Task 3.1

Greetings, Anastasia! Thank you for your splendid performance. It was truly astonishing.

~~It's been a while since I've seen a singing talent like you at this show.~~ Your song has passed all my expectations! Your falsetto at the hardest part of the performance was striking, as well as the sudden change of your outfit.

It's been a while since I've seen a singing talent like yours. Despite your young age and the emotional complexity of the song, which is difficult to portray, you have done all the facial expressions so sincerely that it touched my heart. ~~No one has ever done a singing performance before either~~ a singing performance with an outfit change before either - bonus points for originality.

As your voice is yet to stabilize, don't strain it and make sure to train a reasonable amount of time. I suggest you join my singing course - your voice needs proper guiding that I am willing to provide. You're always welcome, Nastenka.

Thank you for sharing us your talent today! I hope you'll consider my invitation. I wish you all the best, keep on shining!

Task 3.2

A spark of curiosity

"The future is born in the hands that dare to dream."

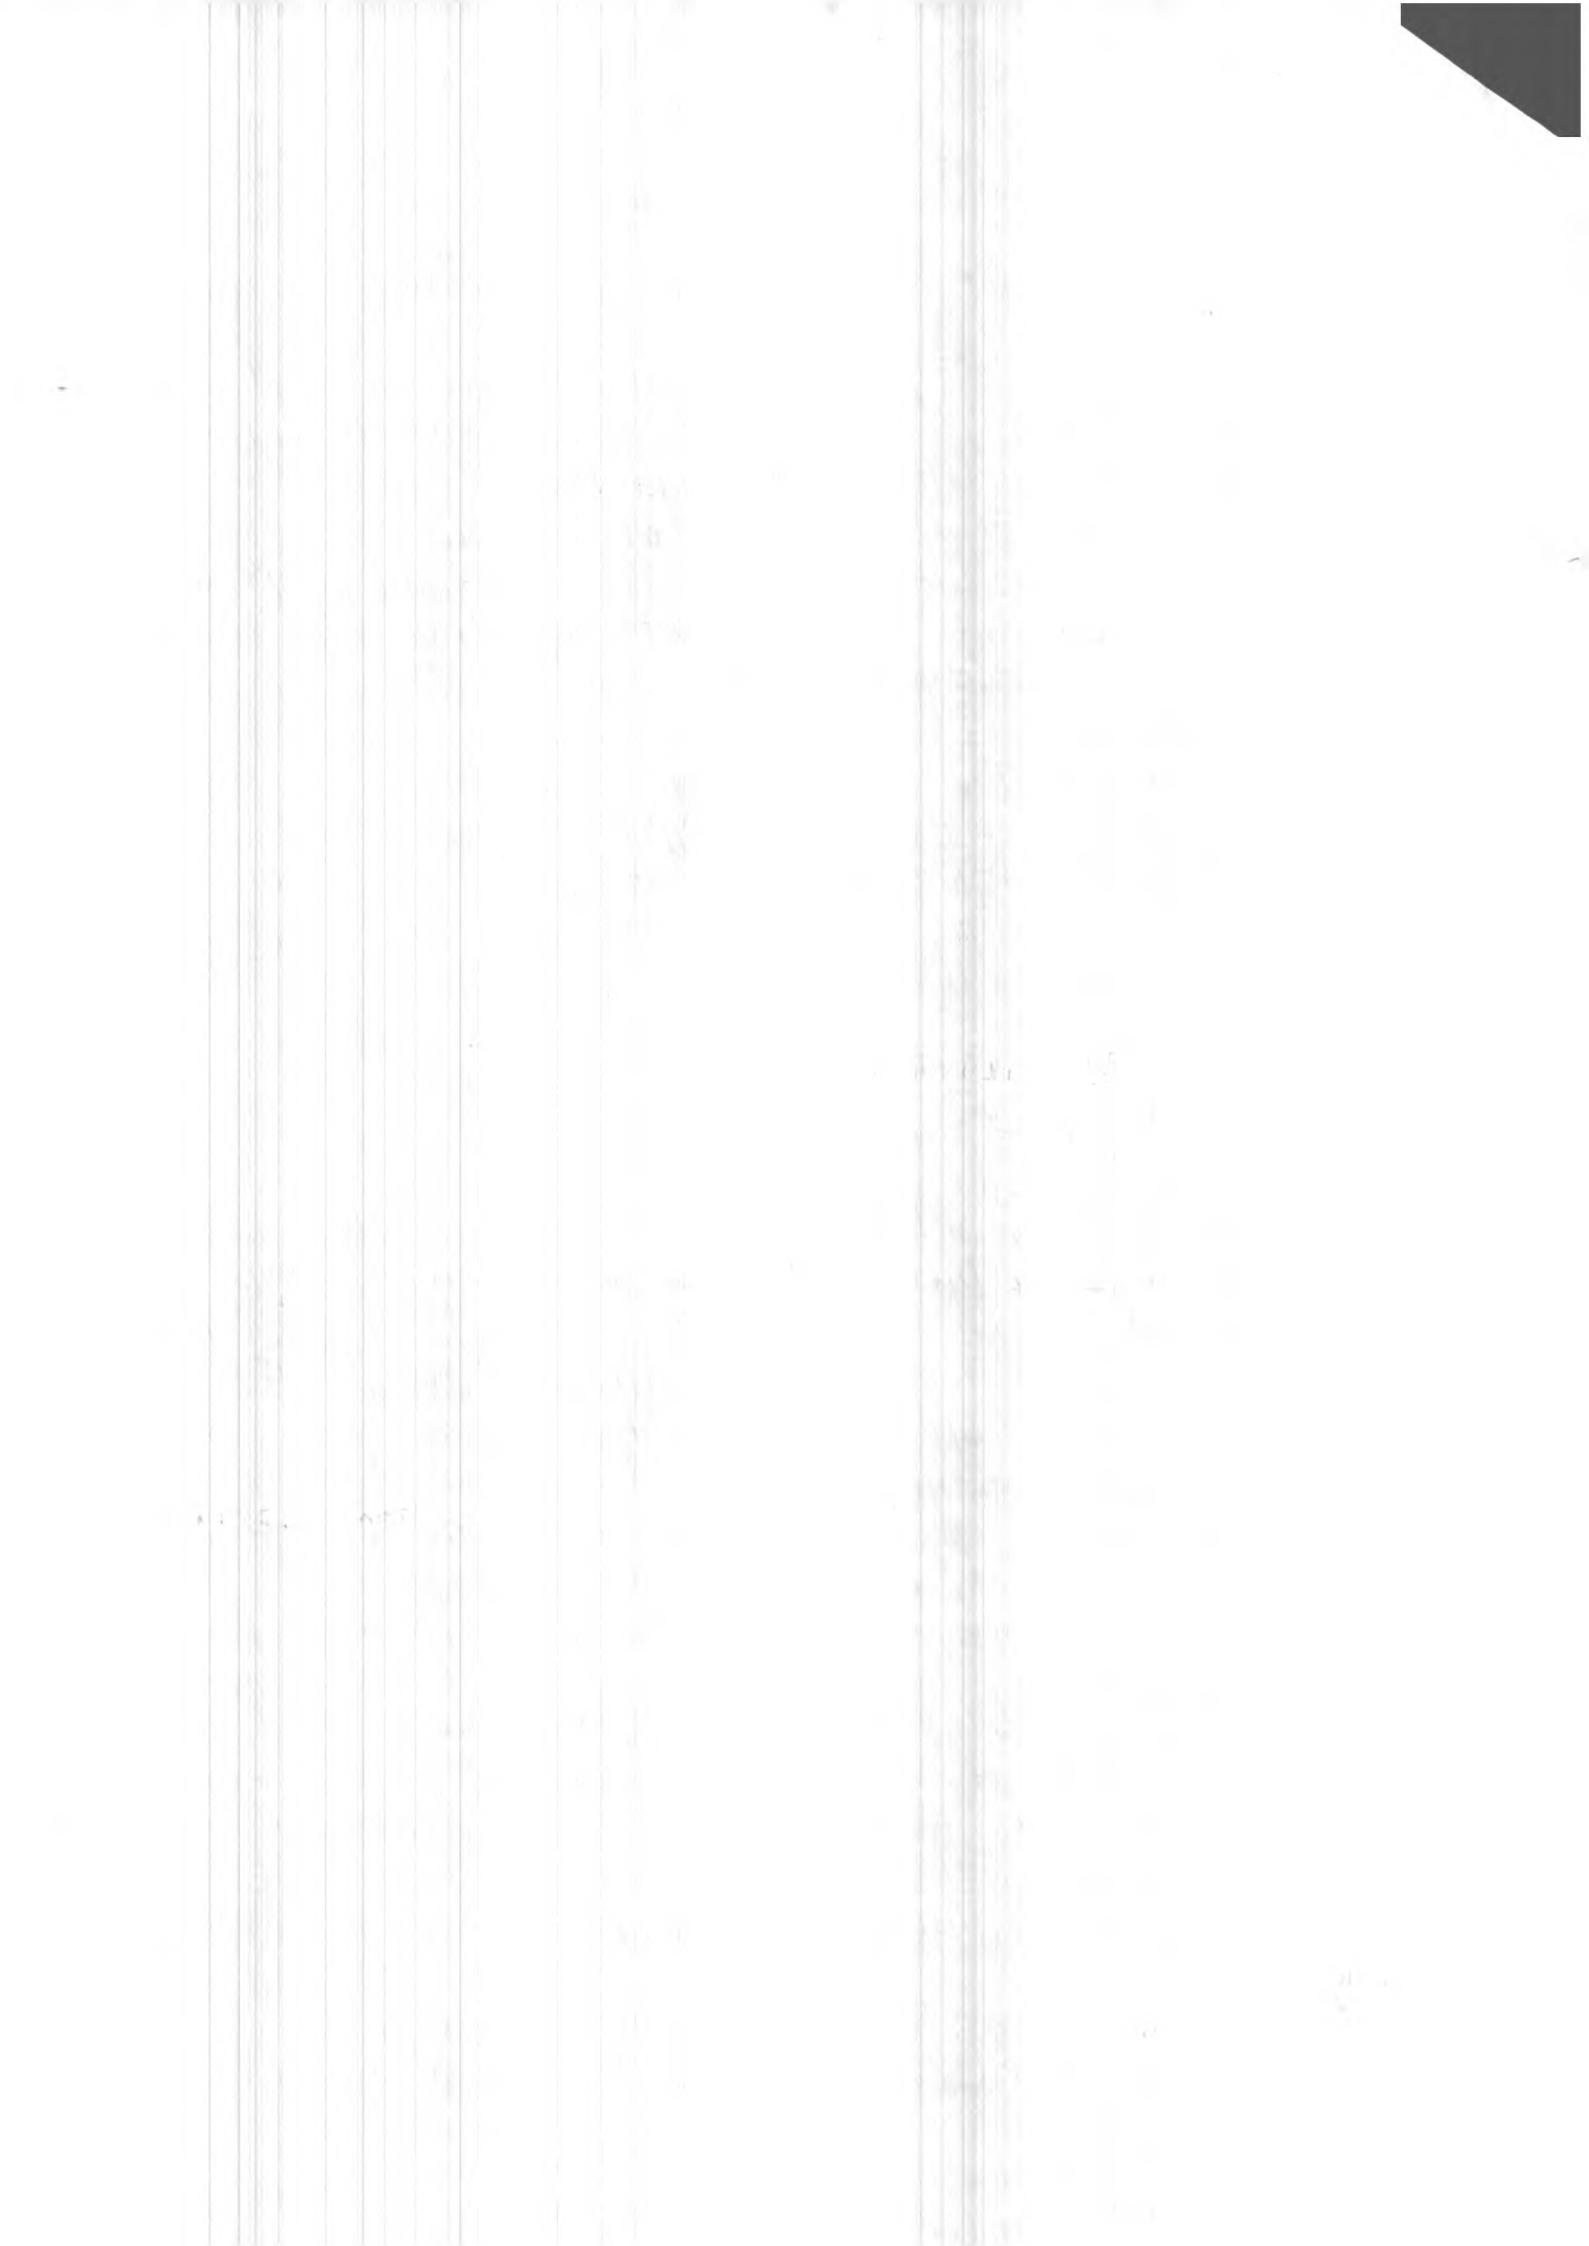

Once upon a time, a young man lived with his tribe in the caves of a ~~big~~ mountain. He wasn't the brightest in hunting, but managed to get by. ~~(The adults of the tribe called him a naive dreamer for his odd pastimes, that he preferred to hunting.)~~ Hunting ~~was~~ was crucial for the tribe's survival, as the men believed that tribe was ~~was~~ cursed - people couldn't live a long and prosperous life. The meat they ate was raw and the caves they slept in were mercilessly cold. ~~Pathetic fractions of war~~ Therefore, all men needed to provide even more.

The young man enjoyed experimenting. One mundane day, he was twisting a stick attached to the stone repeatedly. ~~Something spark!~~ It smelt odd, so he was determined to figure out why. Soon, something sparkly and shiny came out. ~~Wow~~ The stick shone as bright as the sun. The man was mesmerized by it and ~~snapped~~ snapped out of it only as it began biting his fingers. ~~But it bite animals to eat so he captured~~

He showed it to his tribe. At first they ^{had} called him a madman, but he insisted he could find a use to this magic power. After ~~lots of attempts to make it work to the better and several~~ several burns, he learned that it creates warmth observed from a moderate distance. Also, it can make meat tastier. He called all of the tribe again and convinced ~~the~~ ^{the} people eventually.

They started using fire, ~~and~~ thus they stopped getting sick and weak. Their tribe grew in numbers. Thanks to the ^{heroic} man, now they know of fire and ^{have} mastered the ways to use it.

Part IV. WRITING

4.1 Hello, Dear Contestant!

As a member of the jury, I'd like to let you know that your performance has greatly impressed me.

You managed to write such beautiful verse that I was truly moved by it. You wrote a poem called "Media Age" which reflects on the effects of social media on our society. I'm also glad to tell you that your recital of the poem was one of the ~~most~~ ^{best} ~~bold ones~~ in the talent show.

There are a few reasons why "Media Age" made me tear up a little. First of all, I haven't read a lot of poems on this topic, so yours is definitely original and relevant to the lives of most people nowadays. As someone who has kids, I could fully understand the meaning of ~~your~~ poetry, since they spend so much time on their phones and ~~won't~~ ~~listen~~ to me. Second of all, the recital was really breath-taking, especially at the end.

