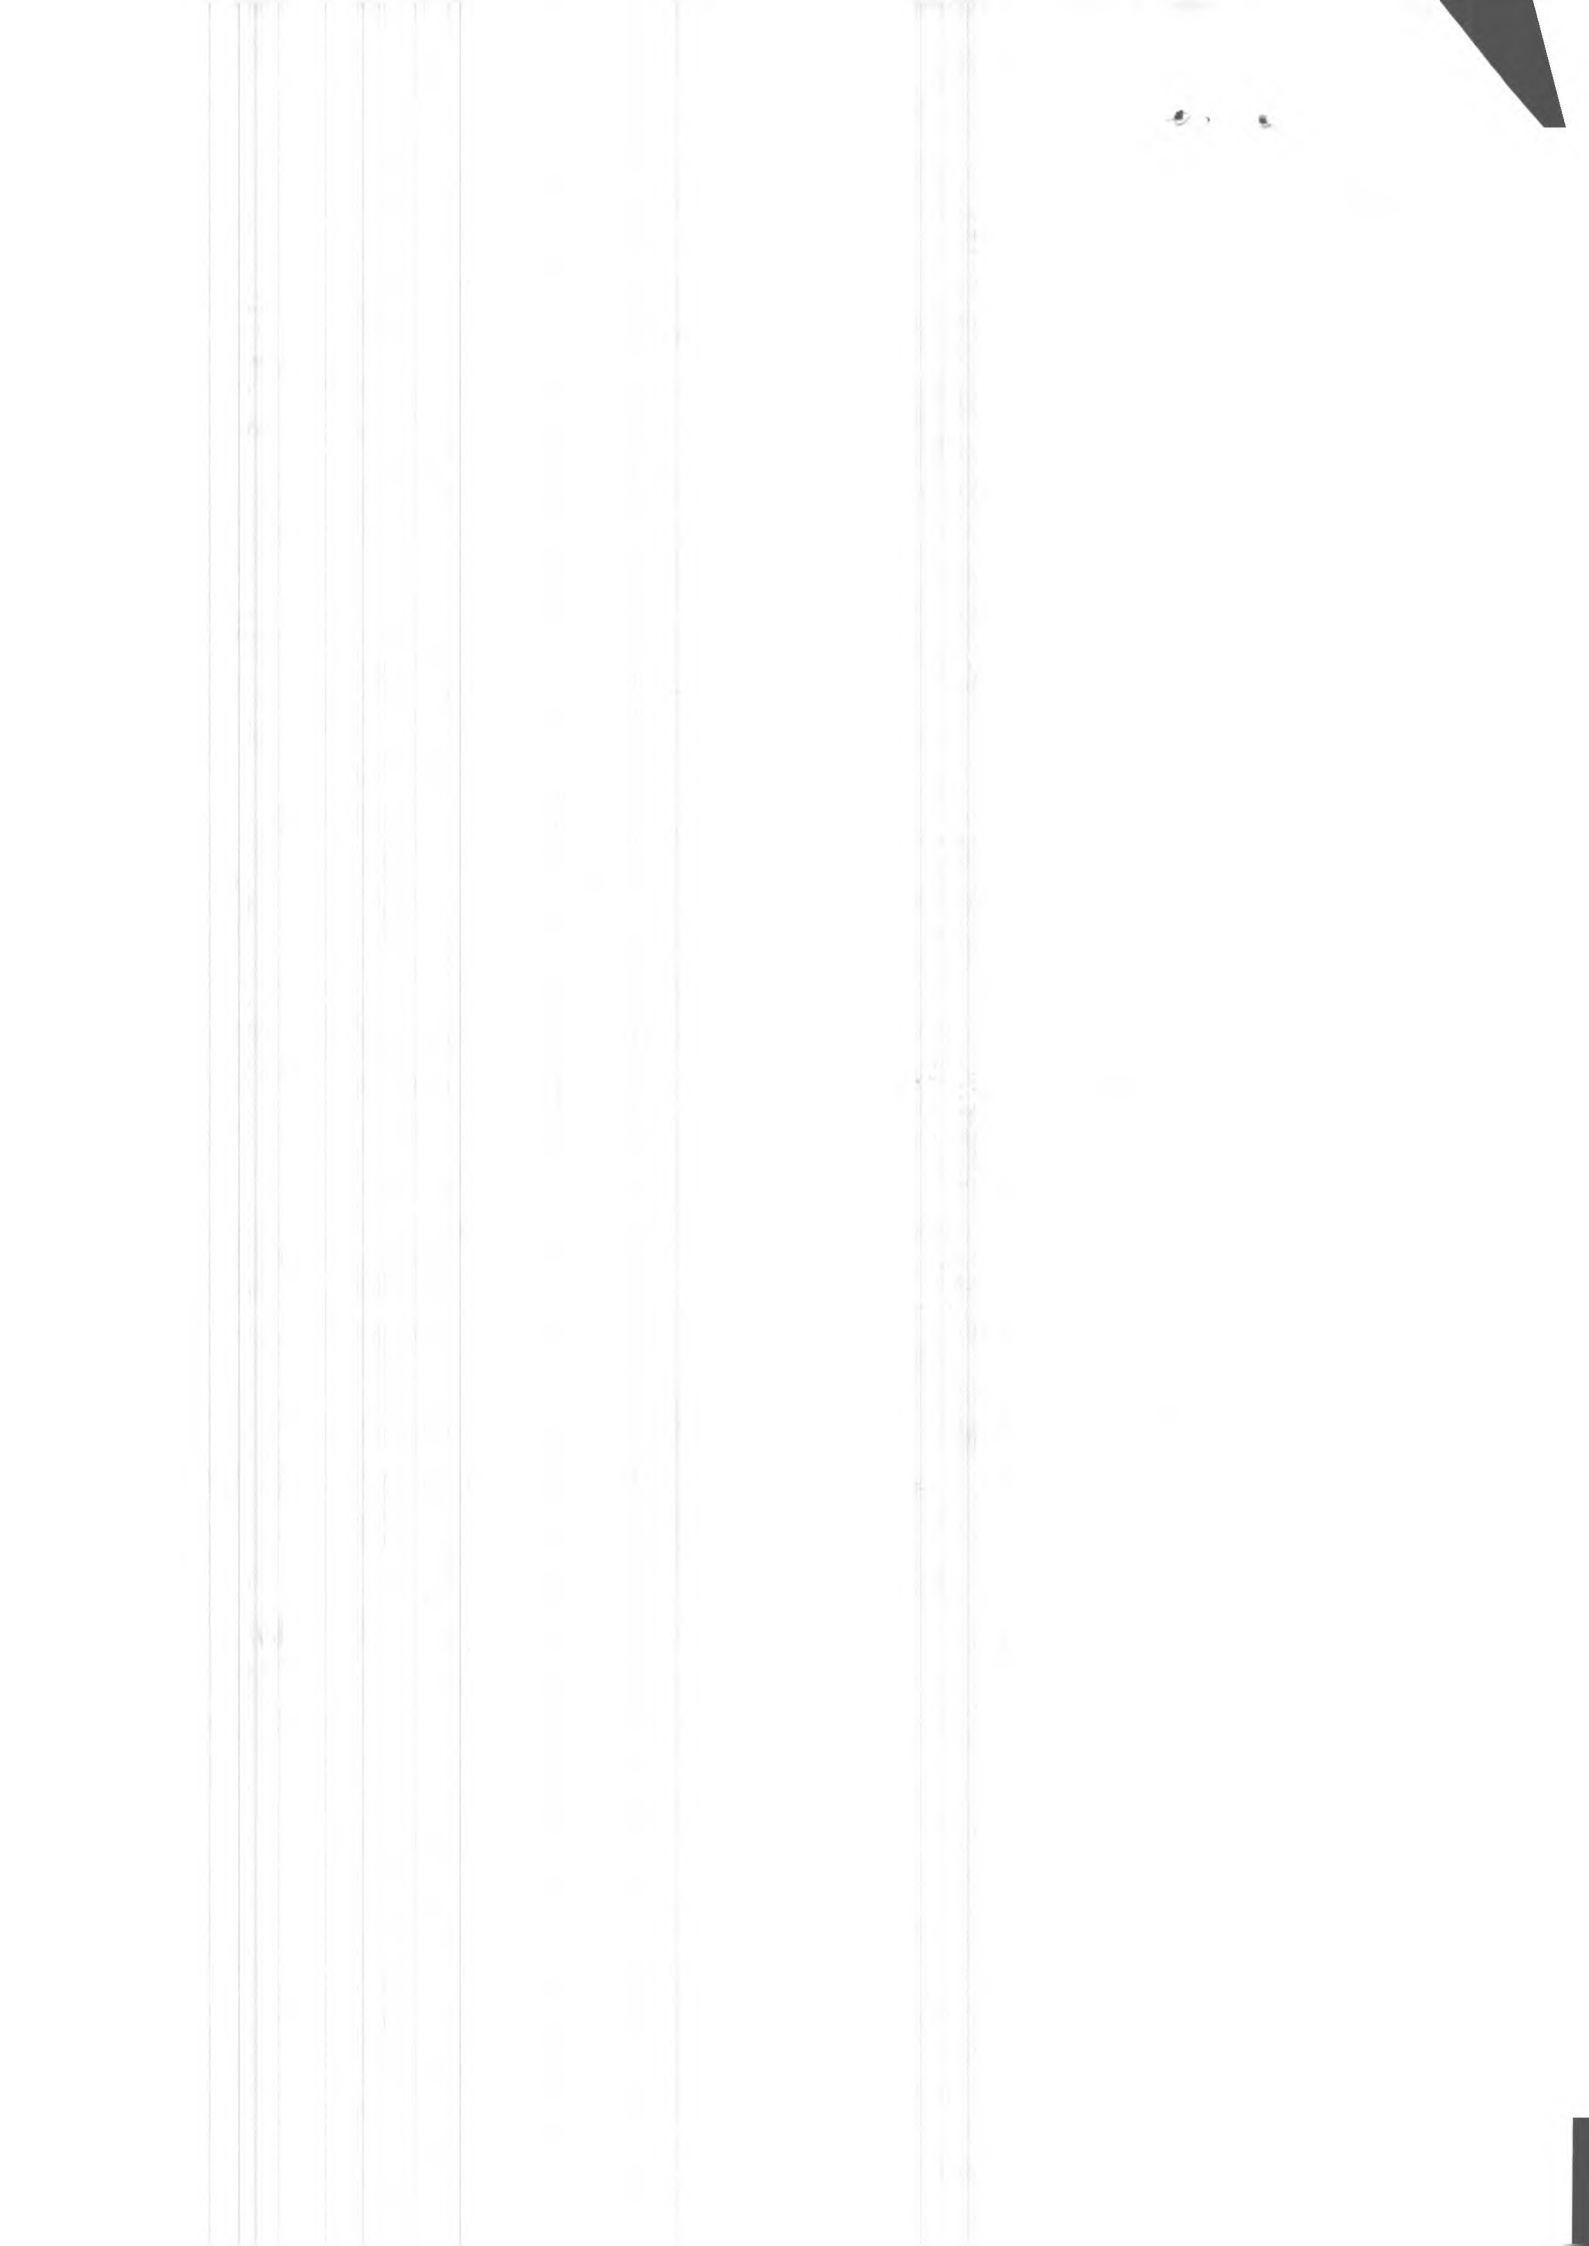

After a lot of lessons, boy began stronger and braver. Then he began improve his skills more and he became the most famous hero. Because he never give up and go to his ^{so} goal.

His incredible adventures only begin. At first he went to save princess from evil's castle, it was very hard fight, but, in conclusion, it end very grateful for this little hero. Then he went to scary snake and ~~she~~ was killed by his knife.

At the end, I want ^{so} to say, if you really want something, you will get it, if you spend a lot of time ~~and~~ on it. You just need never give up, more practise and believe in yourself.

Part IV. WRITING

13.1 Hi, William! I have quite a lot to say...

~~Wow!~~ This performance was an emotional rollercoaster! Honestly, I didn't expect you to sing my favorite song, Beach-life-in-death by Car Seat Headrest, but you did! Despite the song is 13-minutes long! That is really impressive! I wanted to stay unbiased, yet couldn't help but jerk a fear, especially in the second part of the song. Overall, your voice and emotional delivery are outstanding! Though, there were times, when you were gasping for air in the middle of singing. For me, it made your performance even more lively, but some of my colleagues tend to disagree with that, so I would strongly recommend you to do breathing exercises as well as to learn various techniques to inhale inaudibly.