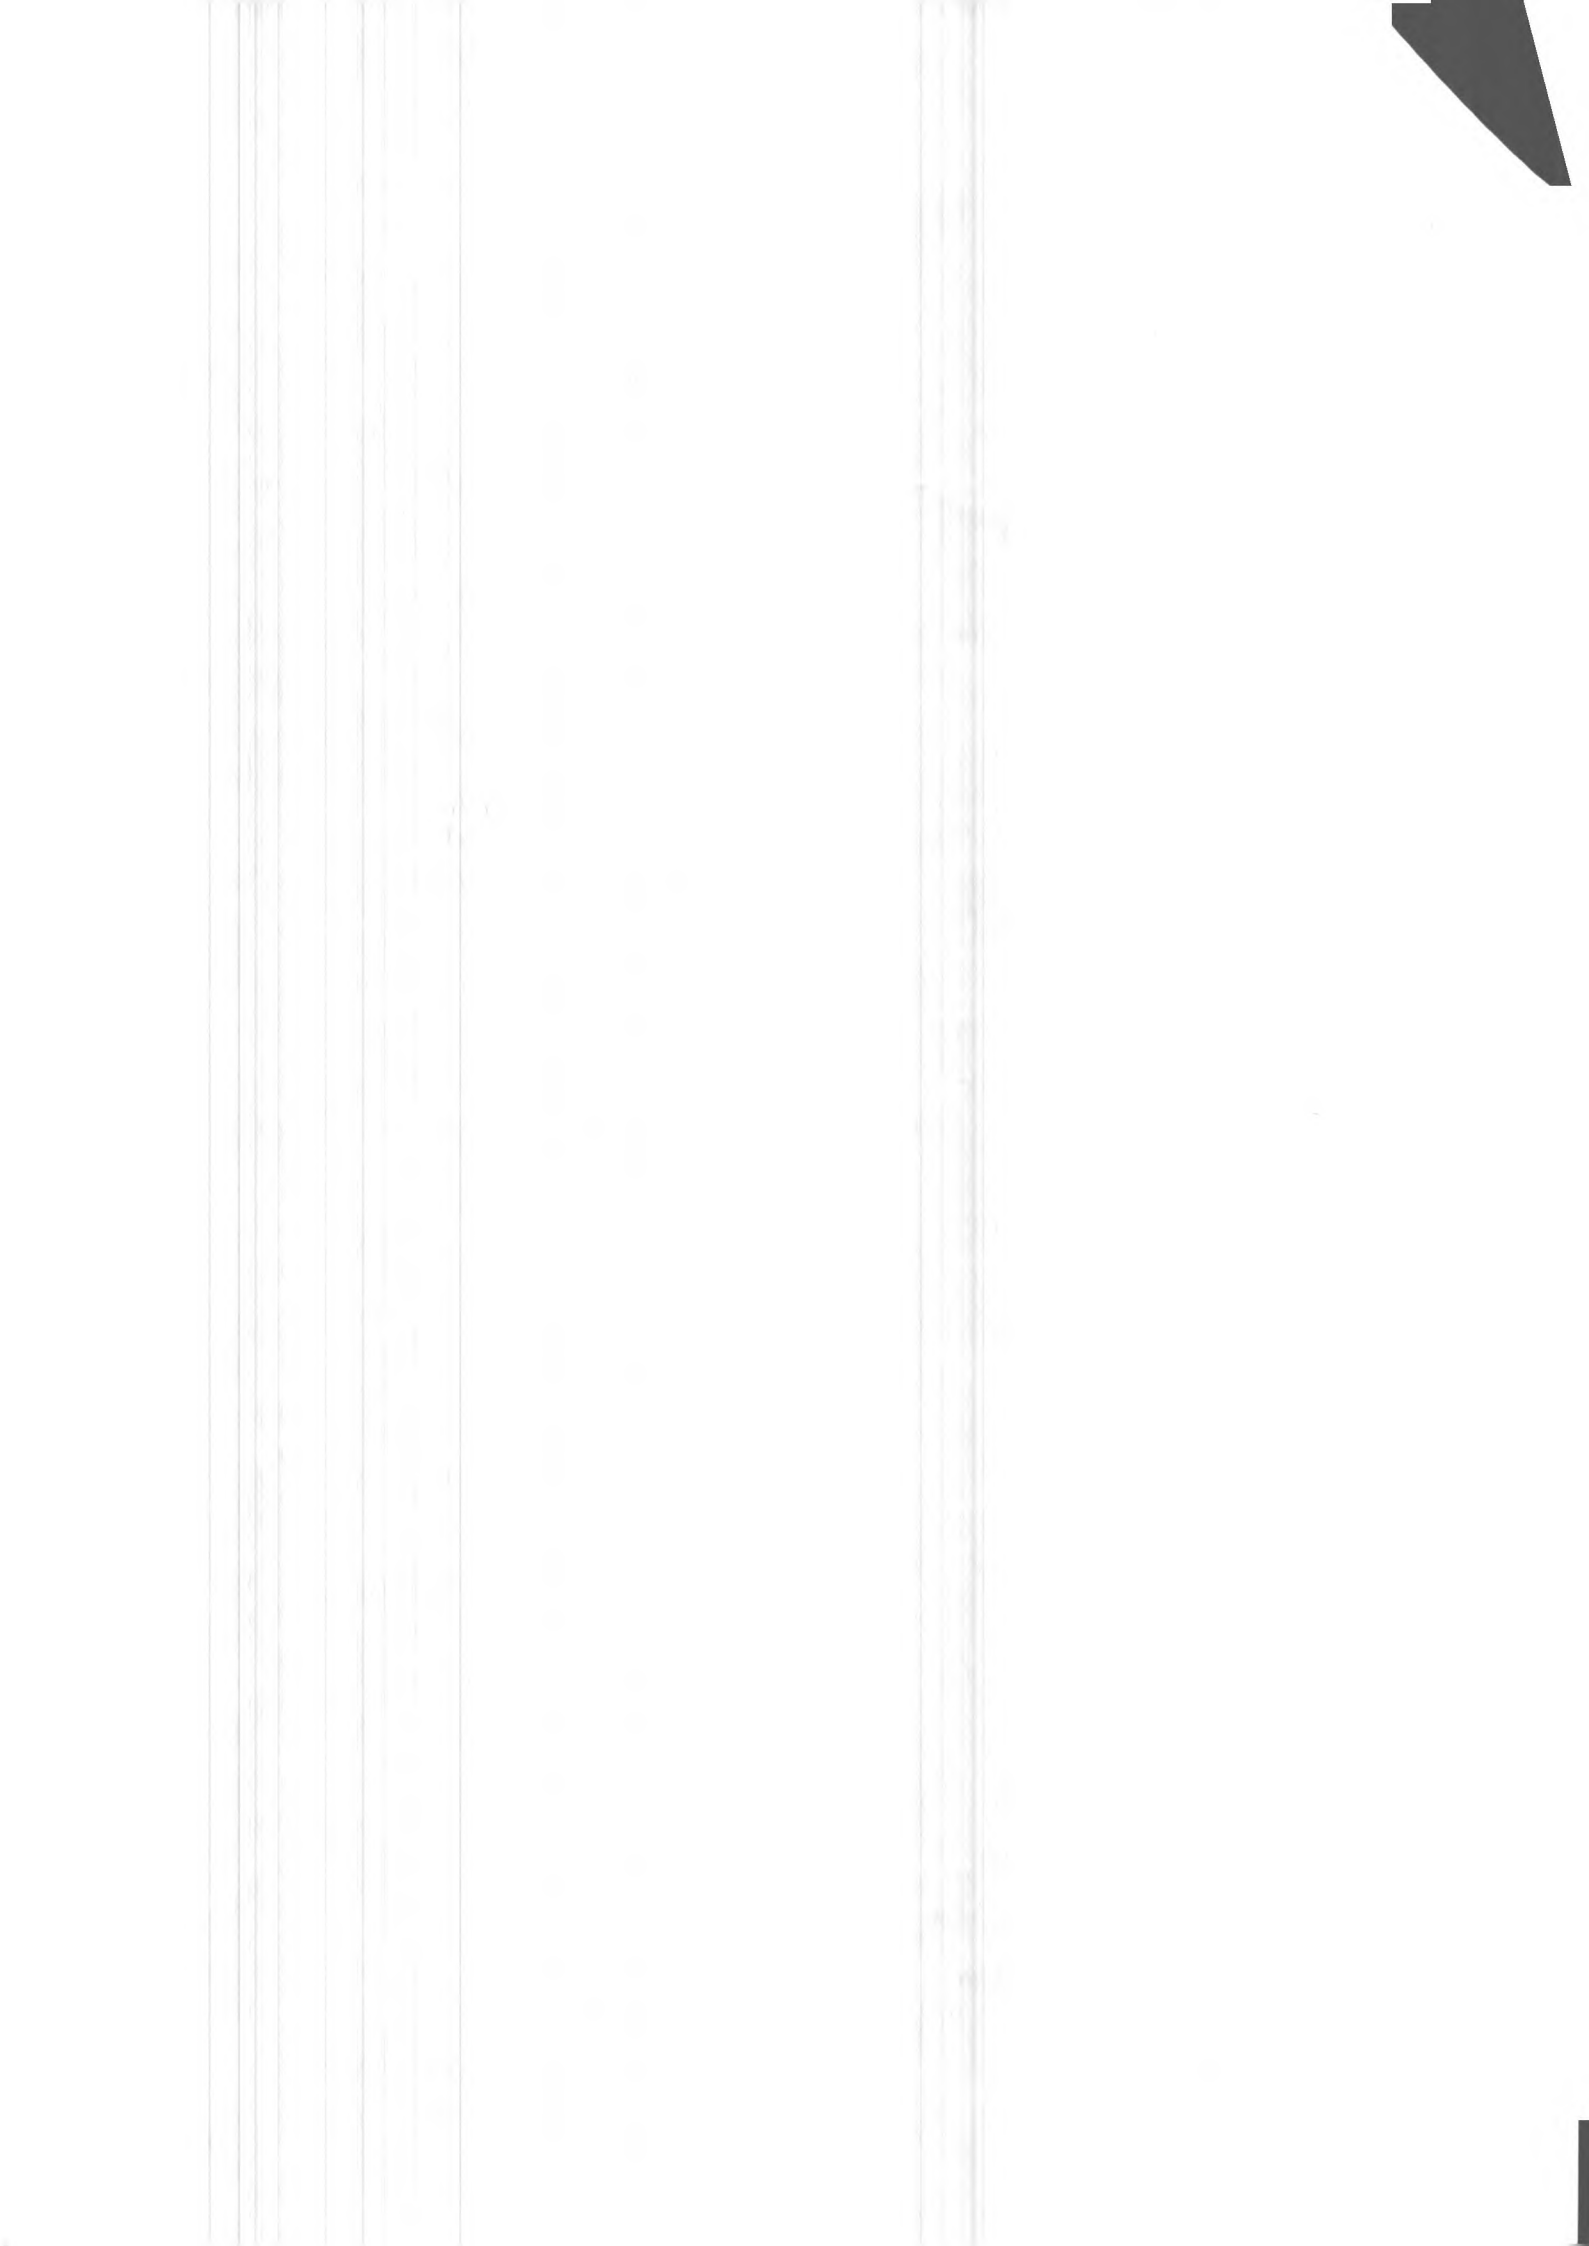

I'd ~~also~~ like to encourage you to make your stanzas smaller, so that they're more coherent. And don't ~~forget~~ to be shy when reciting, since it affects the overall impression. Good luck with your ~~Good luck with your future aspirations~~ future aspirations!

4.2 Pioneer of Printing

A long long time ago, there was a man who was so short and frail that he was barely able to perform any physical activity. His name was John the Weak. His body wasn't strong, but his desire to learn was. Despite being daily ridiculed by his fellow-villagers, he still dreamed of bigger things. He was passionate about books, ~~that~~ ^{which} weren't widely accessible at that time, so he had to work three as hard as everybody else did to buy a book that he would inhale in a few hours. There was even a mocking rhyme going on in his village:

John the Weak was so inept
That his every deed
Was ~~aimed~~ ^{aimed} at earning money
For ~~books~~ ^{books}, so he could read.

Back then, books had to be written by hand, so John started thinking about how he could invent a machine that would foster the process of creating them. His brain was on fire all the time he tried to come up books were all about, forever changing the world.

4.1. Hello, Mary! I would ~~like~~ like to thank you very much for your resonant and deeply moving performance. You've chosen one of the most difficult Mariah Carey's songs - 'My All', which is actually my favourite song! You started quite stressfully, but then you managed to control your nervousness as your voice got more powerful and full. The final chorus has absolutely blown us away. Not many performers can convey their emotions to the audience with such a success, but you've done it perfectly. The way your voice sounded - so mature, flowing and smooth, despite you being only 14 years old - impressed me the most. There's ~~the~~ only nuance I'd like to mention: while delivering such a strong performance, you were standing still. You should express your feelings not only with your voice, but also with the way you act on stage. Behave naturally and calmly - it would add much to your performance. All in all, Mary, you've done very great. Keep up being the brightest star!