Overall William, that was an extraordinary performance for somebody your age, you have tons of potential! Keep it up!

The Legend of Will Toledo, the first dragon slayer.

In a remote village between the cliffs lived our hero - Will Toledo. He was a bard, not yet a ~~hero~~ knight, but saved his village from the dark demise.

Once the a peaceful sky turned black as a huge dragon covered the village with its body. He set the houses on fire for his own pleasure, he ate children to satisfy his gluttony. But the worst of all his skin seemed to be unbreakable: no blade could slash through it and no arrow could pierce the dragon's flesh. While everybody was trying to glid the lily by sharpening their swords and arrows, Will was in his house, playing music.

Everybody looked down on him, saying that he is a disgrace for not addressing an elephant in the room, or, shall I say, the dragon. So one, Will Toledo was sent to kill the dragon. Nobody thought he could win, neither anybody believed he could survive. Yet when he met the dragon, Will did not run, he did not fight, he started singing, praising dragon.

The people gasped after hearing his words, they lit their torches, ready to burn Will. But the dragon yawned and fell asleep. Toledo shushed, took a string from his guitar and strangled the dragon. Angry faces turned into smiles, as everybody praised Will for his intelligence. The knights admired him, the neighbours apologized, other bands sung songs about him.

4.1 Dear contestant,

Thank you for the song you delivered to the audience and to the jury. It was magnificent.

~~I am writing this letter to express my praise~~
And I wish to express my gratitude.

First of all, the song you have chosen is unique. No one before had ever tried to sing 'The Diva Dance' from the film 'The Fifth Element'. You have been preparing with true effort, and it's visible.

Secondly, I am deeply touched by the way you moved around the stage and reflected this vivid science + sci-fi atmosphere. The way you reached the highest notes proves that you are a maverick.

Finally, there ~~is~~ not much I want to say.

Just continue to be confident and unique. That is what makes a true artist.

I hope to see you in other shows the next show.

Stay bright. Goodbye.

TO ALL THINGS BRAVE!

~~Once upon a time, there was~~ The future is born in the hands that dare to dream. ~~Once upon a time, there was a kingdom, hidden behind the trees and mountains. This kingdom wasn't enormous or legendary. It was just like many of its kind. And yet, even the smallest places have great problems.~~

One day, a large beast, ~~as~~ black as the night itself and strident as fire, jumped out of the nearest battle and proclaimed itself its new title: the King of all the mankind. The beast tormented many and caused people to run away in terror. There were none to free the kingdom, grasped by the monster.

The King ~~had~~ decided to hide the last treasure of his - his beloved daughter Elizabeth, the only princess of the kingdom. He said her to run and hide, to find a new life and start everything from scratch.

However, the princess did not want to run. She wanted to find the dirty old, evil beast and end this tyranny. One night, Elizabeth ran on the kingdom's street. "Fight with me, brothers and sisters! Help me to slay the beast!" she screamed. And yet, no one answered. The princess took the sword and went to the beast's home - a deep cave. In the night, Elizabeth appeared. She saw the monster lurking in shadows, and then the fight began. Three days and three nights the fight was continuing. When all the kingdom decided that Elizabeth died, she appeared with the beast's head. This is how the folk, that no longer were a witch.

3.1. I would like to thank all the participants of our show for coming here and surprising us, the jury, with your impressive performances! However, I want to point out one particular contestant who caught my eye, - Alyosha Smirnoff!

Dear Alyosha, your performance was absolutely on the next level - your show based on the book about King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table had so many details in it, so I could barely force myself to look away from the scene for a moment to rate your performance! The most notable moments were your imitations of fights with King Arthur's enemies and the death of Arthur's father figure - Merlin. I was so impressed with your original portrayal of a legendary character - in your show Arthur became a tough man with lots of responsibilities on his plate, but who had weaknesses and cried during Merlin's death like a little child. Of course, there were some minor drawbacks in acting because of how nervous you were while performing, but I am sure you will overcome this fear if you participate in more shows and boost your self-confidence - those are my recommendations. (10)

To conclude, you have done an amazing job, Alyosha, and I know that you are going to have a bright future!