4.2. ~~The future is born in the hands that dare to dream.~~

'Conqueror of fears'

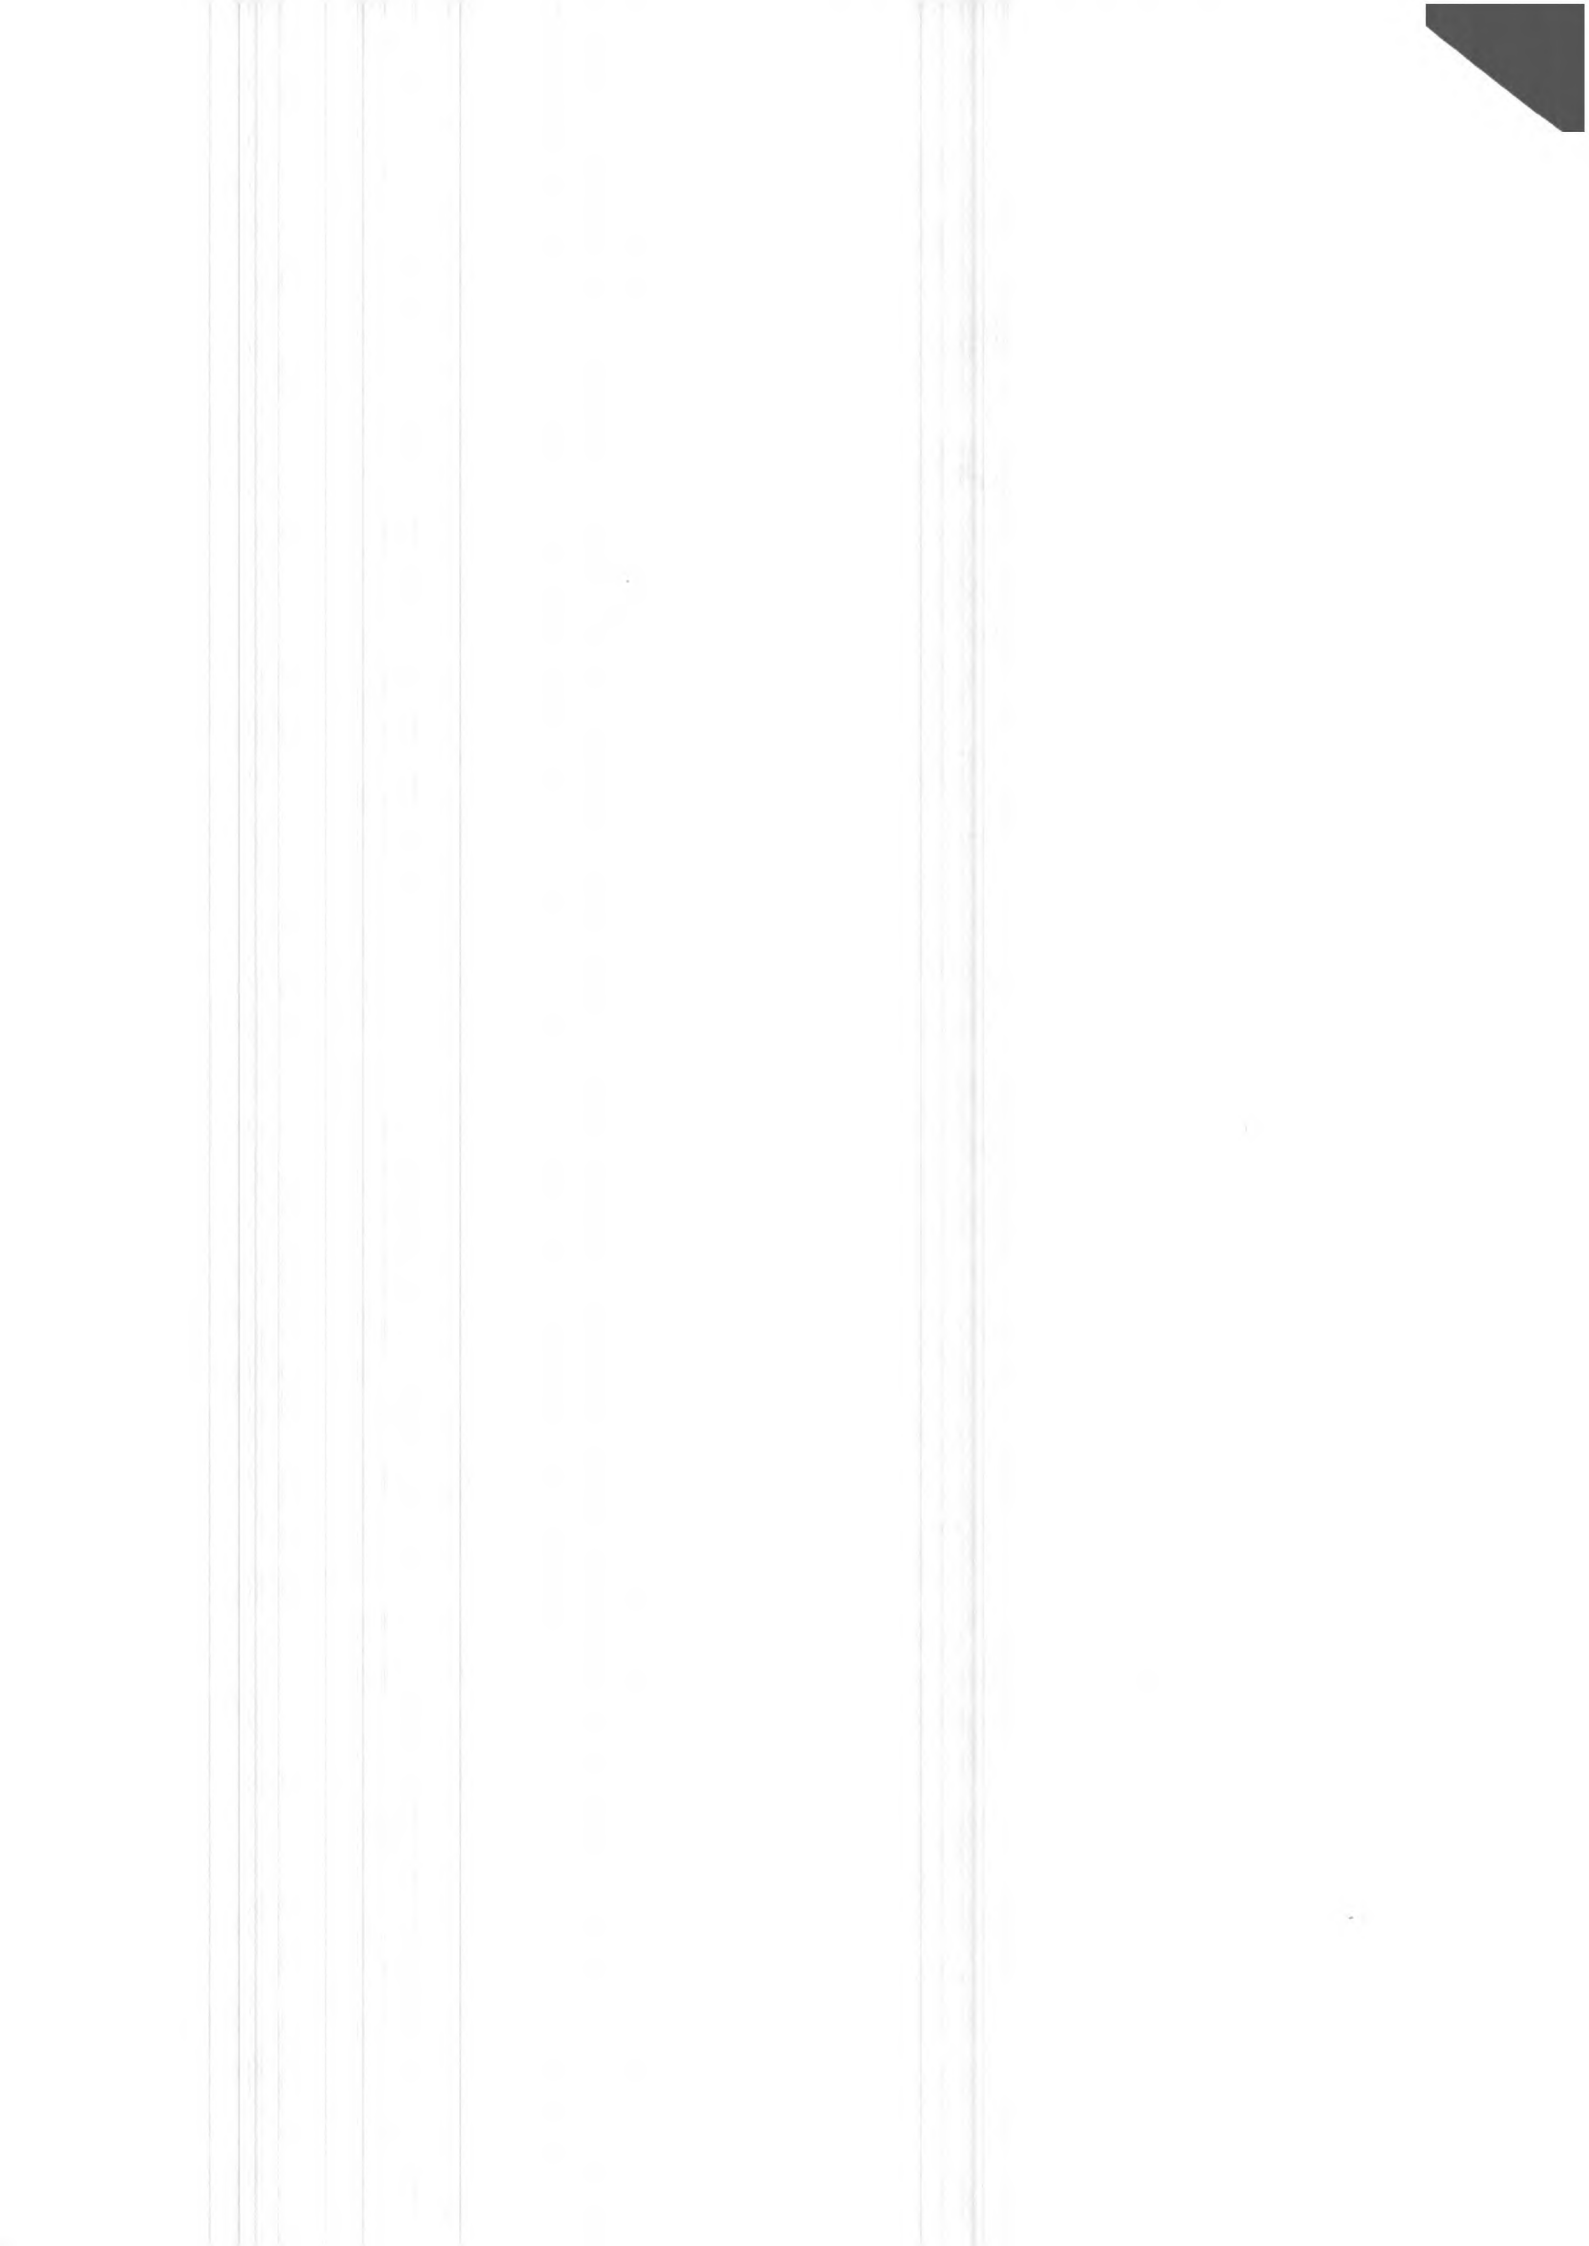

The future is born in the hands that dare to dream.

Dreaming was a hobby of a young boy whose name was Will. He dreamt of curing all diseases, fighting and defeating the evil, and making everyone he knew happy.

One day, Will went to the black forest to find some food for his family. This was ~~to~~ a routine for him, but this time everything was different: the sun was hotter, the forest - darker, and the feeling of something slowly moving in the gears - stronger. Will was utterly afraid of snakes - he once even had a vision of being killed by one. Suddenly, the sound intensified and Will saw a giant snake moving right towards him. Will knew that unless he wants to die, he must do something. He picked a large stone and threw it right in the beast in front of him. His hands were shaking. When he understood that the snake was dead, he thought that ^{the} poison of the snake might be a cure to all illnesses people suffered from.

That day he reached one of his dreams.

The other day, when the ~~night~~ was darkness was unfolding upon the sky, Will was thinking how useful would it be to have fire in his home. Nights were cold and fire would help everyone to survive long and harsh winter.

But fire was kept next to a cliff where a big and dangerous bear would live. Will had a fear of predators, but after killing the snake he understood that to do something good you need to overcome all your fears and dangers and fight till the end.
 He went to the cliff and saw a cave, dark as monster's mouth, where fire was burning. And even though he heard something roaring deep in the cave, he ran and stole the fire in some woods. The boy brought the most warm thing in everybody's homes. People in the village were happy, thanks to Will.
 People understood that to bring the good in their lives you must overcome anything if you are afraid of. Will was an example for all people of how to make everyone happy by defeating your fears.

And so he lived,
 A boy named Will
 bringing the good,
 to the world we live in.

4.1 At first I want to say thank you to all contestants of this Talent Show for their striking performances. Unassailably, each of you deserve to continue singing and dancing on a larger stage. However, one particular person made a great impression on me because of her extraordinary talents to captivate everyone with in this hall with her voice. Contestant 10, step out please. (61)

~~Honestly saying, I had almost fell asleep.~~

Your genuine emotions, not fabricated or made up, but real feelings ~~made me sit~~ ^{kept me} on the edge of my seat, I haven't seen them for decades! Also, not only did you sing, you set up a small dancing performance using all parts of your body, showing your flexibility and bringing your character into life. (55)

All in all, this life on the stage was brilliant, still, several improvements will turn it into impeccable one. You have to make the flows between lyrics more subtle, therefore, no one even mention your small mistakes in word/spelling. ~~You are a future star and I care~~ ~~(at all)~~ I can undoubtedly observe the rise of a future star, so wish you good luck!