"The humanity's light"

"The future is born in the hands that dare to dream..."

This story is about an ordinary village boy who always managed to find the light even in the darkest times! His name was Phainon, but everyone called him Phai - that simpler version of his name suited the boy as his personality was the epitome of innocence and pure love for his close ones and the whole world.

Many say that this world has no chances of becoming better and that it is already rotten to the core because of all the sins humanity has committed. Phainon was not afraid to argue with anyone who had that kind of mindset! If anything, the goal of his life was to transform the society for the better! But poor Phainon didn't know how he could achieve that. But one day the opportunity came right into his hands — their king, who had ruled in that land for decades, died and had no heirs, so no one knew what to do next — everyone was so used to serve the royal family! As Phainon went outside that day to walk around the city, he couldn't help but notice just how ^{much} on the edge everyone was. Phainon knew there was something awful about to come and that he had to try and save the day. So he rushed to his ~~camrades~~ (Phainon was calling his friends that word to sound like a serious man, while all he was was just an ambitious and optimistic young boy) friends to discuss the news and plan something! Together they decided to speak to the crowd and calm them down... And that was a successful idea! The people loved Phainon's speech so much that they demanded he become the next ruler, even if he was a minor.

When Phainon was crowned, his face was bathed in the sweetness of warm sunlight, just as his following ruling years. He was the light of their society, guiding his people through the darkness and making the society more fair and empathetic by being an example of that himself. Later a quatrain was made in his honour:

Phainon, our light
 Our brightest hope
 Please save ~~us~~ both the day and the night
 And do the perfect job!

That is the end of our story about one lovely boy who aimed to change the society for the better and did that.

Part IV §3.1

Dear contestant! I wanted to personally congratulate you on that breathtaking performance. It was nothing short of a masterpiece.

I was deeply impressed by your technical precision, but even more so by your emotional delivery. Your ability to capture the attention of the audience is truly spectacular and is both a result of immaculate work and talent. It wasn't solely a great performance - it was a story told by the means of all body language, emotions and rhythm. Particularly enjoy the visual implicitness of your performance - the design choices ~~that~~ ~~where~~ were modest yet deep in meaning.

To take your craft to the next level, I would highly recommend focusing on your facial expressions during the slower transition. Sometime the intensity of the physical work, mask the emotion on your face. Try to let the audience see that internal struggle even in the quietest moment. You are a truly gifted artist, and I cannot wait to see how you continue to evolve. ~~It~~ ^{Keep} pushing those boundary!

The future is born in the hand that dares to dream. Once upon a time, in the age of the Great Mest, there was a cosy village in a sombre valley. The village of Oachaven lived in twilight. For generations, the people stayed within the safety of their torches, terrified of the vast, shifting shadows ~~de~~ ^{de} ~~young~~ ^{young} the valley. They believed the darkness was the physical wall that no man could fieve.

Then came Kaelen a youth who ~~spent~~ ^{spent} his days ~~staring~~ ^{staring} at the stars rather than the ground. Kaelen was a craftsman, like his father. He worked diligently and one day he introduced the lens of Clarity, a way of polishing mounting crystal to focus light into a ~~sharp~~ ^{sharp} piercing beam away of ~~his~~ ^{his} ~~trust~~ ^{trust} distrust rolled to the village. The people of Oachaven were too suspicious of his crafts because it did more than provide sight, it transformed the way of ~~thinking~~ ^{thinking}. Some men were ~~insisting~~ ^{insisting} on sending the young craftsman into exile. But the old warlord of the village demanded a different ~~deal~~ ^{deal} for Kaelen. He was to be sent to the wall - if he were to come back the village would ~~send~~ ^{send} him as a hero.

His journey was not easy. For the elders feared the light would reveal monsters. But Kaelen persisted confident in his own weapon made of mounting diamond. His focused the wall of darkness with light coming from the diamond. As the first beams cut through the fog, the village began to ~~live~~ ^{live} ~~thrive~~ ^{thrive}. They discovered fertile land and clear springs they never knew existed. Across the way where shadows sleep, at last, it ~~can~~ ^{can} ~~convert~~ ^{convert} upon the deep. Part IV. WRITING

3.1. Good afternoon, Anna. Thank you so much!

Your singing was impressive! The song you performed was very emotional, I liked the choice. I must mention the moment you hit the highest note in the very end of the performance, which was the most notable moment. I listened to it, unable to move.