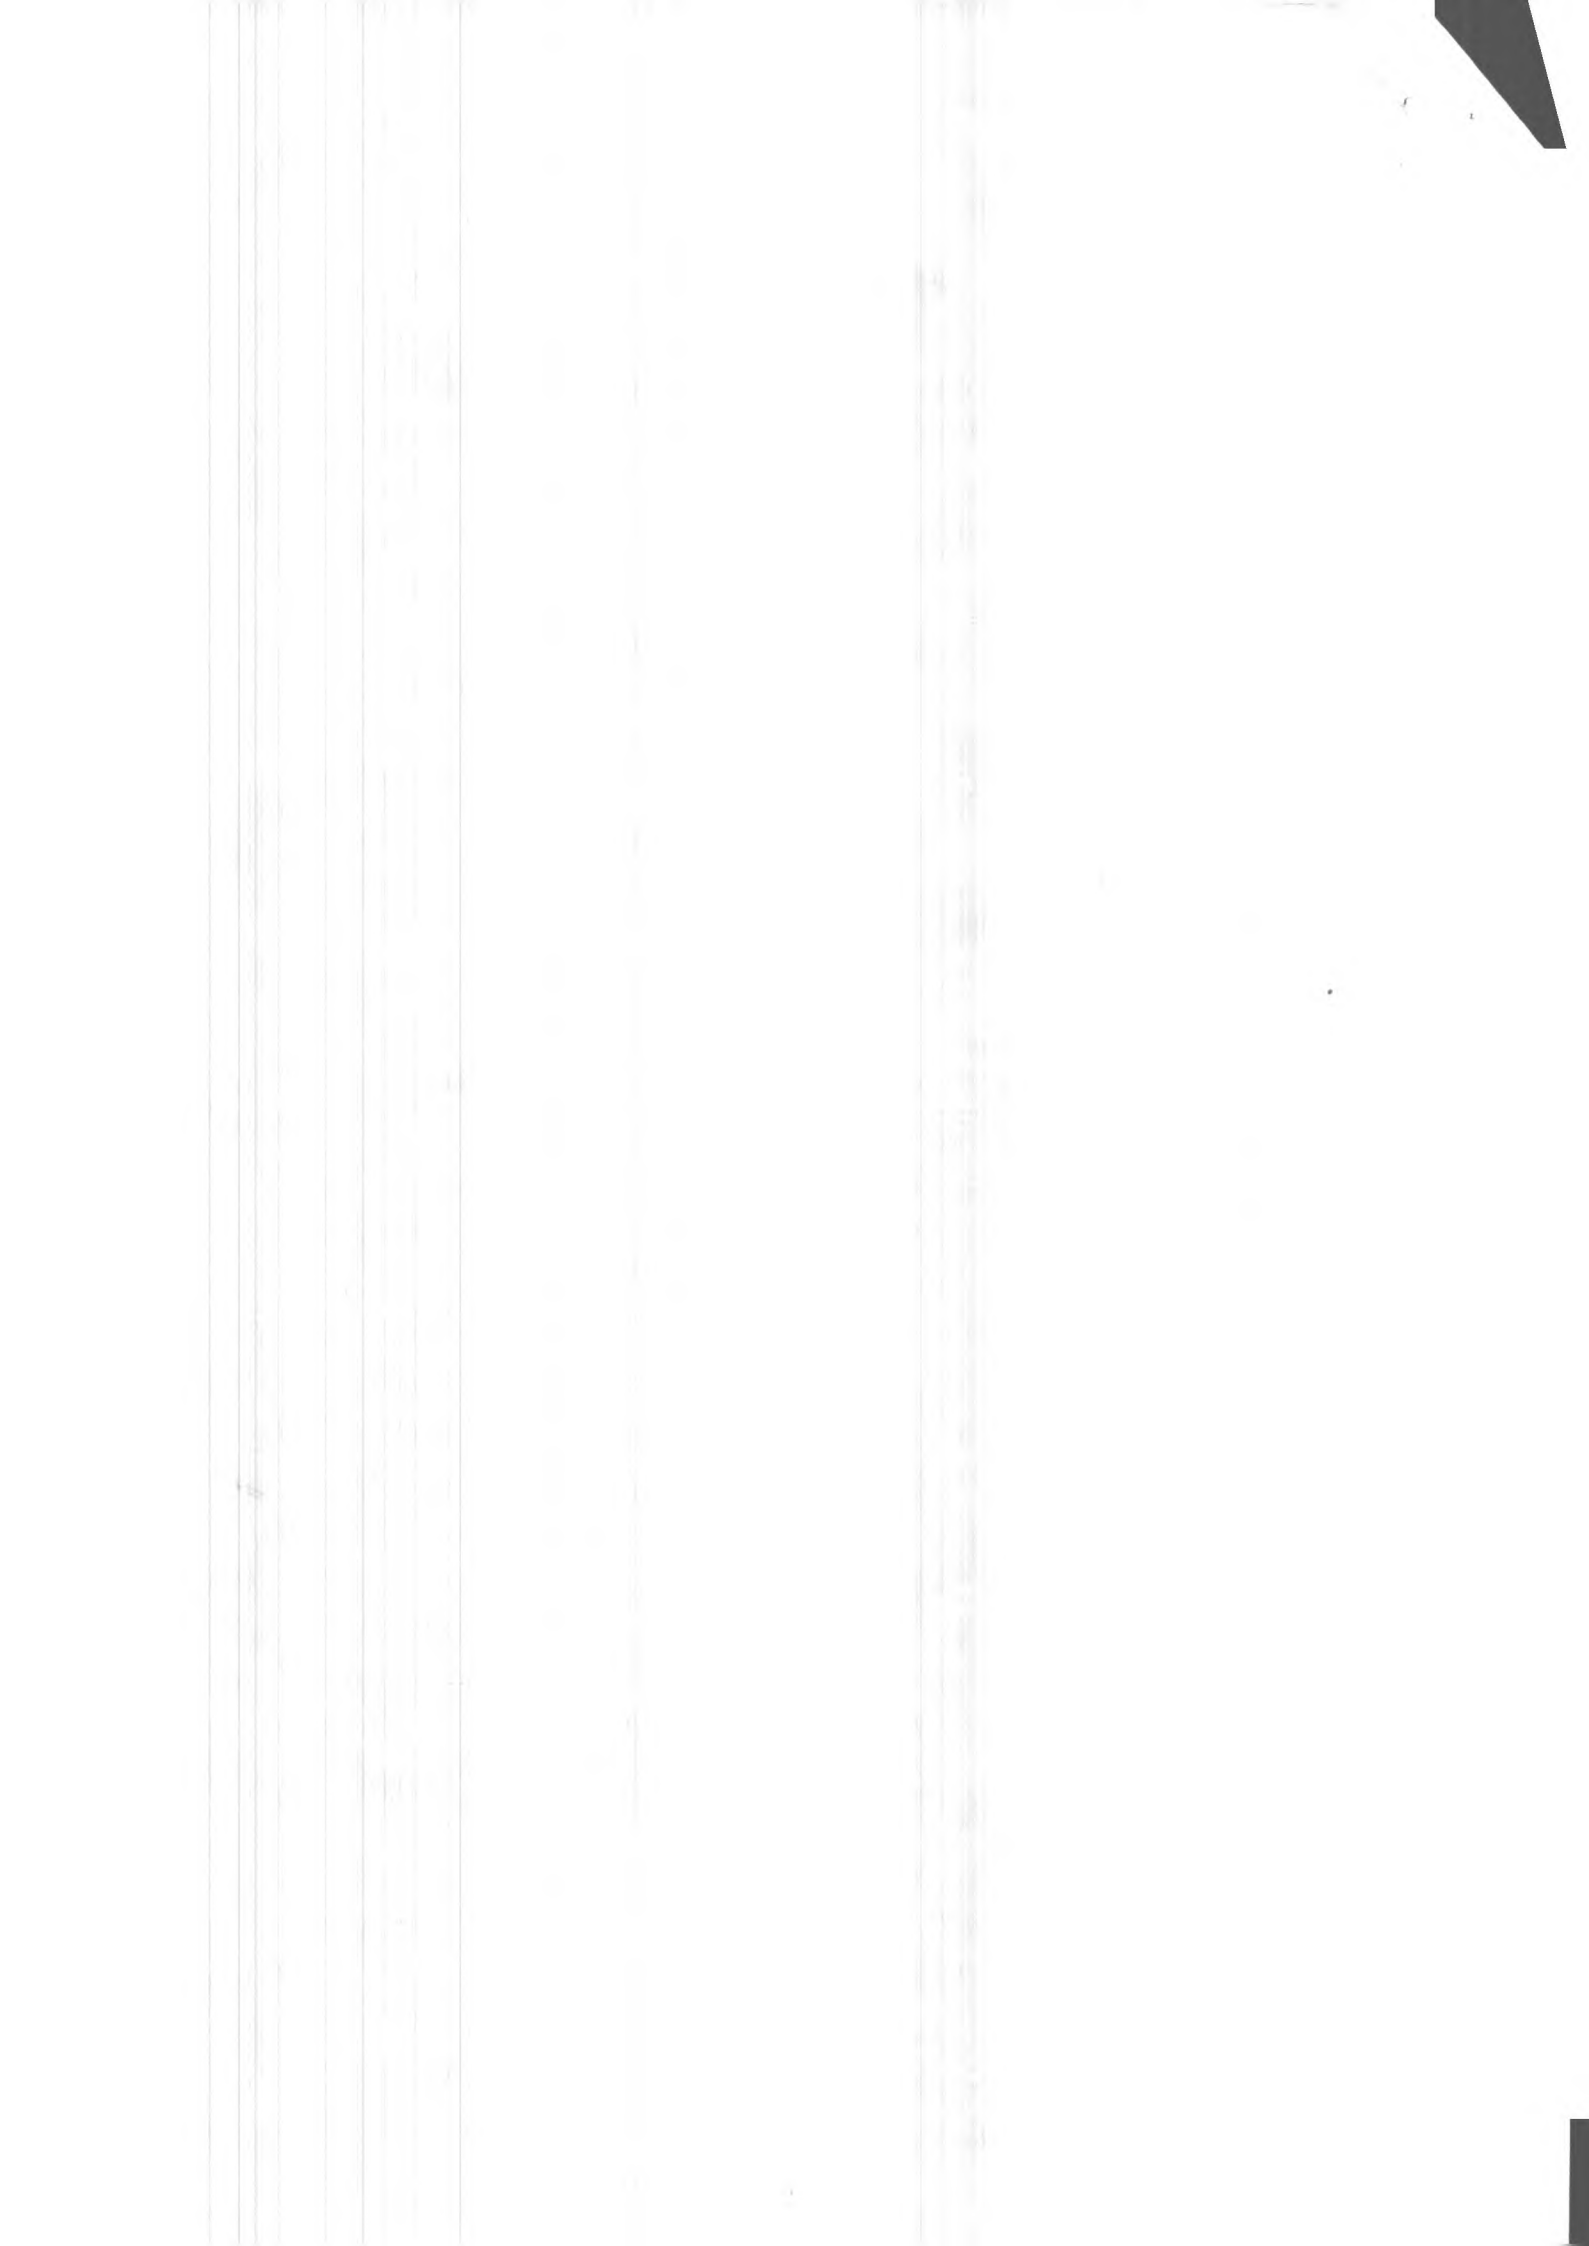

4.2. A man who brought the light

"The future is born in the hands that dare to dream"

A long long time ago, among gently rolling hills and peaky mountains, endless oceans and gloomy forests existed a kingdom which was ruled by Sagacious William. During the time he ruled, the place was prosperous and all people lived in peace. William had a daughter. Katherine was claimed to be as beautiful as a lily and her smile was brighter than the Sun. She loved her father and William adored ~~her~~ and smiling she could turn the night into a day like the Sun. Katherine smiled a lot, so the crops could grow and people harvested them. 74

But one day inevitable happened: Katherine got ill and she didn't smile anymore. The light disappeared and once hospitable kingdom turned into a terrifying place. Citizens were mourning because famine began. ~~But~~ ~~William~~ Arthur's sisters and brothers were starving and he desperately seeked for the solution. 44

After weeks without Katherine's smile he wasn't as willingful as before. Pouring rain began and seemed there ²⁰¹ was no way to work the problem out. ~~Arthur searched for a source of answers and went to the forest. He found a small cave and made his home.~~
 Arthur sat on the wooden bench and observed the hill with a tree ~~and~~, when a lightning appeared out of nowhere and struck the tree. A tiny flash of fire, but it was enough for Arthur to have a ²⁰² bee in a bonnet and ²⁰³ realise: the kingdom is saved!

The hero gathered the sticks and rushed to the light. He was able to make it ~~larger than a lamp~~ the size of a mounting ²⁰⁴ ~~and sustain it~~ ~~so it was light everywhere~~ again. ²⁰⁵ So the kingdom was no longer in trouble. ²⁰⁶ That is how humanity first saw ~~and~~ the Fire ²⁰⁷ (4).
 Since then, Arthur is known as Arthur the Light Bringer.

Hello, dear Anna Black. It's been a pleasure to have you here on our show. I must confess I was indelibly impressed with your performance tonight. ~~The way you sang~~
The way you sang "Garden", clearly hitting all the high notes in the chorus and maintaining the emotional vulnerability of a narrator that ~~experiences~~ deals with a deep sense of grief, was remarkable. Moreover, I was astounded by the fact that you wrote and composed the song all by yourself. Your moment ~~on stage~~ on stage wasn't so long, as you only had time to explain that you were the author and launch into your performance. However, one part of it that really stuck with me was when the music gradually started to stop as the narrator seemed to give up, creating an illusion of an end to the song, and how it picked ~~it~~ up again, stronger than before, indicating a clear resolution to fight with grief.

My recommendations would be to hire a co-songwriter because your imagery is banal while it could be evocative and to work in your vocal range so that you don't lose it. I'd support you in your future endeavors, and I wish you success.

Task 2.

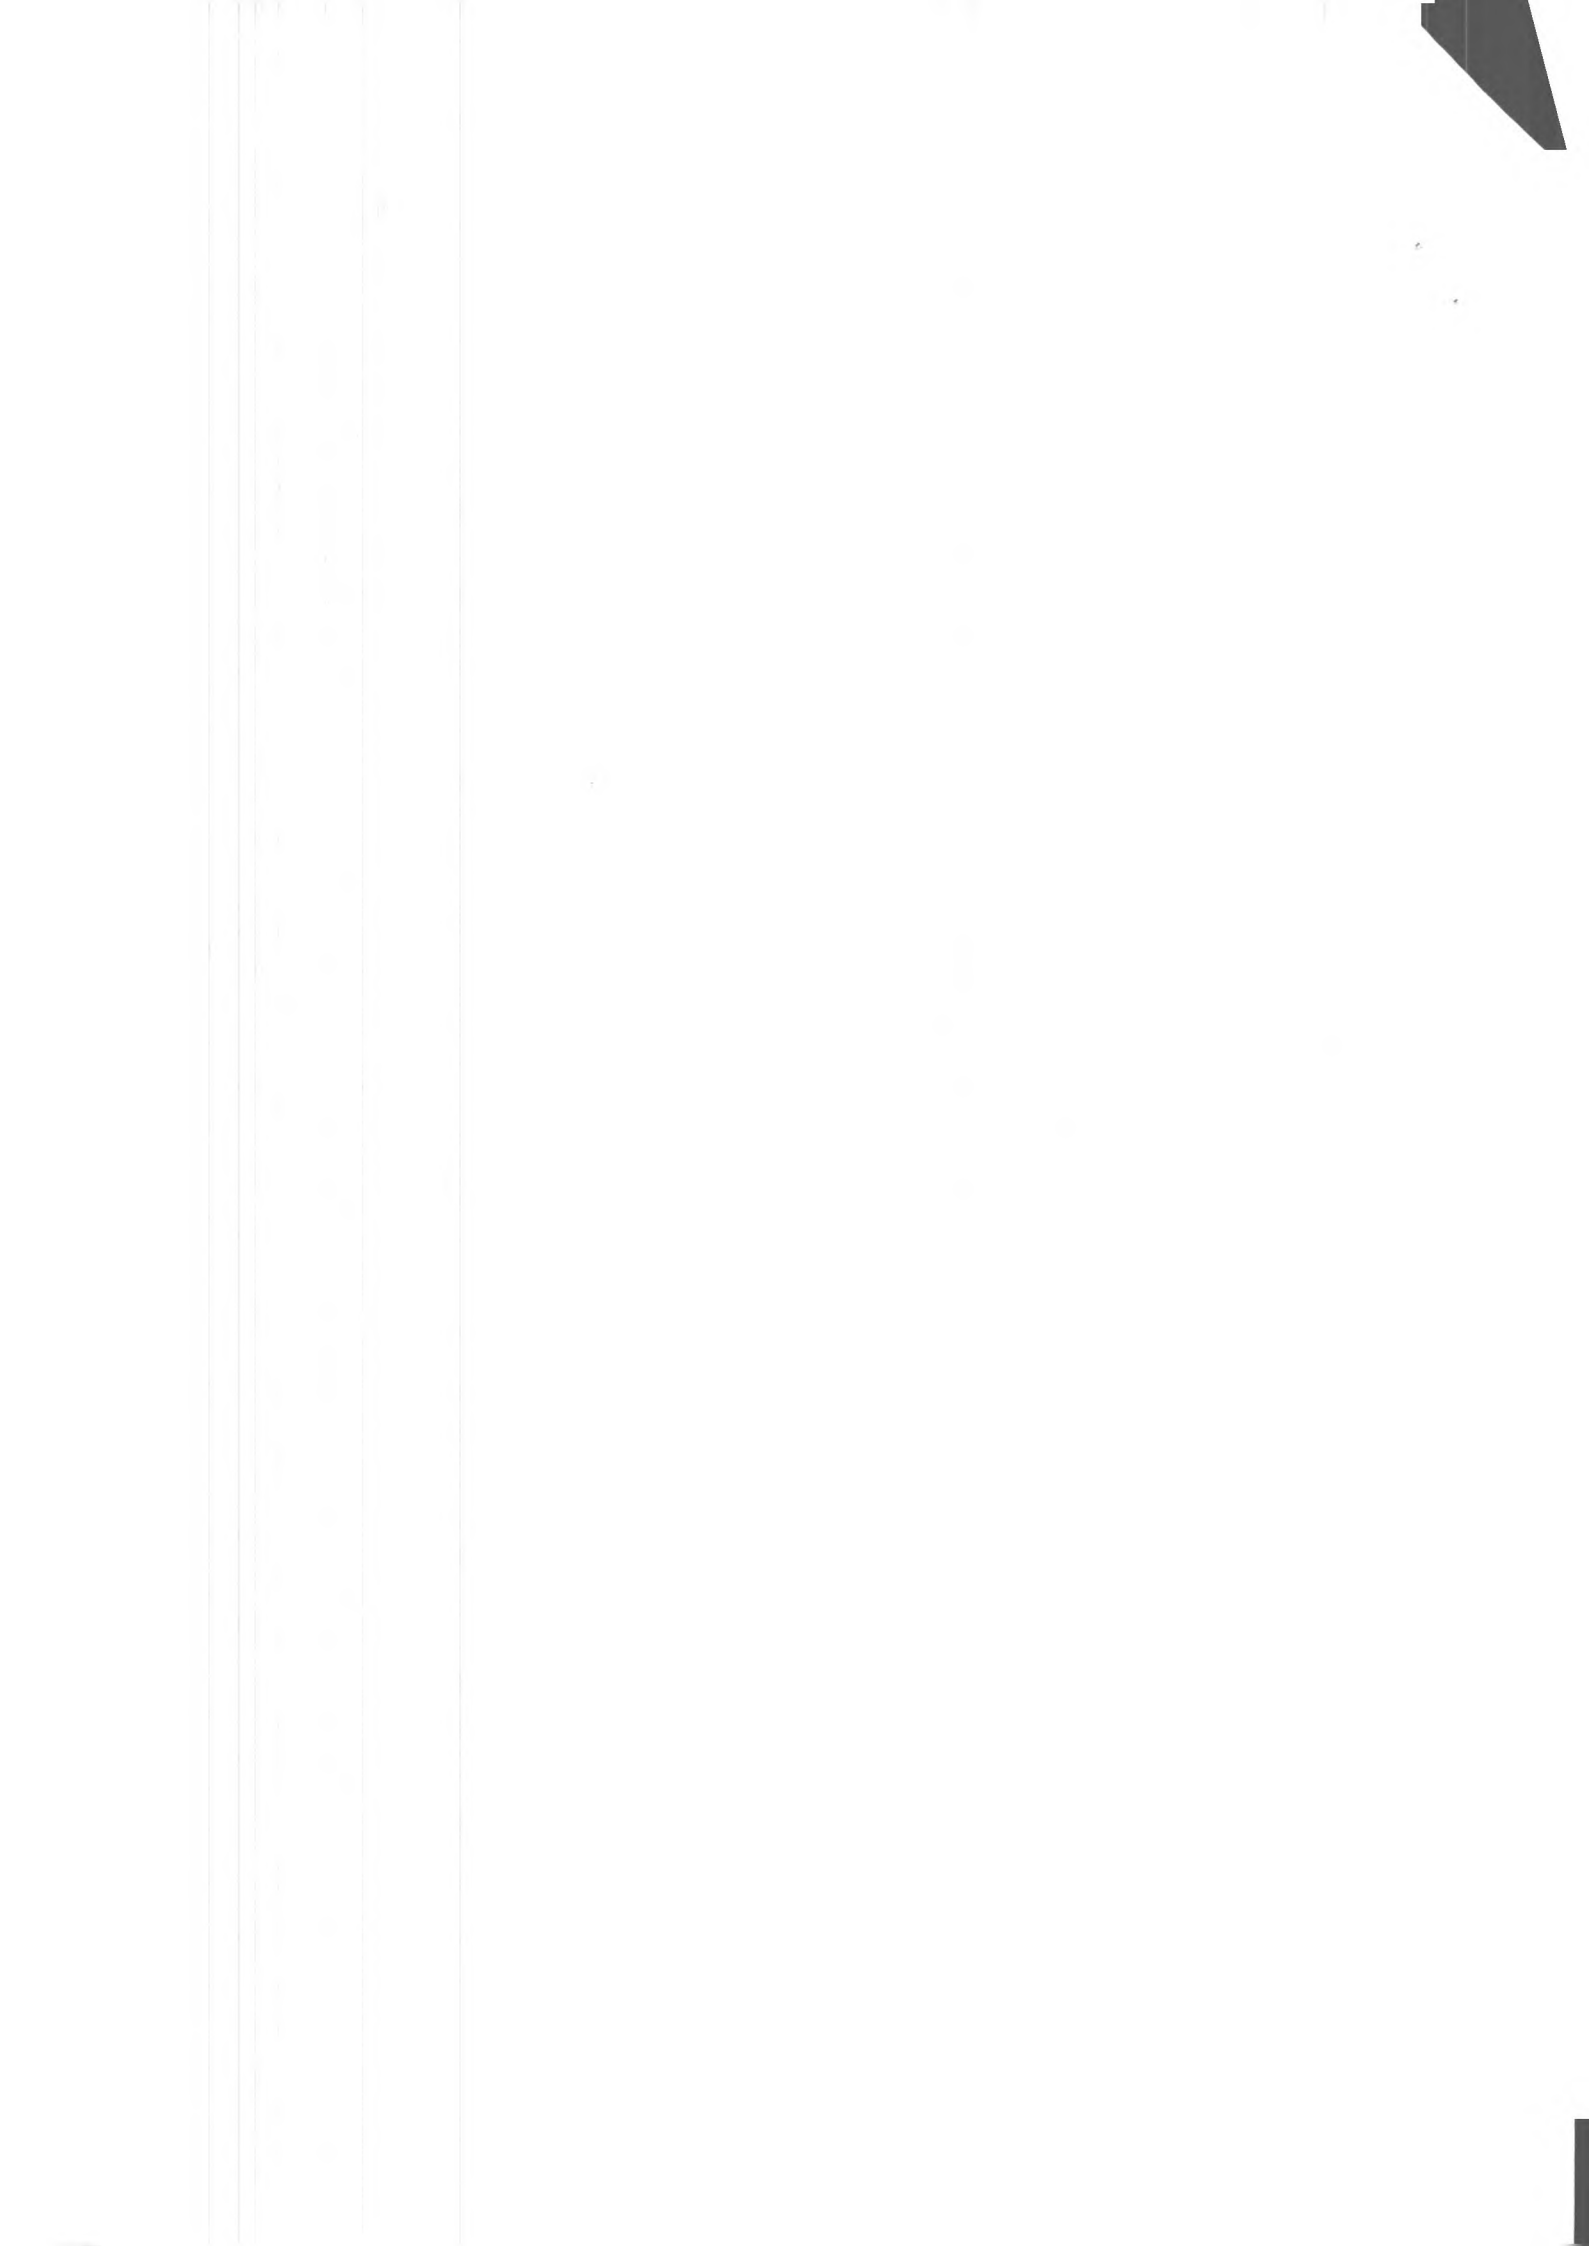

A Tale of Conquering Selfishness

"The future is born in the hands of those who ~~who~~ that dare to dream."

- An old Britenien saying

Long ago, in a land that was called Britenia back then, lived a handsome and smart noble lord. ^{Mirrin} He was sympathetic to the plight of peasants, who were starving and working themselves to death because the king of Britenia spent all of the kingdom's hard-earned coins on himself and his close circle. One day ~~Mirrin~~ Mirrin decided to challenge the king to a riddle contest.

One day Mirrin decided to challenge the king to a riddle contest. The conditions ~~Mirrin offered~~ would be in case of Mirrin's victory the king would be free to banish or ¹⁰⁰ execute Mirrin, and, alternatively, Mirrin would be in charge of the crown's and the kingdom's ~~reults~~ ^{reults}, and the king wouldn't be able to remove him from the position. Amused, the king agreed. He thought that his wise advisors would know^{in the world} all the riddles, and if not, his ~~large~~ enormous library that was collected had been being collected by the royal family for several centuries would be a nail in Merlin's coffin ~~for more like Merlin's exile~~. However, Merlin wasn't stupid. He agreed to let the king use the library and advice from other people, but he wanted the contest to happen with noble ~~lord~~ people as well as peasants' presents, so that it would be judged by the public who was right.

But when the day came, and Merlin's riddle happened to be "What do peasants need the most?" and the king couldn't answer honestly without implicating himself. And if he did, he'd have to behave honourably from now on, which he didn't want to do so much that he combusted right there before the eyes of lords and peasants. Merlin was appointed to be the king, and he handled the vents with gentle care that was remembered for the centuries to come, as all his predecessors were too obsessed with gold.

In Merlin honour there remains a quetrein carved into the walls of the castle he lived in:

Who are ~~so~~ we to argue?

After all, it is only clear that the only thing left loose

after all of us continue is to lose.

Good morning! I'd like to say a few words directly to Contestant N7. Your performance today was truly captivating. From the moment you stepped onto the stage and began your contemporary dance piece, the emotion was palpable. The moment when you transitioned from slow movements to a sudden burst of energetic leaps was particularly striking.

I was so impressed by your remarkable control, the raw emotion you conveyed, and the originality of blending classical music with modern dance. You didn't just perform, you told a story!