Talking about your skills, they are absolutely incredible! The way you changed the voice, whispered and then cried, the accuracy of every note are awesome. It seemed like you felt this song with your heart. I could feel your passion. And the way you appeared on the stage isn't any worse. Singing while standing is very difficult, but you made no mistakes.

The only thing I can tell you is to relax your hands. That will be the icing on the cake.

But anyway, thank you once more. I believe in you and I'm sure you have the chances to win. Good luck!

THE BOY AND THE MAGIC TREE

'The future is born in the hands that dare to dream dream.'

Once upon a time, in a small village, lived a boy called John. That village was far in the English wood where trees murmured and argued with each other at nights. And so were the people of the village. They never helped each other and were lonely. But John wasn't like them. He wanted to make their lives better, to find friends and to live as one big family.

Once he went for a walk in the wood. There, among dark unfriendly trees, stood a little fair tree. He came closer to it. "Why is it so bright?" he thought. The boy took a small card beneath the tree and read:

If you need me, take me.

Let everyone grow me.

But if someone doesn't help,

I will fall apart.

John understood that this tree was exactly what he wanted. He took it to the village and told everybody about it. At first, people didn't trust him, but the boy's family started to help, and the tree grew taller. Others realised the magic power of the tree and started to help each 3.2. other too. That was a large snowball of help.

Many years passed. That little bright tree turned into a big apple tree, shining in the morning. The apples became the best fruit for everyone in the village. John grew older, but people remembered what he had done. And everyone lived happily ever after.

N3.1. Dear contestant,

Thank you for your performance. I really liked it. It was amazing fire show with singing classic songs. In my opinion, you have made a big work to get such result. Fireworks, fire circles, birds. I liked everything.

Especially, I was much shocked when you made that trick with your bird and fire. Now I am still puzzled about how you did it. Can you tell us your secret about bird training?

However, I have a piece of advice for your future development and improvement work on tightening your diction while singing in fast passage so every country is heard.

You have real talent and you must not stop in improving your skills. I believe in you, your fire and your birds!

~~Write a short story~~ "Hanna's Golf"

"The future is born in hands that dare to dream"

Hanna is a normal girl with some strange hobbies for her country. She is from Zetland - a cold country with snow all around a year and she plays golf. She has been playing it since she was 8 and started when her family was abroad.

~~She always said that her father~~

She always said: "I will become a golf winner in golf in the World Championship" but no one believed in her. Her father wanted her to become an engineer because of prestigious. Although, she skipped school to train more. Furthermore, she escaped her own house at night just for another training.

One day her trainer Sam, the only person who believed in her and her dreams, suggested her to move to another country as soon as she become 18 years old girl to train on real golf fields and take part in championships. Of course, she agreed without telling her parents about that. For 3 years, she has been living with that secret.

So, she moved and a new life started. She was training all days with non stop. Once she was invited to The World Golf Championship but she did not win for the first time. Her next chance was 4 years later: other players were really strong but she was stronger that is why she won that year.

This legends teaches us that you ~~never~~ ~~never~~ must never give up.
Your favourite hobby will bring you to the top of the mountains

3.1 4.1 Dear contestants, thank you for your amazing performances, my colleagues and I have immensely enjoyed them. However, I want to applaud a person who has left a lasting impression in the hearts of our panel.

Number 67, Kate Liu, your performance of Chopin's c-sharp minor etude was extremely impressive. I admire your decision to pick this piece (woefully considered by some pianists to be rather hackneyed). It was a risk and it paid off! This particular work requires a great deal of technical precision from a player, combined with a deep sense of artistic and emotional maturity.

And, quite frankly, you ^{had} were the "full package"! Your playing felt raw and full of personal without being sloppy and unconvincing. Our sole recommendation would be to mind your pedalling during fast passages so that they don't ~~regret~~ sound blurred. Other than that, we are sure that your execution of the etude was perfect.

Please, never doubt yourself, Kate. Your performance tonight has shown that you are extremely talented and capable! We hope you ~~found our feedback~~ appreciated our feedback. 168