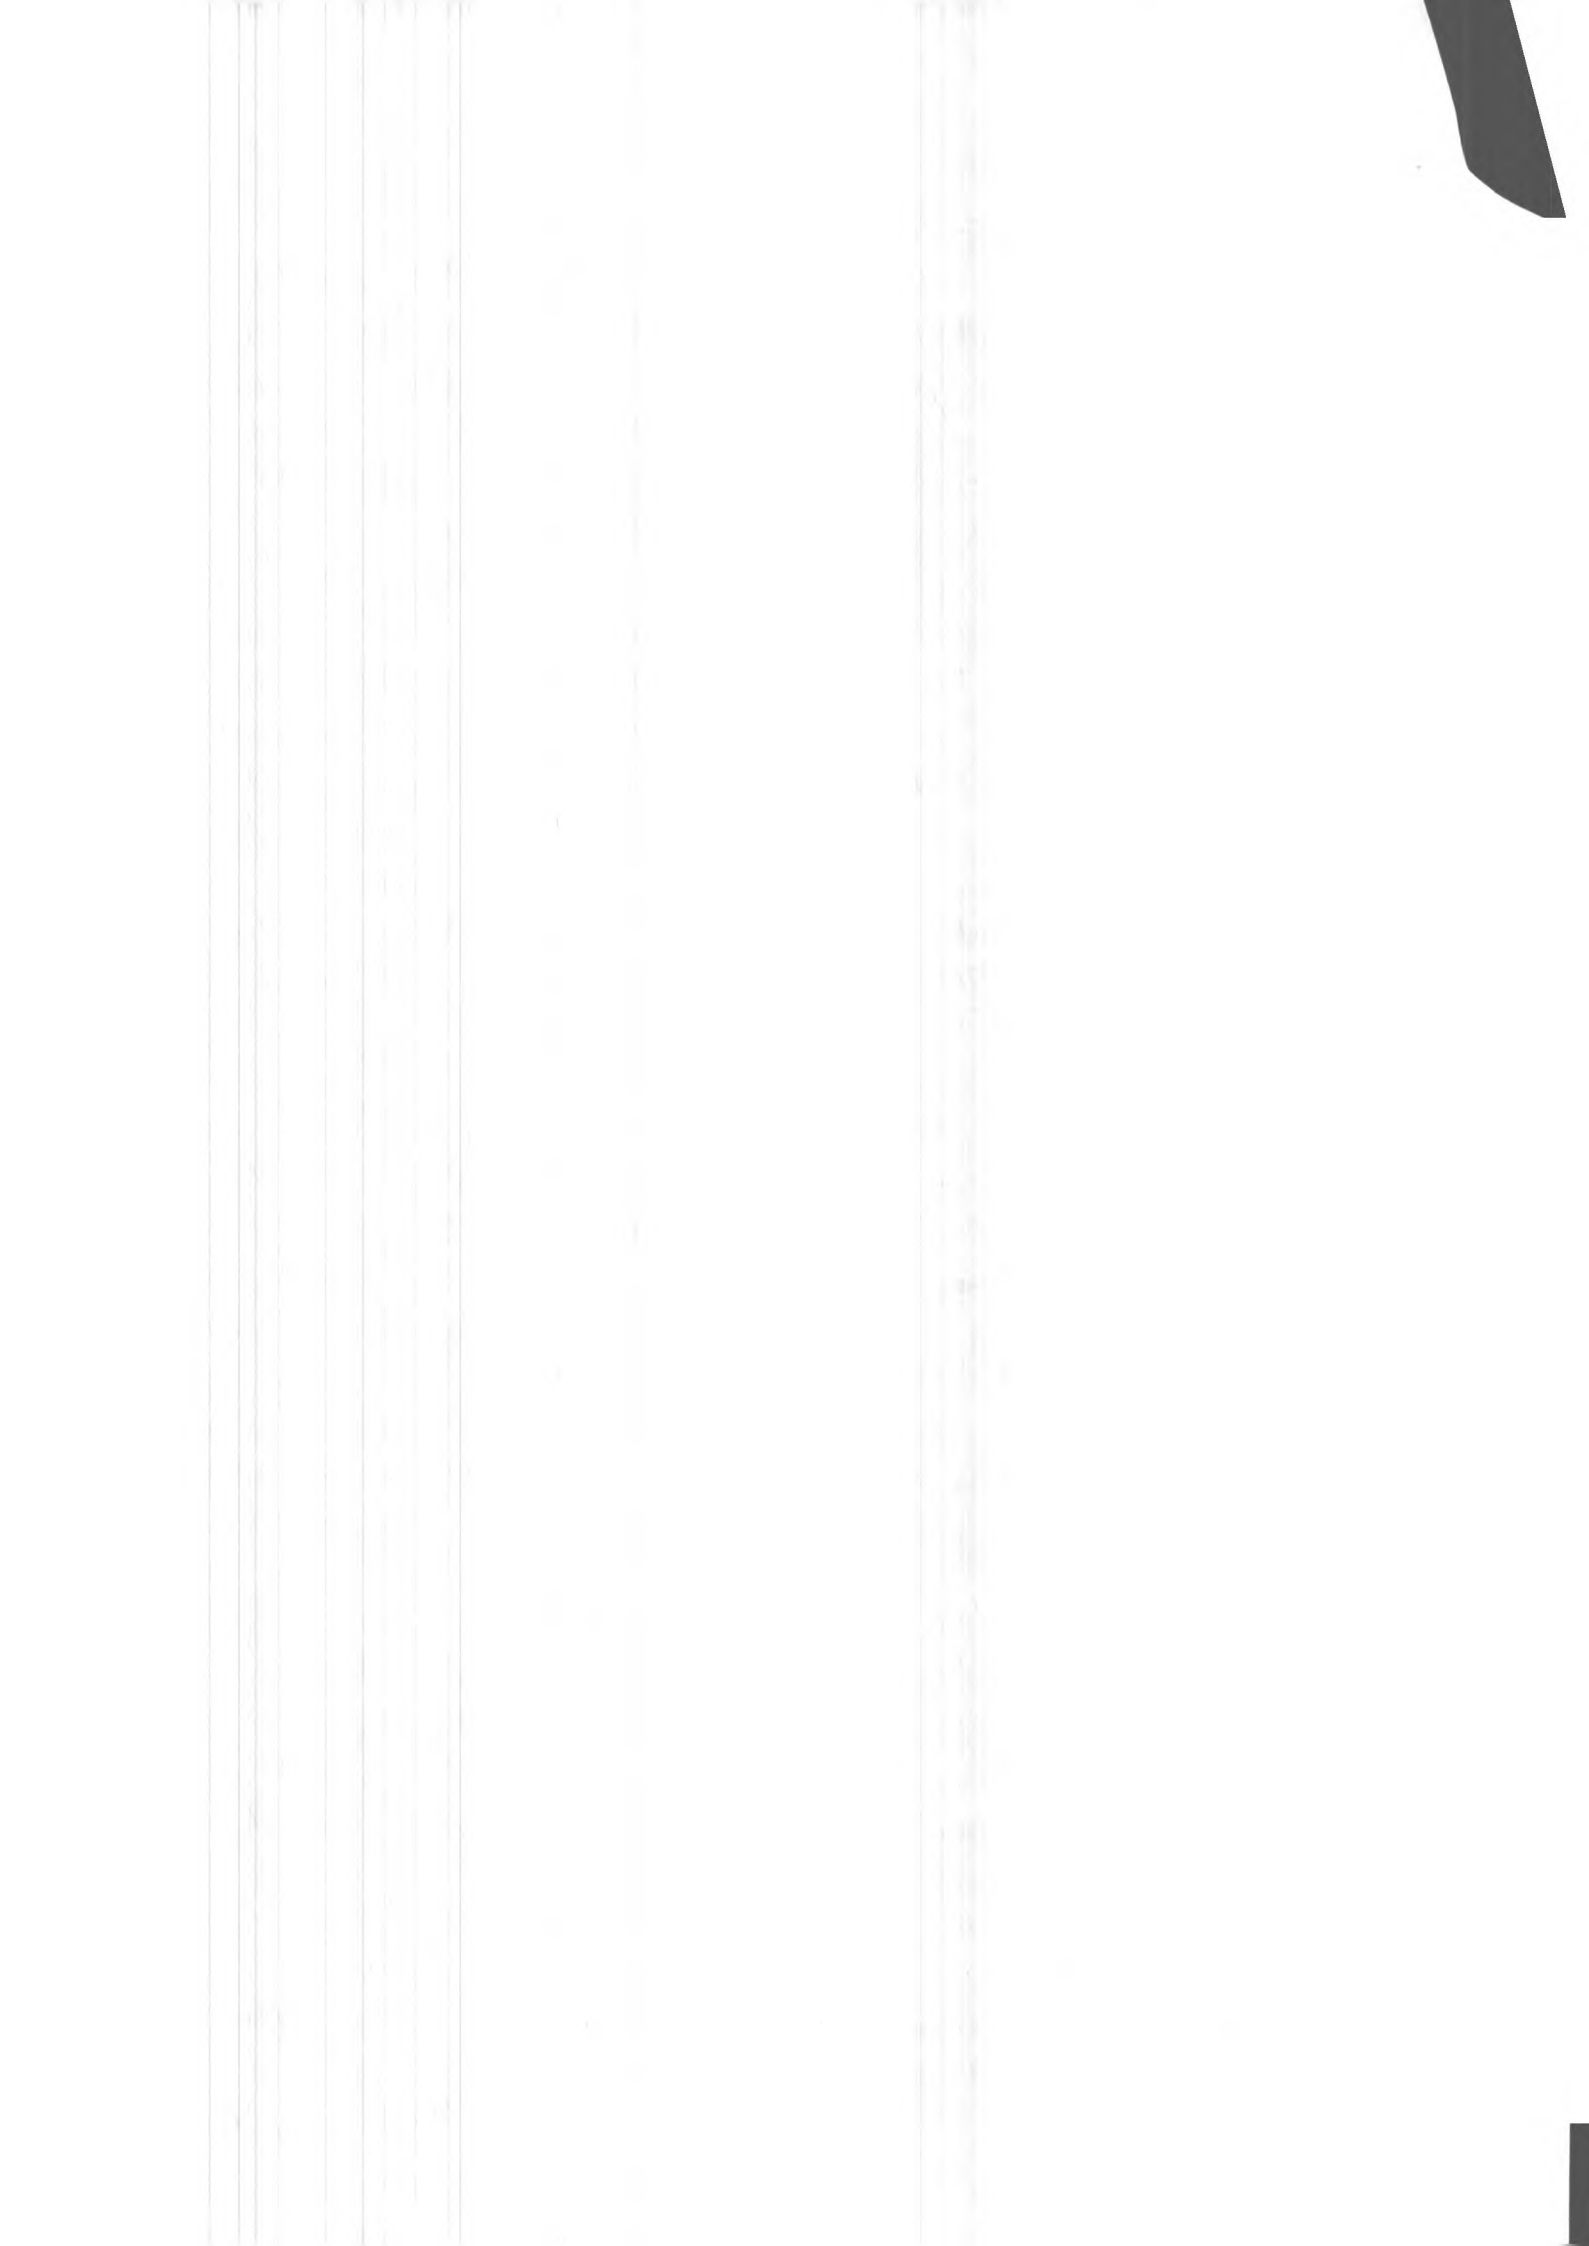

For further development, I'd encourage you to explore even more contrastive dynamics in your ^{W2} movements. I hope you will be famous one day. ^{W2} Write me if you want to take some extra lessons with me. Best wishes,

A member of the jury at a talent show

4.2 Title: The weaver of starlight ^{Epigraph: The future is born in the hands that dare to dream.}

In a village nestled in a valley of perpetual twilight the people lived in dimness. Their world lit only by feeble candle-flame and the cold, silver kiss of the moon. Life was slow and when the sun fled, so did all hope of work and warmth. Among them lived a young woman named Saida, whose mind was not content with shadows.

While others slept, Saida studied the night sky. She noticed how dewdrops scattered moonlight into tiny rainbows. Experimenting with river-polished glass and ^{W2} molten sand she shaped a clear, hollow sphere and filled it with water. When she placed a candle behind it, the room was pierced by a spear of radiant, focused light - the first lantern. But Saida dreamed further. She crafted larger spheres and arranged them in a circle, creating a ^{W2} beacon that bathed the entire village square.

 The communal lantern became the place

4.1. Hello! Wow, just wow! Honestly, I need a second to catch my breath. Stepping into this stage is no small feat, but you handled it with remarkable confidence.

The highlight was that bridge, where you paused for a guitar solo before returning to the chorus with incredible power. It was a brilliant moment that captured everyone's attention.

What blew me away wasn't just your technical skills, it was your soul! You weren't just singing notes. You were sharing a piece of your life. Your unique, catchy style is exactly what people want to hear today.

For improvement, I suggest working on your stage presence. Make more eye contact during the slower verses to connect with us. Also, consider performing with a band to add even more depth to your sound.

You have incredible talent and passion. I have no doubt that your future is bright. Don't let anyone dim it!

4.2.

A KEEPER OF THE SILENT SIGNS.

The future is born in the hands that dare to dream.
Long ago, in a valley behind high mountains, people often forgot important things. When old people died, their knowledge died with them like smoke in the wind. They forgot how to survive hard winters or which plants could heal sickness.

A young man named Elian lived there. He was a dreamer. He liked to watch the river make marks on the sand. He saw birds leave tracks in the mud. One day, he took a sharp stick and made marks on soft, wet clay. He thought, 'This circle is the sun. This line is the river'. Elian had an idea: perhaps this marks could save words.

He showed his clay marks to the village elders. They were afraid. 'Words are for listening. We must trust our ears, not marks on clay', they said.

Межрегиональная предметная олимпиада КФУ

по «английскому языку», 11 класс,

But Elian did not stop. He believed that knowledge was too important to lose.

That night, an old woman died. She knew a special medicine, but the secret died with her. People were very disappointed. That night, Elian worked hard. He carved a simple poem on a big stone in the village:

The sky's fire shows the way,

The dark earth gives the grain.

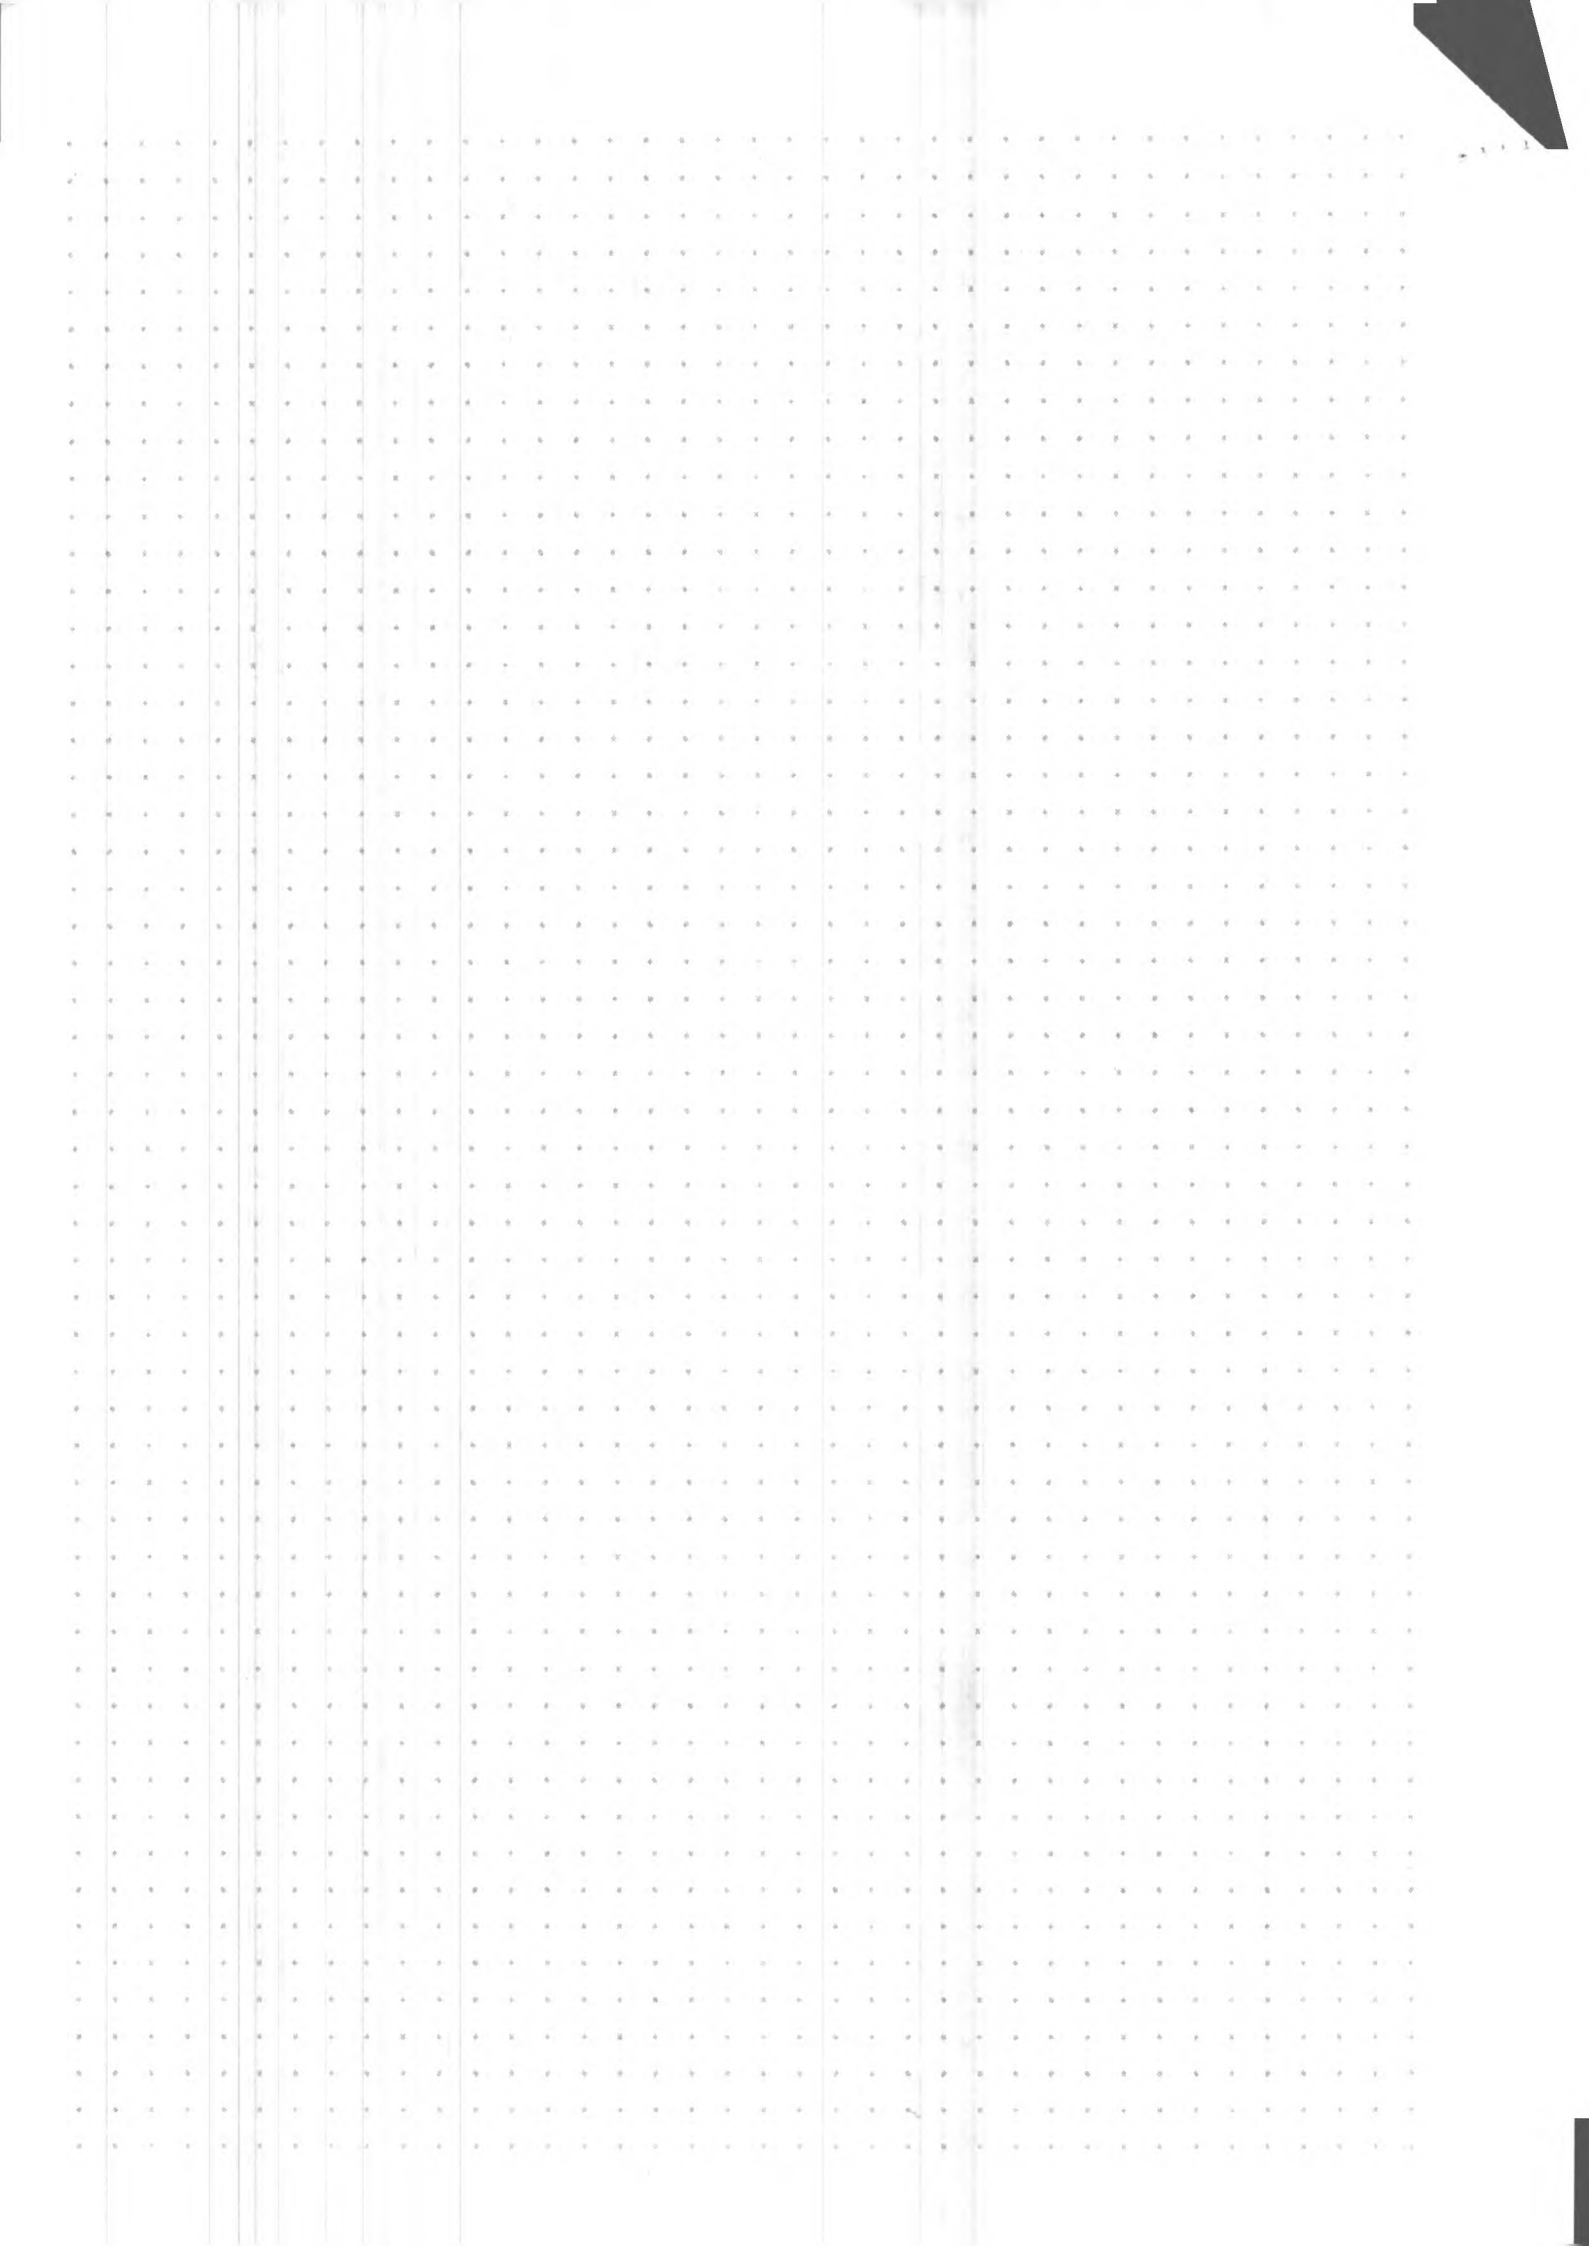

But we can catch a light of day

In clay, to speak again.

In the morning, people saw the stone. At first they did not understand. Then a hunter said, 'Look! This mark is for water. This one is for mountain'. Slowly, they began to understand. They started to use Elian's marks. They wrote the best time to plant seeds. They wrote how to make medicine. People could remember everything.

Elian's simple idea changed everything. It was a golden key to the gates of prosperity. Because one man dreamed of 'talking stones', his village left the darkness of forgetting. They walked into the light of new time.

4.2 "The future is born in the hands ^{The Farmer's Miracle} ~~of those~~ that dare to dream!"

Once upon a time there lived an old farmer. He was not rich but owned a small farm. His only source of income was the sell of crops that he grew on the farm. However, his earnings were ~~not~~ not formidable, to say the least, even though he was working literally like a bee. To cap it all, the constant heavy rains were destroying his harvest.

It all changed on one New Year's eve when the farmer bought some fireworks. ~~Saw~~ ~~the~~ fireworks explode. ~~So~~ ~~surprised~~ It was an arresting process, but what really shocked the farmer was the absence of rains the following week. The farmer decided that the explosive power of the fireworks was strong enough to prevent the rains. Thus, the farmer realised that he could manually invent fireworks with a bigger explosive power in order to prevent heavy rains for a longer period of time.

It took him a few months to finally create the first item. When he tried it for the first time, the upshot surpassed all expectations. Rains were not present for more than a month, thereby allowing his harvest to grow. The ~~fireworks~~ fireworks were so strong powerful that they seemed to cut the clouds like butter.

Eventually, the farmer's problem with the rains dissipated and he became quite wealthy. As some time passed, he even started selling his fireworks ~~to the~~ to the near towns and cities. People loved his product and found it very useful. The old farmer managed to resolve the rain problem not only at his place but ~~at the near~~ ~~at~~ at the bordering states, too.

Dear contestant, you made a long-lasting impression on me and my colleagues on the latest talent show.

First of all, it is worth mentioning that the pace of your performance was pretty high because ~~at~~ all of the magic tricks that you showed were captivating.

In particular, your skills in this field have surpassed our expectations. After a short discussion, we came to conclusion ^{and} that your trick about ~~a~~ a rabbit disappearance was fascinating and well-performed. Besides, I would also like to add that some of your tricks very very original, which definitely were resonated with the ~~the~~ audience.

As well as that, I also wanted to give you some recommendations that might make your future performances even more enticing. To start with, you were a bit lacking the interaction with the audience. ~~This could make people even more engaged.~~ Furthermore, your decision to perform without a microphone was also original, but some of your phrases were barely audible, so using a microphone the next time wouldn't be extra.

Overall, your performance was very impressive and memorable. If you take into account my comments, I'm sure you will make your performances even better.

ЗАДАНИЕ 1

ESTIMADO SEÑOR ALCALDE:

Le escribo porque no estoy de acuerdo con el aumento del precio del transporte público. Muchas personas usan el metro o el autobús para ir al trabajo o a estudiar. Para algunas familias, este cambio será un problema económico. Este aumento afectará a los estudiantes y las personas mayores que tienen ingresos bajos. El transporte público debe ser accesible para todos.

Pienso que ayuntamiento puede buscar otras soluciones. Por ejemplo, ofrecer descuentos a los estudiantes y las personas mayores y escuchar la opinión de los ciudadanos. Espero que ~~me~~ vea mi propuesta.

Atentamente,
Maria

ЗАДАНИЕ 2

Cuando Marta fue despedida de su trabajo en una pequeña oficina, pensaba que era el peor momento de su vida. Estaba triste, preocupada y no sabía qué hacer. Durante varias semanas buscó empleo sin éxito y empezó a perder la confianza en sí misma.

Un día, una amiga le ofreció que la ayudara en una asociación que trabajaba con niños. Al principio, Marta aceptó solo para no quedarse en casa. Sin embargo, poco a poco, se dio cuenta de que le gustaba enseñar a los niños y pasar tiempo con ellos. Se sentía útil y más feliz.

Gracias a esta experiencia, decidió hacer la carrera en educación infantil. Fue no fácil, porque tenía que trabajar y estudiar al mismo tiempo, pero estaba muy motivada. Dos años después, consiguió un empleo en una escuela y se sintió orgullosa de su camino.

Mirando atrás, Marta decidió que perder su antiguo trabajo fue una oportunidad para cambiar su vida. Si no hubiera pasado por ese momento difícil, no habría descubierto su verdadera ^{17p} vocación. Por eso entendí la frase: "No hay mal que por bien no venga."

Greetings to everyone! Today I want to 4.1

Greetings everyone! I am very pleased by the dazzling performances of ~~the~~ our show's contestants. You all did a great job, but ~~the~~ Emilia Park's voice was etched on my mind. Her song "A Million Voices" spoke to ~~the~~ every my very soul, and the great yet smooth changes in tune were really impressive! You could tell she lived through this song, as though Emilia was telling us a story. Never have I heard such a unique voice! She didn't just sing, ~~her~~ ~~word~~ the melody was flowing out of her mouth like a crystal-clear river. I'm very glad that you decided to participate and would like to give some recommendations. First, be more confident and do not doubt yourself. Second, try to make deeper breaths, ~~it~~ do so that you can save energy for the chorus. I believe you will succeed in your aspirations. Just remember: your voice is your power!

MAN SUNSHINE

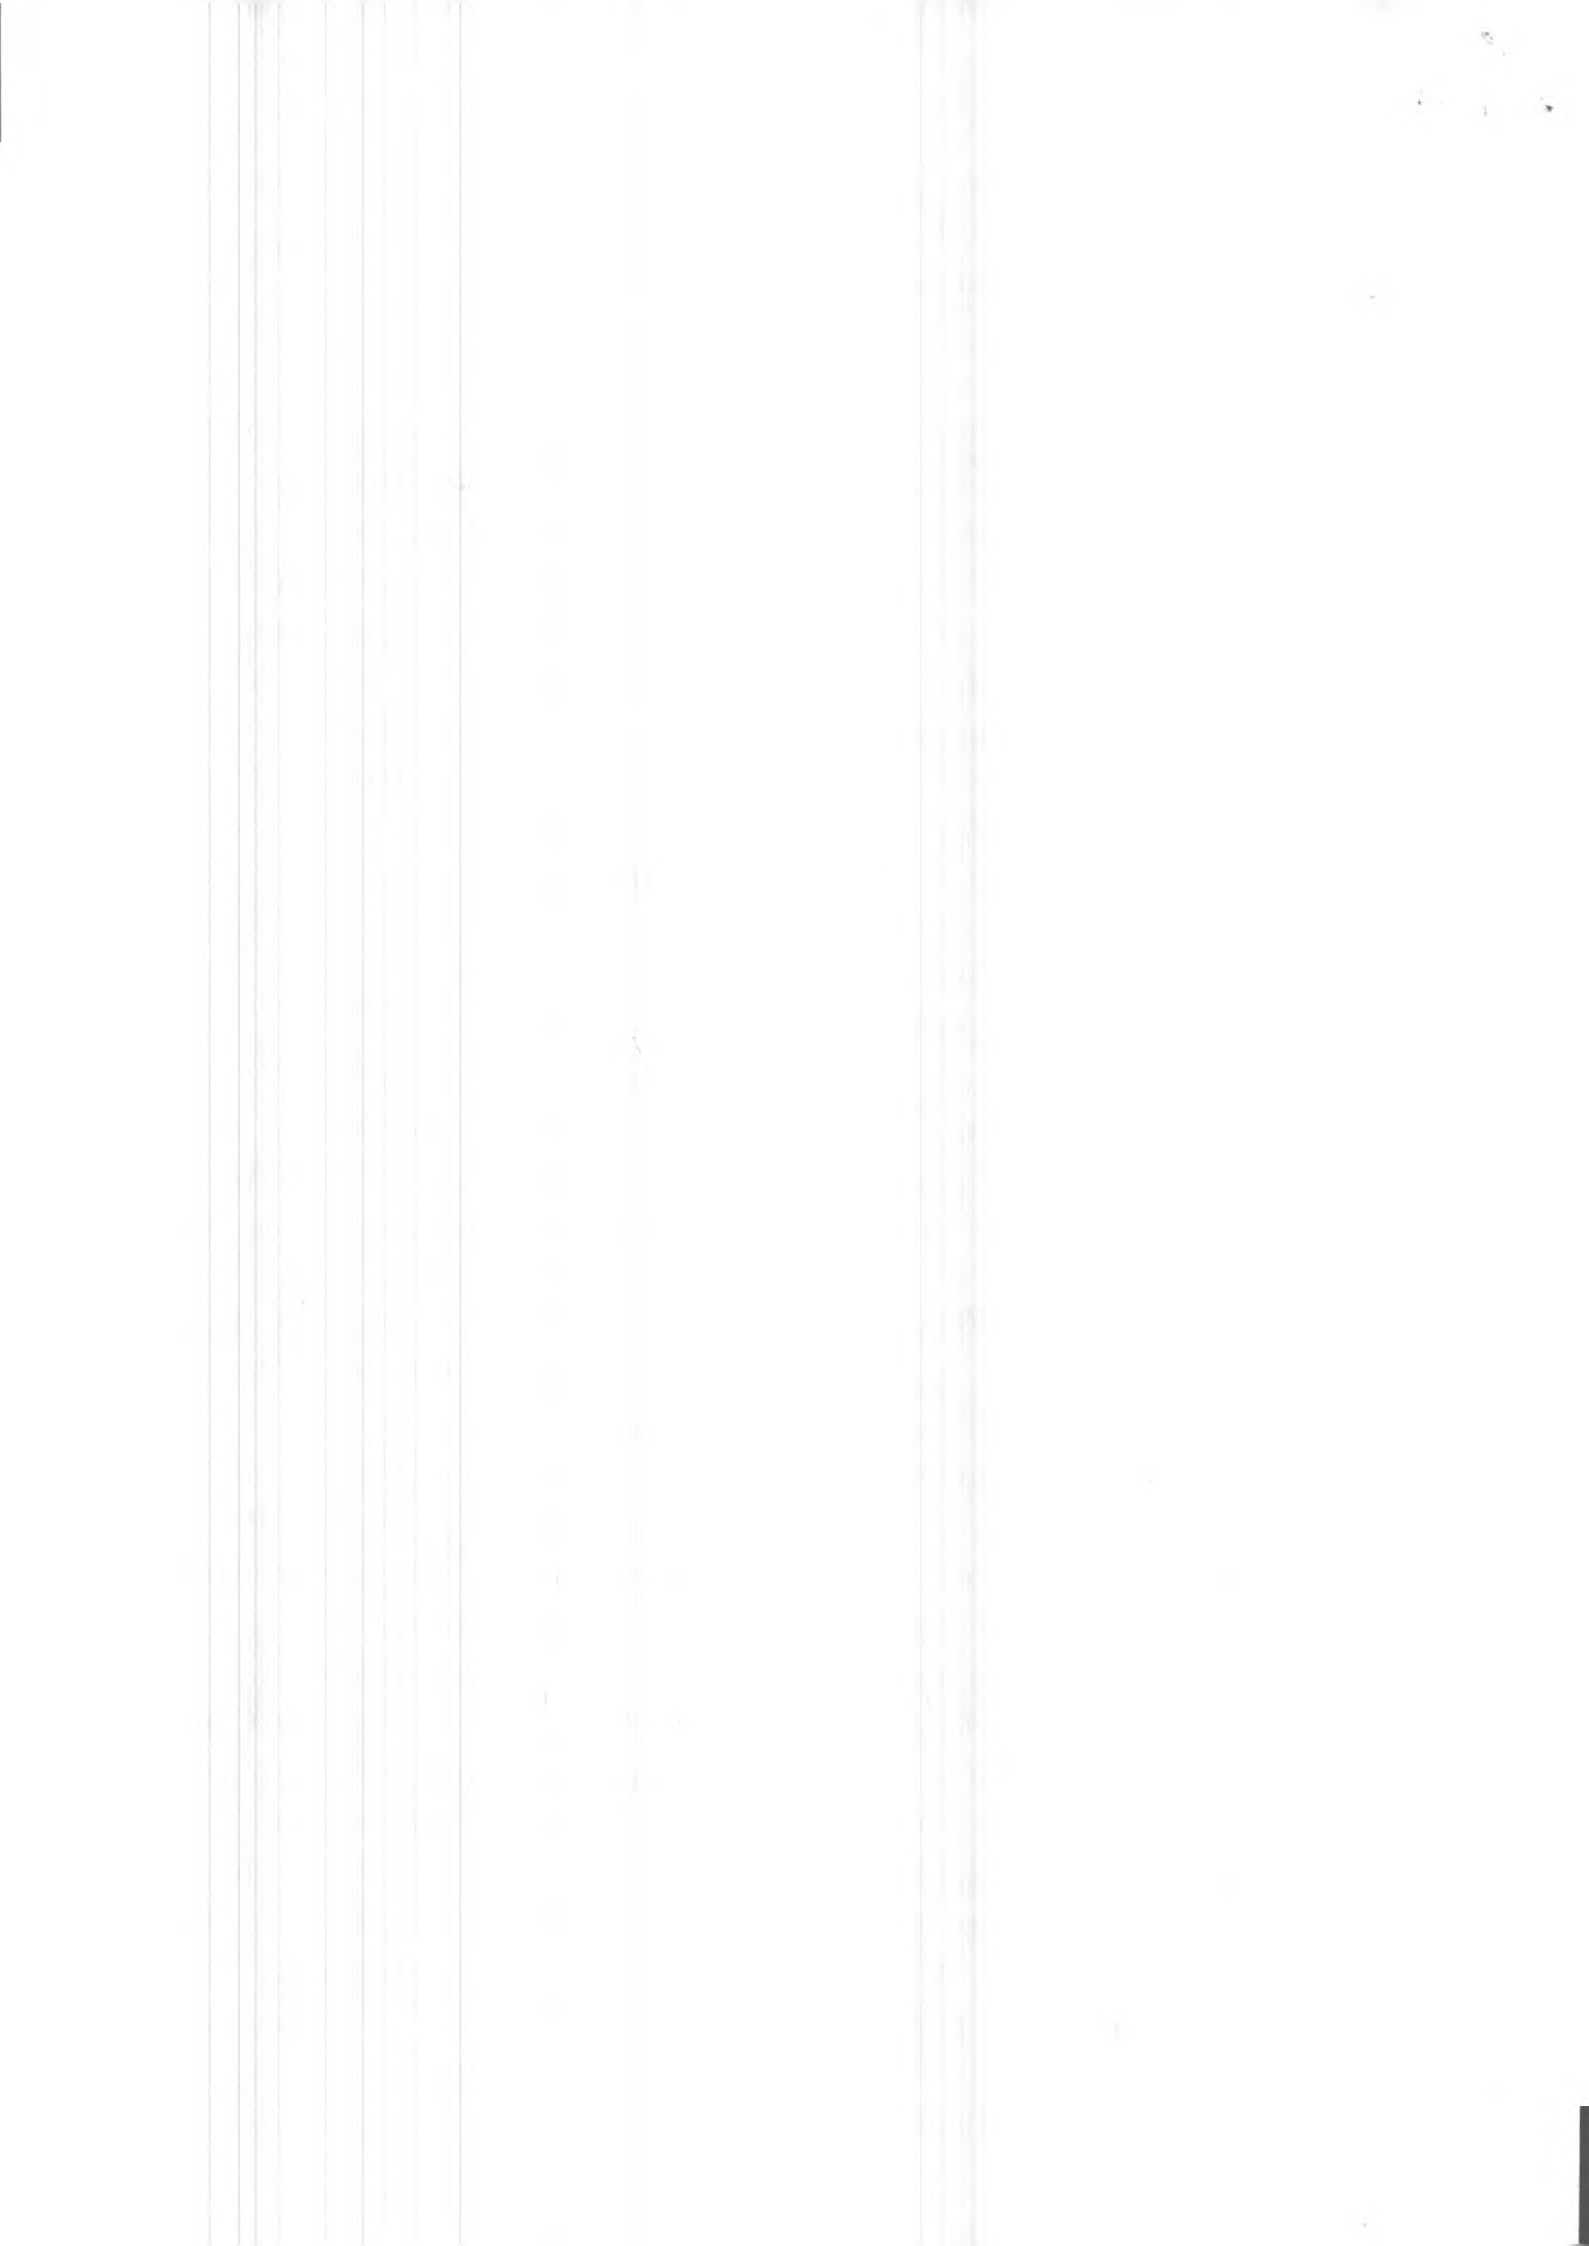

'The future is born in the hands that dare to dream!'

'The future is born in the hands that dare to dream!'

In the kingdom of Moss, surrounded by towering mountains, lived a noble man named Percy White. He was just a potter, who lived from hand to mouth and burned the midnight oil to read. In the place of ~~doom~~ ^{dark} and gloom, he felt lonely. Percy watched how the kingdom going downhill with its people constantly complaining about life and duties. Yet he was the sunshine on a gloomy day. One day he decided it was time everything changed.

He ~~was~~ got round people's houses and tried to help them with their duties. To every gloomy remark he answered with ~~a~~ an encouraging note. People were bewildered by his positive outlook. Some were followed his footsteps, ^{whereas} some others protested and others were discontent or indifferent. Once Percy stumbled upon a real mardy bum, who started casting aspersions at him the moment they started talking. "Life isn't a bed of roses! Why do I have to 'look at the brighter side' when all I experience is hardship?" shouted the enraged man. "This mindset isn't about the circumstances, it is about the way you define them. Besides, you are what you think about." calmly uttered Percy. After that, something has changed in the way the "wet blanket" looked at looked at this world. He became more benign and started inspiring people to think he more cheerful. Percy's approach worked like clockwork. Soon people ~~were~~ became happier, and the kingdom ^{prospered} saw the sunlight again.

Percy became a local hero, and his deeds were sang about in a quatrain:
"Every cloud has a silver lining".

A SKY-HIGH PERFORMANCE

Afternoon, Emilia! I'm more than thrilled to deliver a speech regarding your brilliant performance. I wouldn't even hesitate to say that you took this world by storm. Everybody, no matter age or performing experience, was utterly astonished by your ballet.

There are some milestones that I found particularly awe-inspiring. Firstly, all esteemed members of the jury jury members, with me included, watched with bated breath your soaring jumps. Sometimes, it felt that it seemed that you were about to fall, however, you ^{always} managed to land gracefully. Another thing that struck me was your 'balanced' tightrope walk. Here you caught us off guard. So avant-garde was it, to say the least!

That said, a couple of minor changes should be made to elevate your performance. Firstly, there is no need to keep a poker face. Reveal your emotions to build a successful communication with the audience. Secondly, make some alterations to your voluminous skirt. It seems to hinder your graceful movements.

I urge you to consider these recommendations for your further development. See you in the next season!

WHERE'S A WILL, THERE'S A WAY

~~Many moons ago, in the kingdom of Augarr, there is~~

'The future is born in the hands that dare to dream.'

Many moons ago, in the kingdom of Augarr, there lived a queen that never dared to dream. ~~Her close advisors told her wildest dreams were~~ ~~far cry from their current reality.~~ Her name was Kyliug. The queen's closest advisors believed that her wildest dream was a far cry from their current reality. Nevertheless, she held a hard stance. Kyliug desired to reach for the ~~stars~~ stars.

Many people, however, did not want to support the queen in her ideas. Kyliug never resorted to violence in order to make them believe her. Instead, she, unbeknownst to anybody, studied various subjects from dusk till dawn only to fulfill her dream. Throughout all her salad days she learned to every nook and cranny, every minute detail of how to construct a vehicle that ~~could~~ transport her to the stars. Kyliug wanted to ~~prove that everything is possible.~~

After grinding study days she made this happen - a towering, humongous skyrocket ~~stood among the~~ Its size similar to the ~~to the most~~ the highest tower in the ^{whole} kingdom. ~~That~~ That was a turning

When everyone realised: even the wildest dreams can be fulfilled.
 Being having a heart of gold, Kyliug gathered all those up in arms with her wildest dreams. She proved that reaching for the stars is a possible occurrence.

Finally, Nowadays, many scientists still make use of A Kyliug's studies of physics, mathematics and "cosmology" as she used to call it.
~~If it had it not been for her, we wouldn't have~~ Only to her resilience and determination we have a splendid opportunity to travel Beyond ~~our~~ our own planet. "A salt of the Earth" is how people call her. The praise of ^{Kyliug} ~~her~~ turned into a verse:

"If you see a pale complexion,
 Eyes shining with determination.
 When you feel ~~the bravest~~ her ^{valiant} brave air,
 It is Kyliug, queen of Augair." 268w.
